

The Carbon Advocate.

H. V. NORTHMER, EDITOR. LEHIGHTON, PA. SATURDAY MORNING SEPT. 26, 1874.

The temperance war has broken out afresh in Madison, Ohio. Street meetings are being held nightly in different quarters of the city.

The annual session of the Grand Lodge of Odd Fellows of the United States began Monday, in Atlanta, Ga. In the morning the Grand Lodge was escorted to the Capitol and there formally welcomed to the city. The reports of the grand officers show the order to be in a flourishing condition.

An Oshkosh, Wisconsin, newspaper prints a list of the new buildings started upon a burnt district as follows: "Beer hall, store, saloon, beer hall, grocery and saloon, beer hall, store, beer hall, saloon, grocery, beer hall, store, saloon, beer hall, grocery, beer hall, saloon, beer hall." Oshkosh would seem to be "hall beer," as a cockney would say.

Gen. Sherman has sold his residence in I street, Washington, D. C., to ex-Mayor Emory. Prior to his election to the Presidency, this was the house of Gen. Grant, the gift of New York friends. Subsequently it was purchased of the President by the friends of Gen. Sherman, and presented to him in 1869. The property was also once owned by Vice-President John C. Breckinridge, who, with Senators Douglas and Rice, built the block.

The award to the British claimants made by the mixed commission appointed under the Treaty of Washington, was, by the terms of the Treaty, to be paid within one year from the date of the award. At noon, Monday, the amount of the award, $1,929,819 in gold, less 2 1/2 per cent, allowed for expenses, was paid over by the state Department to Mr. Watson, the British Charge in Washington, and Mr. Howard, agent of the British Government.

A dispatch dated Utica, N. Y., Sept. 23d says: "In the Republican Convention a permanent organization was effected with Hon. Edward Morgan as chairman. Gov. Dix was unanimously re-nominated, the convention voting aloud, Aye. Gen. J. C. Robeson was unanimously re-nominated for Lieutenant Governor, whereupon the convention rose and gave three cheers for Dix and Robeson. Alexander Barkly was re-nominated for Canal Commissioner.

The land Department of the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe Railroad have just made a sale of land along their road to a large party of Russians (Jennonites), who have recently come from Europe. This is the largest land sale ever made in the West to one people. There are now here about 1,900 Mennonites, and they are going on their lands immediately. The lands are situated in Marion, Harvey, McPherson, and Reno counties, in the Arkansas valley. The tract taken aggregates 150,000 acres. They are the advanced guard of their whole people, who are now following them.

Another fearful sacrifice of life in a burning mill. The Granite Mills, at Fall River, Mass., took fire on Saturday morning last, while seven hundred operatives were at work in them. No pen can describe the scenes of horror, confusion, suffering and death. Some of the accounts say that the means of escape were altogether inadequate. Others say they were abundant, but that the people in the mill were too much frightened to make use of them. The only wonder is that so few lives were lost. The number of victims amounts to about forty; besides which there were many cases of partial burning and maiming. It is a pity that, with all the improvements introduced by the genius of inventors, some plan cannot be devised, either to prevent such fires, or to extinguish them with promptness, or, at least, to afford some means of escape from being roasted to death in them.

The United States Centennial Commission announces its readiness to receive applications for space in the International Exhibition of 1876, at Philadelphia. It is important that it should be known with the least possible delay what space will be required in each of the departments of the Exhibition by American Exhibitors, in order that it may be determined what room can be assigned to foreign nations. Manufacturers and others who propose exhibiting on this occasion should therefore make known their intention promptly, and thus avoid the disappointment of finding the room they desired pre-occupied. It is especially desirable that early provision should be made for the organization of those collective exhibitions of the natural resources and raw materials of different sections of the country which cannot be made by individual exhibitors. The importance of this, as an incentive to immigration and to the investment of foreign capital, cannot be over-estimated; and a liberal provision for the prompt and thorough performance of the work will amply repay those States which undertake it.

Squiblets by "Marcutio." A few days since, in one of the fields in a rural section of the city, a little kid was enjoying a brief respite from nibbling, or in other words was taking a good sleep, when up came a burly custodian of the peace, and clubbed out his brains. Upon being interrogated the bold officer said, "he was bound to stop kid napping if he died in the attempt."

The Frenchman, who was arrested last week for stealing frogs from a railway track, plead hunger in defence, but the judge with a look of irony sent him below. One of our street car conductors boasts that he "knocks down six passengers every trip." I can't understand it, for he does not seem to be a fighting man, besides, I have been on his car many times, and never saw anything of the kind.

A soldier's excuse for not returning to the barracks, was, "on account of the attacks he took after leaving the barracks. Mr. Flaherty wishes to state he considers the bone the sweetest part of the meat. Nothing bends a man quicker than a green apple.

A lady says she husbands her means, because she has a mean husband. Here is a "personal" from the N. Y. Herald: "The gentleman who visited my room yesterday afternoon and stole my watch, match safe, eyeglasses, coat and vest, is requested to call for the pantaloons, as it is too bad to separate the suit. S. D., corner Broadway and Chambers street.

"The cottage by the sea" can now be rented upon reasonable terms. Louisiana suffers while McEnery and Kellogg are at Kelloggheads. "The cry is still they come," another statement from Tilton. W.L.O.'s the next gentleman?

Some one told Mr. Jugg that if he wished to succeed in business, he should use printer's ink. Mr. J. says he has used two or three gallons, but thus far he does not notice any improvement in his affairs, besides the taste of the ink is not at all pleasant, and Mrs. J. says he is a fool to make an ink jug of himself.

"Our Krout and Speck"—A colored gentleman, upon observing this sign in front of a restaurant, explained it as follows: "Fust you gits de krout, an den you 'specks something else." "Bridget, jist looks at thim plums," said Mr. McShane to his fair bride, "did you ever see such fruit?" (The honest couple were looking at egg plants.)

I expect to be president some of these days, for when I went to school, one of our trustees addressed about a thousand of us boys and said: "Boys, if you behave yourselves, and pay attention to your studies, you may each of you become President of the United States." I am waiting anxiously for my turn. They are having quite a levee (?) in New Orleans.

The girl who roasted the water melon has been discharged. She says she will know better next time and next place she gets, in fact she is ashamed of herself for not boiling the melon, but it is never too late to learn.

MARCUTIO. Phila., Sept. 21.

Remarkable Accident. We are called upon to-day to record an accident which, but for the direct testimony of some of the best citizens of the county as to its truthfulness, would seem like fiction. The unfortunate subject of the notice is a young German named Frank Boyer, employed by the Chestnut Hill Iron Ore Company. On Tuesday evening about eight o'clock, in going home, he took a near cut over the lands of Pelfer, Garber and Rohrer, in West Hempfield township, going along a foot-path which leads by an open shaft leading to an abandoned ore mine belonging to the same firm. In ignorance of the opening he stepped in and fell to the bottom of the shaft, a depth of over one hundred feet! Strange to relate, he was not killed, nor even rendered unconscious. But he was helpless, and although he cried lustily for help, no assistance came to him. There he lay, surrounded by the decaying bodies of pigs, geese and chickens, and even more horrible, he was paralyzed with terror during the entire night by the presence of a large number of snakes and toads, the reptiles creeping over his head, face and body, and one of them actually lodging its head in his ear! Here he remained until morning, and it were useless to attempt to describe his sufferings. At an early hour the following morning a son of Mr. John Harbert happened to be in the vicinity and heard cries for help, but could not at first determine whence they came, but being familiar with the neighborhood he thought of the abandoned shaft, and, going to its mouth, he called down. He was answered by the unfortunate man, who gave his name. Mr. Harbert at once alarmed the neighborhood, and in a very short time a rope was procured and lowered and a dozen pair of strong arms were ready to pull the man up. Boyer, being perfectly conscious, and able to use his hands, tied the rope around his body, and in this manner he was safely drawn out of his horrible place of confinement. He was taken to the Hotel of Michael Heifrich, near by, and Dr. A. K. Rohrer was summoned, who, after a careful examination, discovered that one leg was considerably jammed, and that he had also received certain internal injuries; but it is confidently expected that the man will recover. This morning Mr. Heifrich brought him to this city and obtained an order for his admission to the County Hospital.—"Lancaster Express," 19th.

Pennsylvania State Fair. On Monday Sept. 27th, the twenty second annual exhibition of the Pennsylvania State Agricultural Society will commence at Easton, and continue until Friday, Oct. 2, five days.

From indication thus far the forthcoming display, as viewed from the numerous entries already recorded, promises to be one of the grandest and most varied ever presented under the auspices of the Society—it includes, at this writing, a large number of imported, Thorough Bred, and Fine Bred Horses, Herds of Short Horn, Holstein Alderney, and other cattle, the choicest breeds of Sheep, Swine, &c., together with a Mechanical, Vegetable, Floral and Domestic collection seldom brought together in any community. Large buildings, additional stabling and shedding have been erected and all conveniences for the accommodation of visitors supplied. Excursion tickets at greatly reduced rates sold by all railroads centering at Easton.
