LEHIGHTON, PA.: SATURDAY MORNING DECEMBER 19, 1874

Two burgiars were shot Monday morning at Bay Ridge, Long Island, and one of them confessed before he died that he was the auductor of Charlie Ross, but he did not state the whereabouts of the boy.

At Quebec Tuesday morning the thermometer was twenty degrees below zero; in Montreal fourteen below; at Owen Sound, Goderich, and other outlying points of Ontario, twenty below, and at Toronto, four below.

The cotton crop of 1874 is estimated, from the returns to the Department of Agriculture, at somewhat more than 3,500,000 bales. The reports from the growers are almost unanimous in stating that the proportion of lint to seed is large.

The Longshoremen's Association of Hoboken, numbering five hundred and eighty men, has desolved, and its members are now free to get work where they can. The money in their Treasury, $6000, has been distributed among the men.

A defalcation of $43,000 has been discovered in the accounts of the Financial Agent, of the Pennsylvania Railroad Freight Depot at Pittsburg. The agent had been fifteen years in the Company's service, and confidence was placed in him. It is said that his bondsmen will make good the amount.

There being no quorum at the meeting of the committee to decide on the selection of a site for the miners' hospital of Schuylkill county, at Mahanoy Plains, Tuesday, it was suggested to consult F. B. Gowen, president of the Philadelphia and Reading Railroad, and meet at Pottsville at any day convenient for him to meet the committee. It is currently reported that the People's Railway Company of Pottsville have offered a fine lot of ground to the hospital, in the upper section of the city, for one dollar, with the probability of of its being accepted and the hospital erected there at an early day.

In the house Monday various bills were introduced, among them the following: Mr. Stark weather of Connecticut, repealing the acts imposing stamps on checks; by Gen. Albright, of Pa., to establish free banking, and retire the legal tenders; by Mr. Spear, of Pa., reduce the letter postage to one cent; by Mr. Whitely, of Georgia, for a commission to investigate the political and legal condition of the Southern States; by Mr. Fink, of Ohio, to repeal the act requiring pre-payment of newspaper postage; and by Mr. Harris, of Georgia, allowing the payment of one-half of all import duties in legal tenders or National bank notes. A resolution was solution for a committee on the reception of the Hawaiian King was concured in, and Messrs. Orth, E. R. Hoar, which resulted rather queerly, the House adjourned.

> [Communicated.] Directors and Institute.

There still exists a sentiment, in some localities, among school directors, which is opposed to Teachers' Institute. Men of contracted ideas are frequently elected members of school boards, and instead of pursuing a policy designed to elevate the standard of our common schools initiate measures which render their operations ineffectual. Those officials generally present an hostile front towards Teachers' Institutes. They consider the time and money spent at these conventions a loss to the community at large.

Now, it is evident, that this opposition to the granting of time to teachers while attending Institute, is not without a cause. This cause is not alone found in the official "foggyisn" of the day, but is, in part, the out-growth of negligence among teachers in the practical application of the excellent methods advanced by prominent educators who are employed to instruct the teachers at Ins-

Directors and patrons reasonably look for results from these educational gatherings. If every teacher would make an effort to improve his school by means of knowledge acquired at our County Institute, he would not have occasion to anathematize the directors as he frequently does. Every liberal minded member of school boards would concede at once, that it paid well to give the teachers the time while attending their yearly conventions. Superintendents would be able to secure better attendance by means of co-operation with directors; ments. The investigation was begun and consequently we would have the by Captain Heddon, and disclosed this classes.

pleasure of noting progress in popular education.

We are informed that the majority of directors in Carbon County favor Institutes by granting their teachers the full time. This is as it should be, and corresponds to the progressive spirit of the times. They merit the beartles' thanks of all those who are engaged in training the youthful mind. But there are a few in this County, who are persistent in their opposition to the means by which the teachers obtain a better preparation for his great work. For want of a better term we designate them as "cid foggies." In their treatment of the teacher they conduct themselves, in the language of an eminent teacher, "like dogs." Now this may be presenting the fact in strong language, but why not call things by their right names. It is with this class of officials the teacher has difficulties. If those wonderfully wise men would have the power to make the laws, there would never be another Institute held in the State of Pennsylvania. The bent of their minds subordinates all educational interests to the "aimighty dollar." But it is gratifying to know that this class of school authorities is losing ground.

In conclusion, let every teacher who was present at the convention recently held in Mauch Chank, demonstrate plainly that Institutes are no humbug, and by another year he will find less difficulty in receiving his regular pay while attending the annual educational meeting. FRANK DRAPER.

Charlle Ross.

The most intense excitement was created throughout the country on Monday last by the report that two burglars, named Douglas and Mosher, had been shot and killed, while attempt ing to commit a burglary at Bay Ridge, Long Island, that morning. Douglas stating before he died that Mosher was the abductor of the boy Charlie Ross. The following particulars we copy from the Philadeldhia Press of Wednesday :

New York, Dec. 15 .- Intense excitement has prevailed all day at police headquarters in this city and at the Brooklyn Morgue, where lie the bodies of the two burglars shot at Bay Ridge. Eager crowds have surrounded both buildings in the expection of some new development as regards the missing Charlie Ross. On the conclusion of the examination of the bodies, this afternoon by the Coroner's physician, the crowd in the room vacated the place on the entrance of three gentlemen, who quietly looked at the bodies and then went to a room adjoning that in which the corpses were. These men were Chief Heins, of Philadelphia; Mr. Lewis, un-le of Charlie Ross, and the man, a citizen of New York, who some mouth ago met Mrs. Mosher in the streets of New York with the missing child. He had been on the lookout for the boy, and so impressed was he with the great affliction that came on the family in the loss of their child, that he was unable to rest without making a search for the boy. He dreaded that a like affliction might come on himself. His wife was worried almost to death, thinking that such a crime could be committed and the perpetrators escape. One night, while passing along the street scrutinizing the face of each child he met, he came upon Mrs. Mosher and the boy. He immediately recognized adopted providing for the appointment the boy with her as the child Charlie of a committee of five to investigate the Ross He accosted the woman. She are the child charlie represented to be a stranger. He offered to be a stranger. accommodation for her and her child in a hotel without letting her know his suspicions. While at the hotel he noti-fied Inspector Walling. The official and S. S. Cox were appointed on the part of the House. After some "personal explanations" by Messrs. Parsons, of Ohio, and Kellogg, of Conn., ed at him, and was incredulous of his story. Since then he ascertained that the man was right, and has used every means in his power to obtain a clue to to the whereabouts of this woman. Of course the woman told her husband, and he, contiding in his "pai," rehearsed to him the narrow escape he had. This substantiates Douglass' story. Later in the afternoon two women came to the Morgue with a member of the Har-ber Police. One was Donglass' sister, the other, is supposed, Mosler's wife. They identified the booles. To one

> He was unable to express any positive opinion concerning the identity of the Pointing to Douglass' body, he said: "I think he is one of them. The Brooklyn Eagle this evening printed a story in the shape of a dis-patch from this city, to the effect that Charlie had been discovered, indenti-fied, and exclaimed, and that he was on his way to Philadelphia. The police pronounced the statement as wolly without foundation. The following additional facts as to the movements of Mosher, with whom died the secret for the present of the boy's whereabouts, are given publicity: Within five days of the stealing, Mosher returned to New York from Philadelphia, and brought with him a child. He went to his residence on Rivington street, and was there three days, when he was seen there to leave with the child. This did not come to the knowledge of the peo ple until long afterward, as no clue had then been obtained connecting Mosher with the abduction, and it was only supposed to be Mrs. Mosher said: "It's a shame they shot more than once. No matter what they did, they should not have been killed like dogs!" The two have been killed like dogs! The two women came from New York. Still later, the uncle of the boy Charlle, ac-companied by Charlie's brother, Wal-ter, visited the Morgne in company with Captain Irving and other detectives of New York. The room was cleared, and the boy Walter viewed the bodies.

visit of Mosher's, and further search si ows that he had gone from New York to Baltimore, where he arrived without the child. The track of Mosher was followed from Baltimore, where a jewelry store was "burglarized" during his stay, in a manner that puzzled the local authorities, to Cincinnati, where a similar crime was perpetrated before he left it. These burglaries are supposed, by the police, to have been committed by Mosher alone, as no trace of the handlwork of any thief known in either of the two cities was found. From Cincinnatti he returned to New York, Cincinnatti he returned why he again but after a stay of two days he again left the city and went to Shrewsbury, N. J., and from there returned with child, whom he took again to his residence. It was not seen to leave the house, but the watch of the police, after the clue was obtained, demonostrated that there was no such a child in the house, and it was supposed that he had been carried to some new place of con-cealment. When the dispatch announcing Douglass' dying words was received at the Police Headquarters, Detective Silleck, who had been engaged in search, immediately started for Bay Ridge. It is thought that some paper or other clue was found on the body of Mo-her or in the boat, which was not disclosed to the reporters, for Silleck appeared overjoyed with the result of his visit, and on his return to headquarters, a party was made up which immediately started out, apparently in search. The party consisted of Superitendent Walling, Captain Heins, Mr. Henry Lewis, Mr. Ross, Captain Heddon, Captain Irving, and Detectives Silleck, Titus, and Thompson. The details of this search are not known.

THE NEWS IN PHILADELPHIA.

At Police headquarters yesterday there was nothing of importance to be learned concerning the developments of York was anxiously awaited. A telegram was received stating that the New York detectives were running out clues which they hoped would result in the recovery of the child. Waiter Ross, a brother of the missing boy, and Peter Callahan, both of them important witnesses in the case, went over to New York accompanied by several friends of the family.

About five o'clock yesterday after-noon the following dispatch was renoon the tonscity: ceived in this city: December 15, 1874.

To Kennard H. Joses, Chief of Police, Philada.
Walter identifies both the dead men positively. The other witness one of them sure.

WILLIAM R. HEINS. The search for Chartie Ross is in ac tive progress, but nothing has been dis-covered, so far as can be learned, which promises immediate success. Superintendent Walling obtained a clue which he thought would lead to the boy's recovery in a day or two, if it was properly followed up. After some detecseveral officers on the scent, believing that the child could be tracked to a place in the country where he had strong rea-son to believe that it was concealed. Detective Silleck was sent after certain persons who were thought to have charge of the boy, with orders not to leave them, when found, even if he had to follow them to Canada. The Supertendent was at the Fifth Avenue Hotel from 10 to 12 o'clock last night, in the expectation of receiving despatches from Silleck. He received one to the effect that the officer had found the persons whom he was in search of.

Susquehanna Depot, Pa., Dec. 14. The wife and daughter of Perry Bush-nell, a merchant of the town of Auburn, this county, were burned to death in a horrible manner on Friday last. Mr Bushnell placed a tin pail containing a mixture of turpentine and other materials on the stove to heat, and left his wife in charge of it. When it had become sufficiently heated Mrs. Bushnell took the pail off the stove and was carrying it when it exploded, and the inflammable material was thrown over her. Her eyes were putout at once and her clothing set on fire. Her child was sitting on the floor near the stove when the explosion took place, and notwithstanding her terrible suffering, Mrs B. began groping about the floor to see if it was safe. Her husband heard the re-port and ran up stairs to find his wife crawling around the floor enveloped in flame, and his child, about a year old, burned to a crisp. He extinguished the flames on his wife, but she had received such fearful injuries that she lived
