Friday, Jan. 8.—Missionary objects for prayer—For the conversion of the Jews; for the deliverance of nations from superstitions, and for the conversion of the world to Christ.
Saturday, Jan. 9.—Prayer for religious revival. For the churches throughout the world for their increase in zeal, spirituality and devotedness, and for a clearer witness for the truth among them.
Sunday, Jan. 10.—A general meeting in the evening. Addresses by ministers of various denominations.

Killed on the R. R.

A very sad accident occurred just above Mauch Chunk, on Wednesday morning. Mr. John Moore, of Upper Mauch Chunk, a well known and highly respected citizen, while crossing the Lehigh & Susquehanna R. R., at a place known by the name of Northern Liberties, on his way to Coalport, was struck and run over by a passing engine and instantly killed. It is supposed the unfortunate man was blinded by the steam from the engine—3 or 4 having passed on different tracks about the time of the accident, throwing off vast columns of steam. Mr. Moore has resided in Mauch Chunk about 30 years, and leaves a wife and large family to mourn his untimely death.

Coal Trade.

In the coal trade for the past week there has been no change of features, dullness prevailing in all its departments. The chief business that is doing is in the city and the trade, and that is of a limited character. The attention of dealers is very much absorbed by the probable future of the trade involved in the basis of wages for 1875, the rates for transportation and the programme of the associated companies. The impression is very general with the trade that it is of paramount importance to all the interests concerned that all should be made lower. On the subject of prices the Miners' Journal of Saturday says:—
Should any attempt be made by the companies to maintain present prices next year the association would be rent asunder, in spite of all the efforts to sustain it. And if it should be broken up there is nothing to prevent coal from falling to $2 a ton, and where would be the Miners and Laborers' Benevolent Association? Associations and organizations can do a great deal in rising markets, but they become powerless when the state of the country is such that prices must fall until checked by more enlightened legislation in the interests of production.
Yet it is believed that the miners will resist any reduction of the basis of wages from that of this year, and will quit work on the 2d of January. At the present time this policy would not be objectionable to the companies, for two or three months' cessation from work and mining would deplete the accumulated stocks and enable them to open the next year's business under better auspices.
The supply sent from all the regions for the week was 239,943 tons anthracite, and 51,805 bituminous; for the week, 291,756 tons, against 272,850 for the corresponding week last year; increase for the week, 18,906 tons.
The whole supply sent from all the regions this year is 21,148,692 tons, against 21,920,601 to corresponding period last year; decrease, 777,079 tons, of which 600,199 tons are anthracite.

Coal Men in Council.

The coal operators of the Lehigh, Upper Lehigh, Wyoming, and a large anthracite fields have met to consider the fixing of the basis of wages of the miners for 1875. At the meeting were Ario Pardee, Charles Parrish, President of the great Lehigh and Wilkesbarre Coal and Iron Company, S. Van Wickler, Nathan Willis, Dr. G. B. Linderman, Eckley B. Cox, A. L. Mumper, L. H. Swoyer, A. Pardee, Jr., E. B. Ely, Judge Hamberger, A. B. Cox, and L. G. Hayden. The conference was held with closed doors, but sufficient was told to show that the basis of next year is to be reduced, and that a general strike is inevitable. No positive action was adopted, but the general sentiment was for a lower basis. There is a general demand that the price of coal of all grades be reduced at least fifty cents a ton, but the operators contend that if a decrease is made there will be no profit left. The miners agree that the present wages are sufficiently low, and they will resist any attempt lowering them by stopping work. Between 15,000 and 20,000 men will join in the threatened strike. There is a strong probability of a strike among the iron workers of the Lehigh and Schuylkill valleys against a reduction of wages, which goes into effect Jan. 1.

Burglary at Lansford.

On Friday night of last week, the Wilkes-Barre Coal Co's safe was robbed, under the following circumstances: The robbers gained an entrance to the cellar through a window, and came up the cellar way and knocked at the door. The watchman supposing it to be one of the men who sleep in the office—there being two who sleep there—opened the door and admitted them, when one immediately put a pistol to his head and demanded silence. They then tried keys to open the vault, from a large bunch they carried, and the third key opened it. They then looked at the number of the safe, and then chose the key, and the first one tried opened it. They expected to find the money with which the Company were to pay the men at Nesquehoning and Aude cried—they having not paid them yet, but the paymaster had taken all this money to Mauch Chunk the evening before. When the robbers found they had missed this, they showed their disappointment and chagrin by volumes of oaths.
The Company's loss is between $3,000 and $5,000. Mr. W. D. Zebner, Sup't., had in the safe a considerable sum, mostly in bonds, which were all taken.

Another New Stock.

T. D. Clauss, the tailor, desires us to state that he has just returned from New York, and that he is now opening a very large invoice of cloths, cassimeres and vestings, suitable for fall and winter trade, which he is prepared to make up in the best and most fashionable styles at "knock down" prices. He guarantees a "perfect fit" every time, and the goods in all cases as represented. Also, an immense stock of rubbers, boots, shoes, hats, caps and gent's furnishing goods. Remember the name, T. D. Clauss, just above the Public Square, Bank street, Lehigh.

Annual Greeting.

Our carrier boy will call on his friends on New Year's morning with his annual New Year's Greeting. It is very pretty and we have no doubt he will be liberally patronized by the friends of the ADVOCATE.

Holiday Stock.

Frank Deborde, Jeweler, has just received a large stock of fine plated and gold jewelry, consisting of sets, earrings, rings, chains, &c. "Diamond" spectacles, a great variety of clocks, ladies' gold watches, musical boxes, suitable for holiday presents cheap for cash. All purchases warranted as represented.

A Success.

The Lehigh Valley Emery Wheel Co's wheels are meeting with much favor wherever introduced. Large orders are received almost daily from nearly all parts of the Union and Canada, and the opinion of those who are now using the Lehigh Wheel is that it is fully equal to the best heretofore put in the market, while it is far superior to many. These wheels are being rapidly introduced in every State of the Union, the Canadas and Europe, and the Co. have now fully equipped themselves with machinery, &c., so that they can fill the largest order in the least possible time. In fact the Lehigh Valley Emery Wheel is already a success!

Obituary.

At Warsaw, Ind. on the 18th inst., at half past 10 o'clock p. m. Joseph Long, aged 83 years 2 months and 18 days, the deceased was born in Lehigh Co. Pa., on the 21st day of Sept. A. D. 1791. His wife preceded him some four years. He leaves four children living, his youngest daughter died some three years ago in the State of California. 17 grand-children, and two great grand-children living. He was catechized in his youthful days and joined the German Lutheran Church, of which he remained a member up to the time of his death. He was a volunteer under Captain Gang-ere of his native State in the war of 1812. From the best information we can get, there is but one of his comrades who served with him yet alive. He was a true patriot, but he is now gone to that land from which no traveler can return, where war and national strife cannot come, where he will meet his patriot fathers, who have been faithful to God and true to their country, and rest eternal in Him—Knox, Stark Co., (Ind.) Ledger, 17th inst.

A Fashionable Stock.

Messrs. Laury & Peters, the merchant tailors, post office building, Lehigh, Pa., have just received their large and handsome stock of fall and winter goods, comprising cloths, cassimeres and vestings of the latest and most fashionable designs, and of a quality unsurpassed by any other stock in Carbon county, which they are prepared to make up in the latest style and most durable manner at prices to suit the time, guaranteeing a "perfect fit" in every case. In addition to the above they keep a line of ready-made clothing boots, shoes, gaiters, rubbers, gent's furnishing goods, hats, caps, &c., &c., of the latest style and best material, which they are now offering to the people of this section at prices unparalleled in the history of the trade of Lehigh. They respectfully ask an inspection of goods and workmanship by the people before they make their purchases elsewhere.
—John Muehleisen, night scavenger of Pleasant Corner, this county, is requested to call at this office, right off.

Paragaphic.

Shamonkin, Dec. 20.—Yesterday morning, as the engineer of the breaker at the Hickory Swamp colliery was entering the engine room he discovered the body of Frederick Hesser, the night watchman, with his head beaten out of recognition. The body was quite cold, the deed having been committed during the night. Search was made of the premises and a hatchet and hickory club were found in the engine room. Blood was found on these weapons. Hesser was a very popular and amiable man, and it is believed that he had no enemies. He was recently elected to the office of coroner. He was 47 years of age, and leaves a large family. There is as yet not the slightest clue to the guilty parties.
Pottsville, Pa., Dec. 29.—Last night, while Michael Ryan was on his way home with a horse and wagon from Girardville to the Colorado colliery, he was attacked by three men, and received three gunshot wounds, when he was left for dead. After lying on the ground for some time he managed, though badly wounded, to crawl to the wagon and drive home. Mysterious notices have been sent to several citizens in that vicinity lately, and trouble is apprehended.

The Von Arnim case has at length reached a conclusion, and ostensibly the victory is with Bismark; really it is with Von Arnim. The latter has been convicted of no crime, of nothing that impugns his personal or official honor; the original charge of embezzlement could not be sustained, and was abandoned, the conviction and sentence of three months to prison—less the month in which Von Arnim was in duress—are meant only as the penalty for the ambassador's negligence in connection with the correspondence of his office. It is easily seen how this verdict was arrived at. Something of the kind was absolutely necessary, for an acquittal of the Count would have been a virtual conviction of the Prince. Either Von Arnim was guilty of some offense, or the conduct of Bismark in sending the Diplomat to jail and invading the sacred rights of domesticity was inexcusably criminal. There was no middle course left to the court. It did the best it could, that is, Von Arnim was found guilty of and sentenced for negligence, with the understanding that the Emperor would remit the punishment. Possibly Bismark is satisfied with this conclusion, as technically it sustains his harshness and cruelty to an old member of the nobility and an honored official, but the moral victory is with his enemy, and must remain there. It was impossible for Von Arnim to hope for an acquittal while Bismark was Chancellor. That he got off so easily and honorably is a matter of surprise.

The same ground that was swept over last May by the waters of the bursted Mill River dam were again swept over by the new dam, which also bursted on Saturday. In May there was a frightful loss of life; on Saturday there was none. Why the new dam gave way is not known, but an investigation is promised. Why no lives were lost was due to the fact that the dam of a cotton mill, a short distance below the one that broke, held the loosened waters in check. This might suggest to the builders of dams in that neighborhood to inquire particularly into the construction of the dam of the cotton mill which holds with safety not only its own waters but the stupendous torrents let loose and dashed upon it from above. A dam with such a staying power must necessarily be well built, which Mill River dams generally are not.
Boss Tweed's friends applied to Judge Balsom Monday, at Bringhampton, N. Y., for a writ of error, but the judge declined to hear the application. The President has issued a proclamation calling upon all disorderly and turbulent persons in Warren County, Miss., to disperse and submit to the laws.
A caucus of Republican Senators was held Monday to discuss the affairs of the South. No definite result was accomplished, but great diversity of opinion prevailed.
William M. Everts, A. T. Stewart, Peter Cooper and a number of other prominent gentlemen of New York, have issued a stirring address to the people of that city, urging them to take an active part in the Centennial.

The proceedings of Congress yesterday were decidedly interesting in spite of the time occupied by honorable gentlemen in personal explanations and replies to newspaper articles. Several important bills were introduced, including the Senate Currency bill, spoken of elsewhere, and a large batch of resolutions of inquiry, some of which were passed and some defeated. Mr. Holman's resolution, that no subsidies, grants nor pledges of credit should be made by Congress to any private corporation, failed of passage in the House for want of the requisite two-thirds vote, and the House then devoted itself to a discussion of what should be done with Irwin, and finally resolved to bring him up for contempt. A resolution for an adjournment from to-morrow until the first Thursday of the new year was then adopted, and, if the Senate concur, we shall have a fortnight's rest from Congressional reports.

a permanent home, where every manufacturer can exhibit and sell his goods, and every patron can show his inventiveness a source of industry which will prove a vast benefit to the whole country. For this purpose, the Legislature of the State of New York has granted a charter to a number of our most wealthy and respectable merchants, and these gentlemen have purchased no less than eight blocks of the most valuable land in the City of New York. The building to be erected will be seven stories high (150 feet in height), surrounded by a magnificent dome, and will cover a space of 22 acres. It will be constructed of Iron, Brick and Glass, and made fire-proof. The bonds, which are all for $25 each, are secured by a first mortgage on the land and building, and for the purpose of making them popular, the directors have decided to have quarterly drawings of $100,000 each; this money being the interest on the amount of the whole loan.
