LERIGHTON, PA.: SATURDAY MOUNING FEBRUARY 6, 1875.

The public debt statement for Februery 1st shows an increase of $1,307,-S170.

The luxury of placing a hemper, tie around Captain Jack's neck, cost the people just $275, 103.

Hon. Chas. Albright will please accept our thanks for a copy of the "Memorial Addresses on Charles Summer."

A report from the Adjutant-General of the army of the returns from the various States, though incomplete, shows that the number of organized militia is 84,794, and the number of men available for militia duty unorganized is 3,-701.677.

The Secretary of the Interior Monday sent to Congress a report, showing that during 1373 405 Indians were killed and 227 Indians captured by United States troops, and that 44 citizens and 48 soldiers were killed by Indians. During the first six months of 1874, 158 Indian, were killed and 73 Indians captured by tro: ps, while 36 eltizens and 3 soldlers were, killed by

"Now, are you really, after all, half a fool?" said a friend of Beecher the other day, in referring to some of his Tilton letters. "I was intended for a first-class fool," replied Beecher, "and have in me the material for that. When the rest of mankind were made up, there was a lot of waste material lying around which was thrown together, and that's me."-Detroit Tribune.

The Secretary of the Treasury, Monday, February 1, issued a call for the redemption of $15,000,000 of 5-20 bonds of 1862, to be paid on the 1st day of May, at the United States Treasury, at which date interest will cease. Of the amount thus called in $12,000,000 are co upon bonds and $3,000,000 are registered bonds.

The Springfield Republican gives the following as Tracy's opinion of Moulton-the mutual friend and model witness:-"Damu such a witness! You never know where to find him; how to get at him. There's no getting the advantage of him. He's so confoundedly amiable, too, or appears to be, that he puts you out in spite of yourself. I'd rather examine a hundred ordinary witnesses a week than grapple with Moulton for an hour.

In the Brazil district, Indiana, fifteen hundred coal miners have struck, on account of the operators having determined to reduce the pay from 85 to 70 cents a day. So large and so sudden a reduction would appear as though it was the intention of the operators to force the men into a strike, and thus the more easily to affect the market Both parties show a disposition to hold out, and the stoppage of labor at the mines may be protracted.

The Sun of Monday contains a series of documents which seem to prove that in the lowest depth of corruption, which was supposed to be reached by the investigations into the Credit Mobiller and Pacific Mail frauds, a lower depth, is to be found in the affairs of the Memphis, El Paso, Texas and Pacific Railroad. From these documents it would appear that what were called settlement certificates, certificates for lands, construb is n cert ficates, stocks and bonds, were issued without any valuable consideration to the amount of nearly twelve million of dollars, to be used where they would do the most good in promoting the pas-age of certain bilis in Congress, and that over eleven million of these issues are yet unaccounted for by the parties who had charge of

The recent advance in the price of gold has alarmed a large number of gentlemen in both Houses of Congress. They attribute it in whole or in part to the Finance bill of the Senate, the pasage of which they regard as a grave mistake, calculated to be productive of very disasterous consequences to the whole country. It is believed by them that the gold premium will advance that the gold premium will advance on first reading being legitimately and still higher, and that the receipts from regularly in order on Wednesday. customs will suffer a corresponding decline. Judge Kelley is so thoroughly convinced that this will be the result that he proposes to prepare a bill, which he will introduce next week, repealing certain portions of the law in question His motion is to provide for an increase of the revenues of the Government, and at the same time prevent the advance of the premium on gold. His bill, among other things, will provide that the volume of the greenbacks circulated shall be restored to its old figure of $400,-000,000, and that the clauses providing for resumption in 1879 and the substisation of silver coin for fractional currency shall be repealed.

Lively Row in the Penn'a. Capitol.

In the Pennsylvania House of Re presentatives Monday-night, a controversy took place relative to the seat of Mr. Rosenmiller, Republican, of Lancaster. On the first day of the session a petition had been presented disputing his elegibility. It was temporarily laid aside. Mr. Talley, Democrat, this evening moved to refer the petition to its appropriate committee. Mr. Leigh, Republican, raised the point of order that the petition had never been legitimately before the house, because members and not been sworn in office when it was first presented. The speak-

Messrs. Wolf, Hughn, and Morgan, of Lawrence, Campbell and other Republicans, sustained the view that the petition had never been received by a properly organized and qualified house, New Constitution requiring mem bers to be sworn before performing any duties; while Speaker Patterson, Messes Talley, Fannce, Guster, Irwin. Piper, Fincher, and other Democrats, contended that the document was now on the records of the House and could be properly considered. They argued further that the terms of members of the Legislature began in December, and that the presentation of the petition even before members had taken the oath of office entitled it to recognition. This view appeared to be sustained by the majority of the House, which by a vote of 90, nearly all De-mocrats, against 74 Republicans, endorsed the speaker, and thereby, admit-

decided otherwise, and Mr. Leigh ap-

Mr. Woife (Republican) now raised the point of order that it took a twothirds, instead of a majority vote, to sustain the decision of the Speaker. The Speaker pro tem, decided that the point raised was not well taken. Mr. Wolfe however, insisted on arguing his point, Speaker Patterson, who had been tem-porarily upon the floor, resumed the chair, and he also declared Wolfe's point not to be well taken, and called that gentleman to order. Wolf presist-ed in holding the floor, and confusion ensued.

Mr. Talley was understood as moving to adjourn. This motion was ap-parently recognized by the Speaker, who was about to put the question, when Wolfe loudly insisted that his point of order must be considered. The Speaker refused and Wolfe insisted. The Speaker ordered him to take his seat Wolfe refused, and stood forward demanding the floor and insisting upon being heard. The Speaker warned him that unless he took his seat he would be placed in custody of the Sergeant-at-Arms. This had no effect. The Speakthen directed the Sergeant-at-Arms to take the gentleman in custody.

There were cries of "No, you won't!" and the confusion became intensified, Republican members hurried to the troot of the House where Wolfe was speaking and gathered around, apparently to prevent his arrest. The Ser geant-at-Arms advanced to seize him, and some of the Democratic members hurried to support that officer. A collision appeared invitable, not only be-tween Wolfe and the officer, but between the two political sides of the house.

The scene was indescribable, and has had no parallel in the Penusylvania Legislature for forty years, if ever before. All attempts at order were ut-terly abandoned. There were shouts of "Send for Sheridan!" and "This is dis

At this moment a large proportion of the members had vacated their seats and were in a confused mass upon the centre of the floor, surrounding Wolfe and the Sergeant-at Arms, who were swaying to and fro, not absolutely struggling but excitedly in motion, Wolfe apparently protesting and the Sergeant at-Arms lusisting, and both, with their respective adherents, moving toward the Speaker's stand.

Apparently seeing no chance of re-"Shall the House adjourn?" a tion, there being some responses in the affir-mative; he let fall the gavel and declared the body adjourned. The citement, however, continued for The extime afterward, the members finally retiring from the half in groups, discussing a scene which was absolutely shame

House of Representatives, Feb. 3. The House met at 11 o'clock, and the journal of yest-rday was read. Le had adjourned yesterday a resolution of censure against Mr. Wolfe had been pending.

Speaker Patterson announced that the first business in order was to re-sume the consideration of this resolution, and that Mr. Reighard, Dem., having been upon the floor yesterday at the hour of adjournment, was cutifled to the floor.

Mr. Reighard commenced to speak, when he was interrupted by Ar. Mitch-ell, Rep., who called him to order, and raised the point that the resolution of censure which was pending yesterday cause properly under the head of un-finished business, and as such could not be considered this morning, bills

Under the rules Speaker Patterson decided as follows:-"Nothing is in order until the House itself is in order, which will not be until the question of contempt is decided.1

Messrs. Mitchell and Brown, Reps. Their appeal, after reciting the facts, set forth that—"Mr. Reighard, having set form that—"Mr. Reghard, having this morning risen in his place to ad-dress the House upon the resolution, the geatleman from Tioga (Mr. Mitch-ell), through the Speaker, called the geatleman from Lycoming to order, on the ground that the matter of unfinish-ed business pending, as aforesaid at the ed business pending, as aforesaid, at the time of adjournment yesterday, could not be considered at this time, bills on first reading being, by the rules of this House, the regular order for this day. The speaker suied the point of order not well taken, whereupon Messrs. Brown and Mitchell respectfully appealed.

"John Mitchell." "WM. H. BROWN"

The House by a vote of 97 Democratic year to 83 Republican nays, sustained the decision of the Speaker, and the consider tion of the resolution of censure upon Mr. Wolfe was again resum-

Mr. Relghard spoke at some length ar. Reignard spoke at some length upon the general issues, and at the conclusion called the "previous question," which prevented all further debate. This was sustained by the requisite number of members, viz., twenty. It was met with signs of disapprobation from the Republican side of the House.

Ninety-six members (principally Democrats) voted "That the main question should be now put," and eighty-six members (Republicans) voted a gainst it. The 'main question' was the adoption of the following amend-

Whereas, Charles L. Wolfe, a member of this body, by refusing to yield to the authority of the Speaker, piaced himself in open contempt of this House; therefore,

Resolved, That he be censured for con uct unbecoming a member.

Before the yeas and mays were ordered on the above resolution, Mr. Wolfe obtained the door and asked, in substance, "Whether it was the desire of the House to give him a hearing. He had hoped for an opportunity to make a defence, but the operation of the previous question had interposed."

There were some cries from both political sides of the House of 'Go on," but Mr. Embrick intimated that Mr. Wolfe had been given ample time yesterday to make his explanation,

The resolution to censure (the amendment as above) was then a lepted by a vote of 94 Democrats to 84 (all Re-publicans except Mr. Butler, or Cumberiand), and the original resolution as above anmend d was adopted.

Speaker Patterson and Mr. Wolfe both retrained from voting on any of the above propo itions.

Mr. Morgan asked leave to offer the following:-

Whereas, The Republican members of this house have repeatedly indersed the action of the gentleman from Union (Mr. Wolfe), in regard to the case of contempt just passed upon by the House; therefore.

Resolved, That the Republican members of the House are deserving of the same censure, and are fully as guilty as the gentleman from Union.

Speaker asked wether the House would receive the resolutions, and there were a variety of responses some tavor-able and some otherwise. As there was, however, a few very pointed objections the Speaker decided that it would re quire a two-third vote to consider the resolution, and the matter was dropped,

The report that Mr. Samuel Wilkeson said that the Beecher-Tilton scandel would "knock the 'Life of Christ higher than a kite" is not accurate. What he really said was that it "would knock it to the devil."

An Oshkosh woman gave birth to four children last week. When her husband protested, she whimpered out: "Shadrach, you know how these reaper accidents are reducing the population of Wisconsin."

A package was received at the Dead Letter office on Saturday, which contained half a dozen snakes, two of them dead. Among the live reptiles was a copperhead, five feet long. The snakes were enclosed in a tin box perforated with holes, they were addressed to Germany. They were stopped at New York for insufficient postage.
