

Paraphratic,

—An executive office—the hangman's.
—Common pleas—please shut the door.

—The scale of good-breeding—B natural.

—A poor relation—telling an anecdote badly.

—Carpets are bought by the yard, and worn by the foot.

—Waisting sweetness—putting your arm about a pretty woman.

—As you cannot avoid your own company make it as good as possible.

—Instead of saying "look up," the Texan exclaims: "See hyar, old fellow!"

—Habit is a cable. Every day we weave a thread, and soon we cannot break it.

—Mrs. Beecher is an awful homely woman, but then her bread is never heavy.

—It is the high price of slate pencils that is driving the saloon-keepers to the poor-house.

—Mrs. Gubbins says her husband is like a tallow candle; he always will smoke when he goes out.

—Two things in this world that should not be trifled with—a woman's opinion, and the business end of a wasp.

—"May heaven bless and keep you from your own true love, Benjamin Herrick," was the way the letter ended.

—"Teeth in exchange for wheat, pork or potatoes," is what an enterprising dentist in one of the State towns advertises.

—A grocer when complained to about selling bad eggs, said: "At this season the hens ain't well and very often lay bad eggs."

—A Rhode Island woman says that she'd rather have the nightmare seven straight nights than tell her husband that the flour barrel is empty.

—When a Chicago man gets rich, he writes to Eastern publishing houses and tells them to send "half a top of books with gilt on."

—Miss Eastman, in her woman suffrage argument up at the State House, used this simile: "Eyes as bright as buttons on angels' coats." She's getting brassy.

—Give your son a good education and settled purpose in life, and when he's a man he will not be content to sit back of a grocery stove and crack his finger-joints.

—There is said to be but one divorce in England to every ten in America. Comparatively few English people marry for fun, it would seem.

—The New Haven Register relates that an actor at one of the theatres was called out three times in one evening, not long ago—twice by the sheriff and once by a tailor.

—The saddest thing in life is the spectacle afforded by a young person who has burnt all her hair off her forehead with a hot slate pencil and cannot afford to buy a row of curls.

—A musician, noticing that his friends wearied at his performance, remarked: "You are aware that this is a very difficult passage." "I wish it was impossible," replied one.

—The Detroit Free Press asks, if Mr. Bergh can send a man to jail for three months for killing a mad cat, we'd like to know what he can do to a boy who feeds marbles to a parrot.

—A little American lad who had just commenced reading the newspapers asked his father if the word "Hou." prefixed to the name of a member of Congress meant "honesty."

—No, Mr. Indiana man, we don't want to buy any autographs of Gen. Washington at $8.50 each. We can write all we want, and do as well as Washington used to.

—A. T. Stewart once paid $40,000 for a painting forty feet long, and ever since then he makes it a practice every night and morning of saying to himself: "Stewart, you are the biggest jackass in America."

—Deacon Ladue, of Wisconsin, went to the barn the other day and hung himself with a log chain because his wife playfully kicked his hat off and exclaimed: "That's the kind of a clothes-pie I am!"

—A little girl asked a minister: "Do you think my father will go to heaven?" "Why, yes, my child. Why do ask?" "Well, because if he don't have his own way there, he won't stay long, I was thinking."

—The ghos' of Noah Webster came to a spiritual medium in Alabama, not long since, and wrote on a slip of paper: "It is tite times." Noah was right, but we are sorry to see he has gone back on his dictionary.

—Machinery has reached a great state of perfection. An exchange remarks: "We recently saw some burnt peas put into the hopper of a coffee-mill, and in less than two minutes they were occupying a place in a grocery window, labeled 'Fine Old Mocha.'"

—"Go away! Leave me with my dear! Let me ding myself on this collar and die there!" That was in Nebraska six months ago, and now the widow has won another trusting soul, and number one's portrait is in the attic face to the wall.

Cheyenne, W. T., March 13.—Four more of the Black Hills miners, named Warren, McDonald, Williams, and Thomas, arrived at Fort Laramie to-day, they having walked from the stockade, eighty miles from Harney's Peak, in seven days. They bring fine specimens of gold dust with them. Warren has some that he washed out of two pans of dirt lifted just below the surface, and among which there were grass roots. He says they only dug down to the bed of the rock. In one place the water was so plentiful that part of the time they worked waist deep in it. He thinks that with pumps and hydraulic machines a hundred dollars per day to each man could be made. He also brings with him specimens of silver which old miners say will yield $2,000 to the ton, and that it is the purest they ever saw. He will bring here those specimens of silver ore to be assayed. He has also fine specimens of plumbago, lead, and copper, and says there is more gypsum in the Black Hills than ten railroads could haul away in fifty years. He claims also that there are tin mines there. The railroads have reduced the fare one-third from Chicago to Cheyenne to parties going to the Black Hills. Many strangers are now here who, it is supposed, are bound for the new El Dorado, notwithstanding the orders from the Government prohibiting parties from going. Persons just arrived from the Indian Agency say that the Indians are anxious to sell to the Government their right to the Black Hills country, but do not propose to give it up without being paid for it.

There is a rumor that "oil was struck" at Warren, Pa., last Saturday, at a depth of 654 feet; "but the capacity of the well is not yet determined." This, it is believed, opens up a new oil territory.

Speaking of Mr. Henry M. Stanley's present expedition to Africa, an English paper says: "His first letter shows that he has, at the outset of his journey, accomplished a great work, the moral and material importance of which can hardly be exaggerated. In thirty days he explored the Rufiji River, which Mr. Kirk reported to be navigable. Mr. Stanley, as the result of his spirited voyage in the Yarnmouth yawl, the Wave, informs us that the river carries a good navigable channel fifty miles inland, and he believes that for nearly half that distance the largest Mississippi steambot of five thousand tons might safely float. Mr. Stanley, by his initial bit of work, puts the British consul at Zanzibar to shame, and justifies the belief that he is not unworthy to continue the work which was begun by Livingstone."
