Two Old Veteraus.

In East Penn Township, this county, reside peaceably and harmoniously together, John Rehrig, who has attained the ripe old sge of 93 years, and Mrs. Rehrig, his first "better half," aged 89 years. Both healthy and robust. Mr. R. faithfully provides for their support pursuing arduous bodily labors, such as mowing, chopping wood and all other farmers' pursuits, tiresome to the youngest and most robust. His principal hobby, however, always was hupting, many a deer's life was ended from the effects of his deadly aim while fol, lowing them barefooted. A peculiarity of his is never to wear boots, always broad soled and comfortable shoes Never was known to have been sick of any account. His wife also performs well her part of the domestic duties, without any assistance; has also been healthy all her life time. Conclusively, I would add that it frequently astonishes people to learn to what an advanced age some people arrive at, but, it is oftentimes due to nothing else but their mode of living-substantial but spare diet, their comfortable style of dress, and general department.

Letter from Parryville.

To the Editor of THE CARBON ADVOCATE. DEAR SIR,-In glancing over your spicy sheet, I see an article on "Parryville Items," written by one "ONEY JORIN." who makes the startling announcement that "Parryville is a Borough," this is news indeed; we should not have been aware of the fact had not your correspondent reminded us of it; our whole borough ("Borough" looks well in print) is indebted to him for it, but this is not all, he also thinks that we can not have a borough without a "lock-up" or "jug," as he is pleased to call it, and wonders if he shall ever 38 16 have an opportunity to occupy it. Is he a member of Council? If so he Total..... 15,491 07 602,712 09 should certainly be on the Building Last Year... 85,814 12 1,066,928 08 Committee, allowing him his twoweeks to report whether it is"properly built." Your correspondent has "Lock up" on the brain, and deserves to occupy it all to himself when finished, for I fear that we shall have very little use for it, as the citizens of this place are a law-abiding people, second to none in the State. Can't "Oney JORIN" give us something better than "Jug" question? Give us something else, say water works for instance, or street lamps, we can dispense with gas while he takes such an interest in our affairs.

railroad sills, fences and logs. The trains moved slowly and had to stop every few feet to remove obstruc-dions. No. 4, north, was met on the inundated track with its baggage car off the rails. The hind truck had been caught by an ice boulder, the haggage was removed, the car cut loose and left in the flood. Men rode on the front of the engines on the down trains, and the steps of the cars were occupied by conductors, brakemen and passengers, who were all kept busy in pushing and klek-ing away log sand ice boulders from the track. At the Swinging Bridge there was a great mass of floating ice and driftwood on the track, and while a passage was being opened through it, about an acre of ice, which had been lodged on the right of the track, began to move and headed across the track in front of the train. It looked danger ous, and the men became frightened and ladies began to cry. Some trees and bushes, however arrested its progress and the trains made their waythrough pefore it started again.

Wilkesbarre, Pa., March 31-7.45 P. M. -The river has been rising rapidly since three o'clock this afternoon. The Ramson gorge gave way at 5.30 P. M., and is now sweeping down the river. Wilkesbarre, March 31-11 P. M.-The river has fallen five inches since uine P. M., the water having found additional outlet across the Kingston flats, through which it is rushing with great force and noise. The Wilkesbarre gorge is yet apparently immovable, and it will probably remain so until the water is raised several feet higher by a storm or by its stoppage on the flats. The river is also failing at Pittston, and that place has escaped a second inundation.

The Ice Gorge.

Wilkesbarre, Pa , March 31 .- The river continues to rise more rapidly than it has before to-day. It is a mile wide here, and a great volume of water is flowing across the Kingston flats, but is not yet floating away any of the scat-tered ice boulders. At Port Blanchard it has overflown the banks of the canal again, and it is now nearly bank full where it passes through Wilkesbarre. A little further rise will flood Canal-st The foot of the gorge shows no signs of giving way. The foot of the Ransom gorge has lodged against the foot of this gorge without starting it. The water has risen a foot-and-a-half here in a little over an hour, and is now twenty one feet above low water mark, but the gorge shows no sign of giving away, and may hold out through the night.

The water is backing up at West Pittston, and is just beginning to flood that place. The Lobigh Valley rall-road is flooded between here and Pitts-ton, and all trains have been abondoned between the two places, and there are no mails from the North.
