The Carbon Advocate.
SATURDAY MORNING, MAY 8, 1875.

Local and Personal.

—South Bethlehem is getting a new Opera House.
—Whit-Monday falls this year upon the 17th of May.
—Hats and caps of every style at the lowest prices at T. D. Clauss.
—The spelling match neck-tie is out. It is knotty.
—Gent's furnishing goods in every variety, very cheap at T. D. Clauss.
—The State Sunday School Convention will be held in Lebanon in June.
—The Easton Fire Department will hold their annual parade on the 17th day of May.
—The Slatington Bridge Company has declared a half-yearly dividend of 8 per cent.
—Early cabbage plants can be obtained of W. H. Knecht, in Weisport, at very reasonable prices.
—Norrington is making preparations for the Lutheran Ministerium, which will meet here on May 23d.
—A 7 1/2 Octave Piano, new, for sale at an immense discount. Apply at this office.
—Hardware, coal and lumber at the very lowest market prices, at F. P. Seimel's.
—The weather will soon be warm enough for the "fellers" to swing on the front gate.
—Time is money, and many people pay their subscription for their news paper with it.
—An elegant assortment of spring and summer suitings to select from at T. D. Clauss' Hall of Fashion, Bank Street.
—Now is the time to put in Cucumbers pumps. You can get them from F. P. Seimel at cost. They are the best pumps made.
—We learn that a number of our citizens are now making efforts for the organization of a brass band in this place.
—The man who doesn't advertise loses its benefits, and he is the main sufferer, failure in business being often occasioned by it.
—A vein of excellent iron ore, six feet thick, been discovered at the foot of the Blue Mountains, Albany township, Berks county.
—If you want a nice fitting suit of clothes, call at the merchant tailoring establishment of T. D. Clauss, and be suited.
—Charles Trainer is now fixed in his new store on Second street, and is selling flour, feed, &c. at lowest rates. Try him.
—John McGroven, one of the Carbon-dale tank robbers, pleaded guilty, at Williamsport, Friday, and was sentenced to five years in the Penitentiary.
—L. F. Kleppinger, at his livery on the corner of Bank and Iron streets, has a lot of nobby horses and handsome carriages, which he hires out at very low prices.
—Boots, shoes and gutters, made especially for the trade of this locality, are selling at "knock down" prices at T. D. Clauss' merchant tailoring establishment, on Bank Street.
—Now, you can luxuriate on ice cream, of the choicest flavors, every Saturday evening, at D. Krock & Co's, on Bank street. They will also supply you with fresh bread and cakes daily.
—The Lehigh County Bible Society will hold its annual meeting in the Union Church, at Slatington, on Whit Monday, May 17th. All friends of the cause are invited to be present.
—Charles Yenser's saloon is crowded with our young folks every evening, to partake of the ice cream always to be found there. Have you tried it yet? If not, why not?
—A young Weisport lady being asked by a feminine acquaintance whether she had any original poetry in her album, replied: "No, but some of my friends have favored me with original spelling."
—An old lady recently directed the attention of her husband to a pair of twins, remarking as she did so, "How much these two children do look like their father, especially the one this way."
—The coats made up by Laury & Peters are not only neatly trimmed but well made up of the best material, and the "fit" is unsurpassed by "any other man."
1000 MEN WANTED.—To secure great bargains at Laury & Peters. They have just received a large stock of fancy worsted and cassimere suitings, which they are prepared to make up in first class style, at 1875 prices, to suit the times.

—A man in Monroe county, roused to frenzy by the news from Concord and Lexington, has just declared his independence by flogging his mother-in-law with a hot griddle. The neighbors, however, regard the affair simply as a family broil.

—Peter S. Keiser, ex-sheriff of this county, died at his residence in Hazleton, to which place he had recently removed from Slatington, on Saturday morning last. The remains were taken to Mauch Chunk, and deposited in the cemetery of that place.

—Just now is a good time to call on David Ebbert and secure one of his neat carriages and fast horses, and drive through the valley of the Mahoning. His prices are very low.

—J. K. Rickett has still a few of those eligible lots in Rickettstown to dispose of. If you feel like securing a good home call and see him. He is also supplying flour, feed, lumber and coal at the lowest rates.

—Send your orders for job printing to the ADVOCATE office. New press and a large lot of new and elegant type just received. Prices fully as low as New York or Philadelphia.

—John Kemerer, a man about 40 years of age, and an employee at the Packerton car shops, was caught between the bumpers of the cars on Saturday last, and so badly injured that he died in a short time after the accident.

—Justus F. Temple, the Auditor General, and William McCandless, the Secretary of Internal Affairs, were sworn into office Tuesday at Harrisburg. The oath was administered by the Deputy Secretary of the Commonwealth.

—Persons who have been in the habit of carrying pistols, razors, dirk knives, sling shots, and all other descriptions of concealed or dangerous weapons, will do well to leave them at home in the future. The new law enforces a heavy fine and imprisonment on any one having them about his or her person; and any person can inform on such as are seen or known to carry them, and receive one-half of the fine.

—Some swindlers are operating in the rural parts by making contracts with farmers for a "fire-proof roofing plumb," a part of the game being to get signatures to notes falling due at a certain future time, which are immediately after disposed of by the rascals.

—The Lehigh Valley R. R. Co., have decided to build their extensive machine shops at Amboy, N. J., unless sufficient ground can be purchased adjoining their present shops, at South Easton, for the necessary buildings at a reasonable price. The needed property is now valued at $30,000. The Company is willing to pay $25,000 only. Should their present shops be removed to Amboy, South Easton and Easton will receive a check to their prosperity which will seriously effect the business men of both boroughs.

—An old and highly respected citizen of East Penn township, Mr. Jacob Wertman, died on Sunday morning last. He was buried in the cemetery at Ben Salem's church on Tuesday morning. The funeral being largely attended by relatives and friends.

—Tuesday's advices from Pottsville indicate a belief that the miners' strike will not continue beyond the middle of this month or the 1st of June, as many of the storekeepers who have been trusting the miners cannot continue business much longer. Some of them are said to be already on the verge of bankruptcy. Quiet continues, except in the upper portion of the county, where some trains have again been stopped, and cars have been switched off the track, and a policeman has been severely wounded. Additional policemen have been placed on duty along the road.

—Mr. Geo. B. Rann, gas works contractor, of Sunbury, was in town, Thursday. He is desirous of putting up works and introducing petroleum gas in this borough. From what we learned from him during a short interview, we incline to the opinion that it is a good thing.

Only a few coal breakers are now in operation in the Clearfield region, and these with reduced forces, under the protection of special police. The strikers watch all the trains to prevent "black-legs" from going to work, and in some cases pay their fares back to the places they came from. Several of the superintendents have requested the miners to take their tools out of the mines if they cannot work for the operator's prices. It is now thought the strike will last for three or four months.

At Last.
Our new Borough Council, at their meeting on Monday evening last, nobly responded to the payer of Lehigh Hook & Ladder Co., of this place, by voting them the old school house on Third street and $100 in cash towards fixing up for a truck house. The company immediately appointed a building committee and instructed them to proceed in the matter without delay, and it is expected the building will be ready for occupancy in the course of two or three weeks.

Match for $200.
A trot of a lively kind is to come off over the Bittersville Course on Thursday, May 20th, at 1 P. M., between Jans. Villet's "Little Mack," Al. Miller's roan mare "Bessie Turner," Rob. Smith's "Nellie Cooper," and Henry Hummel's gray gelding "Grey Eagle," miles heats, best three in five, to harness, for a purse of $200—the last horse to take $100, 2nd $50, 3rd $30, and 4th $20. From the well known trotting abilities of these celebrated animals considerable interest is being manifested in the result, and we have no doubt that a large number of the lovers of fast stock will be present at the race. Those who desire to witness a good trial of speed should not fail to attend.—Democrat.

Our Mauch Chunk Letter

April 5.—Don't blame me for dullness should you find the present dry, or of little interest. For this the public are to blame, not I, since they are the ones upon whose liberality I must depend for "stock in trade." That they have been unusually quiet and well behaved is no fault of mine, to whom anything in the catalogue of the stirring would be a welcome boon.

To begin with: R. F. Hofford is once more elected County Superintendent of Common Schools, his competitor, J. P. Rowland—whose friends had made such a noise in the papers—receiving 14 out of 62 votes. There is joy in the Hofford camp, but sorrow, extreme sorrow, among the friends of Rowland. The convention which re-elected Mr. Hofford would have met and adjourned without an incident of note, had it not been for a little gasing-bee between the grave Fisher Hazard and Mr. Rowland, which little diversion lasted about ten minutes. It was a well matched game, the award by common consent, being six to the one, and half a dozen to the other. The salary was voted to remain at $1,200.

Sheriff Brenesler, who last Friday afternoon was split from his buggy by a newly purchased horse he was driving for the first time, and which had become frightened at a passing RR. train, lies in a serious if not critical condition; his injuries having proven more severe than he was at first willing to admit.

Beer drinkers in our midst, Tontonic as well as native, are in ecstasies, now that "Louis" is decanting the genuine Milwaukee article.

Alex. Robinson is actively engaged in making preparations for the opening of his "European Hotel" on the first proximo, when Mauch Chunk may expect to boast of a hotel "kept on the European plan." Beyond these, news-items are scarce as hen's teeth.

As a community Mauch Chunk is subject to the same ills that other communities are heir to, consequently are individuals apt to die here as elsewhere. Of those who have departed during the week I may mention a daughter of Elias Schlek, aged 3 years, a rather more than commonly interesting child, who died on Monday last, and the demise of Mrs. J. wife of Street Commissioner Auos Fegeley, who died on the same day. With births I shall not bother, who cares for trifles? That people are born here as well as elsewhere, you may readily take for granted. There is one thing however which neither all do, nor all know how to do, namely: how to properly celebrate a birth-day.

Of those who do know, the Hon. Associate Judge Houston certainly is one, to which assertion his numerous friends will bear me willing testimony, at least those among them who, on Monday last, assisted at the celebration of the 46th anniversary of his birth. Jolly and generous, as the Judge is, he made the occasion one of general hilarity for his friends. Our worthy District Attorney, it is said, also celebrated his on the same day, but quietly among "the old folks at home." His age however I must not divulge, as doing so might possibly depreciate his matrimonial market value, i. e. provided he should have any intentions in that direction.

Had you, or any of your readers, been here on Monday last, you might have seen the maddest man you ever saw, the personage in question being no less a gentleman than ex-Sheriff Painter. The Sheriff, it appears, is anxious to square his old tax-duplicates, and being naturally one of the best hearted souls that ever lived, had, in due consideration of the stringency of the times, favored many until a further extension of time would in his estimation have ceased to be a virtue. The first of the present month had been the day set by him, on which he expected all delinquents to call at the "captain's office to settle." But few responded however. Monday's results having been no better than Saturday's, the Sheriff got angry, and now threatens to push every one to the wall who shall fail to perform between this and the 15th inst. It will therefore be advisable for delinquent taxpayers promptly to comply, to avoid trouble, as the Sheriff means what he says, and, once provoked by what he considers "fooling" there is no telling what harsh measures he might not resort to.

George Spangler, who so mysteriously disappeared Saturday a week ago, has not yet been heard from. Great uneasiness is said to be felt by his family on his account.

The miners don't seem to be in as strong a position for endurance, financially, as they are trying to make people believe. Committees soliciting aid are to be met with almost daily, while the people—even charitably disposed persons—are getting weary of the many calls made upon their generosity. I encountered one of those committees today at several places, but found their success in raising the "dough" anything but encouraging.

NOTES.
Walter S. Stedman, for years a clerk in the freight department of the C. R. R. of N. J., has tendered his resignation.

Mr. Frank Moser is seriously ill with erysipelas.

Mrs. W. H. Stroh, who has been confined to a bed of sickness for nearly six months, and whose recovery had been nearly despaired of, is slowly convalescing.

Mr. Fred Wagoner, the affable bartender of the American, is said to be meditating a change.

At the Mansion House all is life and activity. Like prudent folks, they are preparing for the grand influx expected with the advent of the season. Even Mr. Schneur, the Indian Bazaar man, is restlessly active and "Jim" is growing more serene as the season approaches.

Al. Lynn, brother of the proprietor of the "Democrat," has quit printing to enter an apprenticeship at plumbing. The best wishes of friends and acquaintances accompany him. Yours, CAVENDISH.

The Coal Trade.

The situation in the anthracite coal regions remains unchanged from what it was last week. Beyond the fact that we know that coal production in the "striking" regions must begin sooner or later, and that, therefore, we are now nearer resumption than a week ago, the future in this regard seems just as uncertain and resumption as far removed as it then was. The latest news gives no promise of a settlement of existing difference between the miners and the operators, and little or no mining, or, indeed, labor of any kind, is being done at the mines in the Schuylkill and Lehigh coal regions. The corporations of Lackawanna and Upper Luzerne are working their mines day and night and shipping loaded cars to New York. The Delaware and Hudson Coal Company and the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western Railroad Co., have issued circulars of their prices for coal for May, which shows an advance of twenty cents per ton instead of fifteen the usual advance. This advance in prices will no doubt continue until the regions go to work, when the usual program will be adopted. The prices of coal at Rondout and at Hoboken are both the same—Lump, $4.80; steamer, $4.90; grate, $5; egg, $5.51; stove, $5.60, and chestnut, $4.50. At Newburg the prices of Pennsylvania Coal Company's coal have been fixed at $4.85 for lump and steamer, $4.95 for grate $5.05 for egg, $5.55 for stove, and $4.50 for chestnut. Coal is quite scarce in this city, but rigid economy in its use has prevented any serious inconvenience from short supply.—Phila. Ledger, May 3.

The following table shows the quantity of coal shipped over the Lehigh Valley Railroad for the week ending May 1st, 1875, and for the year as compared with the same time last year:

From	Week	Year.
Wyoming	18,463 18	385,442 00
Hazleton	5,181 17	195,970 10
Up. Lehigh		341 19
Bea. Meadow		53,776 11
Mahoning	5,958 06	83,842 18
Mauch Chunk		2,166 06
N. fr. Easton	1,482 17	15,333 08
Total	31,086 18	786,872 12
Last Year	81,579 03	1,518,963 02
Increase
Decrease	50,492 04	732,090 10

Coal Mining.

Coal mining in the Wyoming Valley, says the Allentown Democrat, is now carried on to such an extent that parties who are well versed in the matter give it as their opinion that they will be able to furnish all the coal needed for the next twelve months, and without using any from the Schuylkill Regions whatever.—The Wyoming mine owners are paying a gradual increase of wages, thus inducing miners to come to work from Carbon and Schuylkill counties. It is said they are willing to work there, while for the present they decline to touch a pick in their old places. The men in the Upper Regions, with their gradual advance, will thus be able to support those of the lower regions as they stand out. In the present position of affairs contractors in the Schuylkill and Lower Lehigh regions are now on account of the absence of supply compelled to throw up their contracts for delivery, and as a result they are given to mine operators in the Wyoming district. Thus, even if the strike should keep on, there will be no cause for want of coal. The Lockridge Furnaces, in this county, are now only using coke in small quantity, with a view of exhausting the supply on hand. They are receiving plenty of anthracite coal, and have the prospect of a steady supply for the future. The Danville Furnaces are very much pleased with the Wyoming coal, because of it being superior to the Schuylkill coal in the amount of iron it produces.

Decoration Day-Parade.

Lehigh Hook & Ladder Co., and the old soldiers of this borough and vicinity purposes to have a parade and decorate the graves of the deceased soldiers buried on our cemeteries, on Saturday, May 29th (Decoration Day); the line will form at 2 o'clock p. m. A committee has been appointed to solicit flowers and contributions for the occasion.

—The Phoenix Cornet Band, of Mauch Chunk, visited our borough on Thursday evening, and discoursed sweet strains of music at the different hotels in town. Come again!

Country Parlors.

"D. W. L." in Hearth and Home, says: A great many people think they can't keep house without a parlor set apart exclusively for company use, kept "span clean," and jealousy guarded from stray sunbeams that have a trick of peeping through every unwarly crevice. Our grandmothers had such a room, our mothers had one, and so, forsooth, must we. But then the parlors of our ancestors boasted of those glorious, wide-mouthed fire-places that brighten any room, however gloomy, while we box up the cheerful flames in iron or freestone and call it more genteel. We refrain all the stillness while discarding the only redeeming feature of their "spare room."

I do not mean to say that none of us should have a parlor, but I do protest against spending the greater part of the money one has to furnish a home in putting expensive furniture into a room that, in our country homes, will be used perhaps a dozen times in the course of a year, while the remainder of the house suffers thereby. If you have but few pictures, with a rare gem or two, put them into your sitting-room by all means. Your home should be made pleasant for your family, and then it will be an attractive place for visitors.

I go to see Mrs. Prim an afternoon visit. I find her in the sitting-room busy with the week's mending. After a half-hour's chat she excuses herself and passes out of the room. I know just where she has gone. The horror of her best room comes over me. I hear her sweeping down the cobwebs, rolling up the curtains, and throwing open the blinds. I wait in nervous expectation. I am contented and cosy where I am, but I know Mrs. Prim wishes that I should see "the parlor." She knows I haven't any at home. She comes back leaving the doors open, and says in bare, distinct words, "we will take some seats in this way." I know just what to say. I have said it a great many times. Everybody says it is under the circumstances. I reply, "I sit very comfortably here," rising at the same time.

Mrs. Prim passes on, I following after, feeling as though I am in a funeral procession going to look at the corpse, and the corpse is in the best room. It smells of the tomb, it looks gravelike, and I shudder inwardly as I sit down on the horse-hair sofa, staring at the blank walls. I am uncomfortable; I can't help it. Mrs. Prim is uncomfortable. She don't feel at home. However, Johnny's overalls, with one leg torn off, don't correspond with the room, but they must be mended this afternoon.

She tries to talk, and I do the same. I know what she expects of me, and I try to satisfy her. I speak of the beauty of her carpet, which resembles a circus bill; of the enormous size of her mirror, and then I am at the end of my wits. The room isn't suggestive of ideas. Don't you know how much difference there is in rooms? It is so easy to talk in some rooms; your tongue runs in spite of itself. You find so much to awaken thought that it seems as if the room was planned for that purpose.

Country parlors, as a rule, do not belong to this class. They are nothing but a "hollow mockery." And then the abrupt manner of showing visitors into them! If you happen to be caught in the kitchen, try to find some excuse for changing rooms, as showing them a new song, or late picture, and then you can easily be seated and continue the conversation. If you have a parlor make it home-like, life-like and avoid any appearance of stiffness. Sit in there by yourself, and with your family sometimes, so as to get rid of that feeling supposed to belong to a "cat in a strange garret."

God be thanked for our noble women in the country that are an honor to any community, but preserve us from these old-fashioned, straight-backed, gloomy dens called parlors.
