The Carbon Advocate. H. V. MORTHIMER, EDITOR

LEHIGHTON, PA.: SATURDAY MORNING JUNE 26, 1875.

LET US HAVE LIGHT!

Mr. P. H. Renn, of Sunbury, is in town endeavoring to raise the necessary stock to put up a gas-house in this borough. It is proposed to erect works of No. 6 capacity with one mile of pipe. Mr. Benn will proceed with the work as soon as $5,000 worth of stock is taken by our citizens-$2500 to be paid when the work is commenced, and the balance $2500 on the completion thereof. The offer is very liberal, and our people by pushing this matter will add materially to the value of their property. It is proposed to put the shares at $50, each, thus placing them within the reach of almost the poorest of our citizens. Shall be have Gas ?

GREENBACKS-GOLD.

We extract the following article from the Phiadelphia Ledger, of June 23d : Indications may already be seen that the public are soon to be again treated to long essays like those which have regularly preceded each season since the panic of 1873, telling us of the wonderful change which is to take place in mercantile affairs from the harvesting of the " greatest crop which the world ever saw," not stopping to inquire of what use a great or little crop may be to business if it is to be hoarded until it rots or wastes away. On the contrary, the usually careful and conservative Journal of Commerce seems to hit the nail squarely on the head in an article. upon the existing prostration of business, when it says :

ness, when it says : There is a way out of this quagmire, but the people must be thoroughly aroused before they will take it, and so many are already entangled that they are afraid to struggle lest they sink the deeper and fail hopelessly of final ex-trication. The paper money system is the leaden weight that fetters industry and stifles enterprise. If every honest man who knows what a lie and a sham the present money standard is would give his voice in favor of fixing a gold price and a gold standard from a given give his voice in favor of fixing a gold price and a gold standard from a given date (say September next) to his daily transactions, and would then begin to call a dollar by its true name; to enter every trade at its real price in dollars ; to quote a paper promise worth 84 cents to the 100 as an actual deprecia-ted currency circulating at this disted currency circulating at this dis-count; to keep all their records in real money, and adjust their dealings to it on this basis, the first effectual stop to-ward a new prosperity will have been taken. * * * This is throwing no discredit on Government issues, and so far from depreciating the paper money, it would tend to give it an in-creased market value. If gold could once be restored to its real place in the daily reckponings of this market the re-lief would be so great the people would lief would be so great the people would wonder how they ever consented to the usurpation of this nightmare which has afflicted us for so many years.

It seems uselass to expect that any real and solid improvement will take place until such time as the people shall he thoroughly aroused to the injury which every legitimate interest of the country sustains at the hands of speculation, which finds its power and protection in our present system of paper money. And right here the gold question seems likely soon to assume an availed themselves of the opportunities importance which it will be found to belittle or ignore. Unless some means be found to force our products upon the market, so that they shall perform the duty of liquidation, the exports of gold must steadily increase and if so there must come a real and not artificial scarcity of gold. Make our present currency equal in value to coin, redeemable in gold on demand, and the country will have the best and most convenieut currency the world ever saw. There is need of no other financial legislation than such as will make all at it equal in value to coin. Our present exclusive paper currency, by which we measure all prices, is good and of equal value all over the country, worth as much in the extreme South as in the oldest State of the North but it is at all points some 17 per cont discount. Bring it to par, and make it perform its true function of money, and its amount will soon saitle to its proper level. It would be well if the commercial community could be induced to keep their accounts in real money, but if they cannot be persuaded to that end voluntarily then let all agitation of legislative reform on the subject be confined to the single point of making bank notes and greenbacks the equal of gold.

cunning on foundry and Bessemer. It would be safe to say that all the furnaces in this section cannot supply more than half the iron used in Pittsburg alone. A number of furnaces in the valleys, however, are in condition to blow, should the demand and prices warrant. As to stocks, our information is to the effect that there is not one-fifth of the lron unsold in the two valleys there was the first of January. We will not give exact figures, as they would scarcely be believed, but we can say that the unsold mill iron in the valleys and Pittsburg that can be purchased at anything like present prices is insufficient to run the Pittsburg mills five weeks. When it is remembered that the iron from these sections must also supply Wheeling, Steubenville, &c., the smallness of the stocks will be still more apparent. The iron of this section is at present going to markets that it rarely enters, as to Columbus and Milwaukee."

In the last annual report of the Franklin Reformatory Home for Inebriates, of Philadelphia, an institution of modest pretentions which has had decided success in the work for which it is designed. Dr. Harris, the attending physician, expressing some views in relation to inebriate asylums which are worth attention. In the Franklin Home the theory that drunkenness is a disease finds no favor ; intemperance is looked upon as a sin, a moral evil to be met with moral means after the applicant by medical treatment has been placed in a sufficiently sound physicial state to listen to reason and profit by teaching and example. Medication is necessary to restore the system reduced by excesses, but neither medicines, hot baths, sulphur baths, nor other means of that character are expected to cure the patient so that the desire for alcoholic drinks shall cease. Dr. Harris believes that the asylum system has not yet been fully and carefully tested in this country ; that too much attention has been directed to finding cures for the supposed disease, and not enough to reforming the habit of intemperance. He attributes the difficulties of the asylum system to the fact that the inmates have no business to oqcupy them ; that many of them have no sincere desire for reformation ; and to the demoralizing tendency of their association together, their classification being based rather upon social grounds than the degree of anxiety or indifference they manifest upon the question of reformation. A powerful influence is exerted upon the inmates of the Franklin Home by the visits of reformed inebriates who have been reclaimed there, and who regularly devote a part of their time to the encouragement of those who are endeavoring to follow their example. During the three years that the institution has been in operation, of 879 applicants who have been admitted, 158 are reported as reformed, 45 as benefitted, and 139 as "doubtful." The average time that the in-mates had been in the habit of drinking to excess was six years and seven months. Representatives of 113 different occupations, among them clergy-

According to the Pittsburg Iron World, the condition of affairs has changed very much, and the present outlook in that section is decidedly favorable to the seller and against the buyer. In Pittsburg five out of eleven furnaces are in blast. Of the six out, however, two are in no condition to blow, nor can they be put in condition for several, months, and, as they are bankrupt, they probably will not be blown.
