Our Pavements.

During the past few days we have had our at tention called to the very dispidated condition of our pavements, a number of our business men complaining that it is an injury to their men complaining that it is an injury to their business to have them kept in this condition. In many places you find noise infree enough for a moderase stread man to drop through, while in other maces the ends of the planks are routen and nave lost (her fastements and when stepped upout at one end line other files up and trips the pedestrian who may be the last to put his foot forward. Will our Barough Council looks to this matter, before the cuitzens have to pay an ad-dritonal to requinerate some undertainante pot son who may break a leg in the yam attempt to perturbing our streets. Wake up, gentim-ment ------
