

TIMID ADVERTISERS.—There are some people who cannot be persuaded to believe there is virtue in advertising, because, having advertised once, people did not rush into their places of business and proclaim the fact that they had seen the advertisement, and by it had been persuaded to come and pay big bills. Like every other business operation, advertising to be made profitable, must be methodical and continuous. There is so much in every newspaper to engross the attention of the reader, that a casual advertisement is oftentimes forgotten almost as soon as read. But when day after day the name and place of the man of business greet the eye of the reader, they become impressed almost indefinitely upon the mind, so that both become familiar; and the reasonable probability is, that when the reader wishes to make a purchase he will read the advertisement and curiosity will prompt him to call and see whether its persistent promises are verified. A. T. Stewart's advertising account footed up $55,000 last year. "Ah," exclaims one "but he can afford to advertise. See what a business he does!" Just so, but pray how did he manage to create such an enormous trade? Close as he may be in his other transaction, he has ever been liberal advertiser and he has his reward.

THE GEORGIA CONSPIRACY.—The case of the negroes in Georgia who were reported to have planned an insurrection, came up for trial last week. The investigation has been conducted with great fairness on the part of Judge Johnson, and by the counsel on both sides. The trial of Corday Harris, the colored man, accused of attempting to incite insurrection resulted in a verdict of "Not guilty." There was nothing to prove a criminal intent in any of the acts of which the prisoner was accused. The Grand Jury recommended the release of the thirty prisoners, and several more have been sent to counties where they reside. The two men most implicated are Morris and Merkeron, who have not yet been arrested. All excitement and apprehension have subsided.

The Vicksburg Herald gives an account of our riot at Clinton, Miss., which shows that it was a well-organized affair. It appears that there is now prohibition the sale of liquor in Clinton, and a young man named Siveley, who had brought a bottle of whisky from New Orleans, was about to take a drink with some friends, when he was stopped by the colored marshal of the meeting. They had no attention to the marshal, and when he attempted to seize the bottle struck him in the head with it. A colored minister named Woodward attempted to settle the difficulty, and was followed by twenty other colored men. He told them to go back but, a hundred others came on. At this juncture, "some fired a pistol, and the negroes, scattering the crowd ensued." Siveley, after discharging all the barrels of his revolver, surrendered to the negroes, and had his brains knocked out. He was then stripped of his clothing, one of the negroes cut off his ear, and Charlie Clinton was killed in the yard of his house, a young lawyer named Tammison was shot off his horse, and John Neal was fatally wounded. On the other side four negroes were wounded, and one was mortally wounded, and "six additional negroes have been made dead at Clinton since?" The white men organized at once for self-protection, and the negroes, who had been speedily armed, giving them absolute control of the town. One of the trains conveying reinforcements from Jackson was fired into on Saturday night, and six passengers were killed, but no one seems to have been injured. A telegram direct from Clinton last night, says that 40 negroes have been killed and that the number of white in the business are reported to be in the majority in the State. Governor Ames has called upon General George, Chairman of the Democratic State Committee, to assist in restoring order. A telegram to the Clinton Free Press reports Warren and Wilson, the two county sheriffs, and the Sheriff of Hinds county reports to Governor Ames that he summoned a posse on Sunday to quell riotous proceedings, and on visiting Clinton found the town quiet, and the negroes running in the country shooting peaceful colored citizens and driving others from their homes.
