The fourth annual ball of the Phonix Cornet Band was held at Rhoads' Hall, on Friday evening. The ball paid the Band well. The ball was crowded. Beer went by the keg-full and the crowd danced till four o'clock in the morning.

The members of the M. E. church watched the old year out in the basement of the church, but at 12 o'clock many piked out to hear the bands and see the excitement down town. The new year, 1876, was ushered in with all the enthusiasm our people were capable of exerting. Long before the hour of midnight the streets were thronged and everybody seemed wild with excitement and confusion. By nine o'clock Broadway and Susquehanns street presented a beautiful appearance. ance. Every dwelling from the garret to the cellar was illuminated either by gas, tallow candles or Chinese lanterns, and so continued lighted up till the old was numbered with the past. At Packer's corner a bon-fire was started at an early hour and kept burning till after it was "time to go home with the gals in the morning." About half past eleven o'clock the torch light pro-About half cession passed up Broadway accompan-led by the Phœnix and Hibernian bands bringing all who were not on the streets to the windows, and all joining in one grand chorus, as the procession passed along, of three cheers for the Centen-tennial year 1876. The American Hotel was the headquarters of a few of the distinguished, and in the reception room could have been seen Hon. Asa Packer, Hon. Allen Craig, Dr. Leonard, Danl. Kalbfus, Esq., and Messrs. Harry Packer and J. Taylor. These gentlemen were watching the old year out, and just at twelve, midnight, Mr. Harry Packer announced that the new year was upon us and thereupon every one wished the other a very happy new y ar. Precisely at midnight the Court house bell proclaimed the birth of the Centennial year and then followed all the other bells in town "in a sort of runic rhyme, feeling a glory in so rolling on the human heart of man." From the cupola of the Court house beautiful colored lights were issuing which shed a magnificent halo about the house of Justice. From the American hotel to Rex's store a rope spanned the street, and while the bells were tolling in the new year the American flag was flung breeze amid deafning cheers. By this time the procession had returned from Susquehanna street and haited in front of the American hotel. Country 'tis of Thee," was sung by the vast crowd, led by Mr. Webb. Then came the rendition of a lively piece by the Phoenix band, after which Daniel Kalbfus, Esq., was loudly called for and responded in a short address. The

The Coal Trade. The Coal Trade.

We have nothing important to add to our last wearly toport of the anthracite coal trade. The oversupply of coal that caused suspension of mining and continues, and pretty much all business connected with the trade continues now as a week sgs. Frices have not been advanced in consequence of suspension, nor is a probable that here will during the present writer. There is some little mining of coal in the Leliagh resion, and any prospect of a material reduction of the present output will stimulate production.—Ledger, ad.

Leg Broke. met with a serious accident last Wednesday evening. He started to come to Strondsburg in the afternoon and was accompanied by Peter Shafer, of Gilbert's, When they came as far as Peter Mostellar's, on this side of Snydersville it had become so dark that they stopped and borrowed a lantern of Mr. Mosteller. They then drove a little further when they came to a bridge. Here one side of the wagon wont down over the end which threw Mr. Kerchner out down into the creek. Shafer imped out and held on to the horse just long enough to give Kerch-ner a little time to drag himself on the bank a little way when Shafer left go of the horse and down went wagon and horse into the creek. The cries of Shafer brought some persons living near by to their rescue Kerchner was carried to Mosteller's house and Dr. LeB ir sent for who waen he examined him found he had broken a leg in two piaces below his knee and broke the knee cap. #### Aphion Vocal Society.

PACKERTON, Jan. 2, 1818. New Year's evening the Aphion Vocal Society, of this pince, met be invitation of Mr. Jas. Martin at his residence, for the purpose of surpristog his daughter, Mr. Lizzie Martin, and having a good time in general. The Apinon was organized some three weeks ago, under the leadership of Prof. Davis, practised diligently twice a week and in the very short time have learned, as was evinced on is ew Year's evening, an almost incredible number of pions, and sang them with great accuracy and taste. They met at the house of Mr. Gould and proceeded in a body to their destination, gathered at the door and struck up the chorus, "Joy, Joy, Freedom body to their destination, gathered at the door and struck up the chorus, "Joy, Joy, Freedem To asy," from Baile's "Boheminn Gri," which they rendered in splendid style, producing a magnificent effect in the open air. After this, having been invited inside by the completely surprised young hady, they passed the earlier part of the evening in singary variets of their choice selections—such and soles, interspersed with matrumental music by some of the members of the society. Then they passed off to the dining-room and opened up a splendid repast with the toast, "Here's a flenth to All Good Lasses," sump by the society, who after, wards enjoyes themselves generally, singing a number of serious and cossin pisces. One of the most interasting features of the evening was the singing of "Jahrny Schmoke," by the male members of the society, led by that well-known foome gentleman. Mr. Thomas R. Raiteiff, who implied his baton—the broom—with most languable skill, and sounded the pitch with a fork about three feet long. The merriment was kept up until eleven o'clock, and the party separated with refluctance in order to get home before 12 so as not to desecrate the Sabbath. On the whole the affirm was most pleasant, and the slinging did great credit to both the members of the society and the leaster, a young music teach or residing here who has shown great ability in his favorite purasit. The society tenes them thanks to Mr. Holenbach, tenor, of Catas, and J. Bohn, of Packerton.

Marching out of Egypt.

In a colored church in Augusta, Georgia, a novel ceremony, called "Marching out of Egypt," has been in-troduced. The worshippers meet at about nine o'clock at night, and, amid solemn chauting, march around in a circle hour after hour. Those who hold out at this treadmill sort of performance until daybreak are considered the chosen ones, and destined for heaven while those who fall by the wayside from weakness of the flesh, if not the spirits, are not in a state of grace. A gentleman living in the city was surprised one morning at perceiving that although it was seven o'clock, no preparations for breakfast, and the cook was not visible. Imagining all sort of things, that Dina was defunct, or had fied to other regions, he opened her room door, and found her lying asleep, "like some marble (black) statue seen in Europe." After much shouting he succeeded in rousing her, and asked her what she meant by sleeping so late. Whereupon she replied that she had been "Marching out of Egypt," and explained the ceremony as above related. She was one of the elect,
