Alphabetic Advice.

A. Always attend to your avocation, avoid ale-houses and artful women.

B. Be benevolent but not prodigal, bury all bickerings in the bosom of forgetfulness.

C. Contrive to collect cash and keep it.

D. Do your duty and defy the devil.

E. Early endeavor to eradicate every error, both of head and heart.

F. Fight fairly when you fight; but the better way is not to fight at all. Fiddle for no fools.

G. Grace, goodness, gumption and a little goose grease, enables a man to slip through the world mighty easily. Get them and glory in them.

H. Harbor hope in your heart if you would be happy; but hark ye, hope can't render rotten the rope of the hangman.

I. Inquisitiveness is insufferable; indulge not in it.

J. Juleps may be called the juice of joy and the yeast of jest; but let them alone, too much joking often destroys the joviality of the social circle.

K. Kindness kindles the fire of friendship. A kiss avails more than a kick.

L. Love the ladies, look before you leap, eschew loaferism.

M. Make not mischief by meddling with other folk's business.

N. Never be caught napping except in the night time.

O. Order is Heaven's best law, obey it.

P. Pursue the plain path of probity and put in practice what you will give in precept.

Q. Quarrel not, quibble not, be not fond of asking questions, or addicted to queries.

R. Rum ruins respectability, renounce, renew and renovate.

S. Seek salvation, oh, ye sinners? become saints and you are safe.

T. Take time by the forelock; try to turn every moment to account.

U. Union unites to unity; in the whole universe there is unison, be you therefore united for the sake of unison.

V. Vanity has no connection with valor, remember that.

W. Women and wine bring want and woe and wretchedness, when wickedly indulged in.

X. 'Xtra 'xertions accomplish 'xtraordinary ends.

Y. Yield to no tyrant; yeomen and their yoke-fellows are lords of the soil.

Z. Zig-zagging is characteristic of a zany; take a straight course through life and pursue it.

&. & mind your own business, & let others alone, &c.

Courage and Fears of Death.

The Chinese of the southern deltas, who have little courage, though the Chinese of the north and west have plenty, will die for a bribe to save a richer criminal from the sentence he has earned. The Bengalee, who alone among mankind says calmly "Arme theroo." "I am timid," as it cowardice were a matter of moral and social indifference, or rather creditable than otherwise, goes to execution, as Macaulay noticed, like a hero, and will encounter an inevitable and agonizing death without the flutter of the pulse. His nerve is as great as Wainwright's, who died without a perceptible change in the steadiness of his heart-beats, but who—unlike the Bengalee—with an object before him would probably have rushed upon the cannon. The Malay, who cannot be induced or compelled to face rockets, dies as tranquilly as Casabianca; and the Cingalese of the coast, who will fight nobody, meets death without a murmur or a pang.

An English sailor of the old type, who would face anything earthly except a black cat, has probably twice as much fear of death as the cultivated woman who can endure death by a deadly operation resignedly, yet faint in the presence of any noisy danger. The wild romancer Gustave Aimard states as a fact within his knowledge, that a Spanish officer shot himself rather than cross a rope suspension bridge; and, we must not give the names. An English ensign, just joined before the first Sike campaign, went to his commanding officer, a relative, and told him that he could not face the shot that he should disgrace himself and must resign. His relative comforted him kindly, told him he was only nervous, and thought he had soothed his fear; but the la , as he stepped out of the tent, shot himself through the brain, inviting death rather than meet a call upon his courage.—London Spectator.

One Man's Meat Another Man's Poison.

We can well remember when—we had been carefully so educated—we supposed it to be near to the topmost height of human wickedness to learn to dance, and to go to a ball; when we wondered why the lightening did not strike the theatres, and when we should as soon have dared to hold in our hands a puff adder as a playing card—thank the Lord we don't know the name of one of the greasy things from another, even to this day; and when we should as soon have expected to find a Kohinoor diamond in the ash barrel as a real Christian who played any of these sinful games, or went to the opera, or drank a glass of wine.

It would have been as unlikely, if our search had ended with those who had been educated as we had ourselves; for for one so educated to have done these things would have been to work violence to the existing conscience, which must necessarily be a grevious sin. But as our eyes looked out more widely over the world, we saw that rockets soar according to the slant in which they lean before they are fired; saw that others, who had been educated differently, danced with as good a conscience as we walked; listened to the music of "Moses in Egypt," or even to that of "Narma," and went away to self-denying work for Christ which rebuked our unwillingness.—Congregationalist.

A Buffalo man dreamed that he was going over the Falls, and he had his wife by the throat when he woke up. Next night she had a dream, and broke his nose as she struck at an Indian.

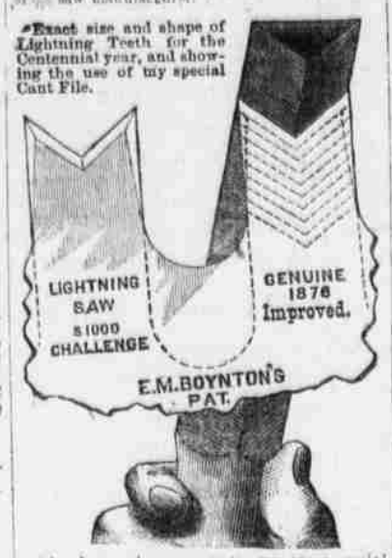
$1,000 CHALLENGE!

Patent Lightning Saws.

That the "Genuine 1876" excels all others in speed, ease and simplicity, and will do more work, do it and stay out, than any other saw in the world, and I will back it against any saw in the saw manufacture.



Exact size and shape of Lightning Teeth for the Centennial year, and showing the use of my special Cant File.

The above cut represents the use of my special files, made to fit the shape of the tooth, dressing both sides at a single blow, making the saw the simplest, and cheapest to file in the world. The sharpening of the teeth the thickness of a piece of paper, which is all any single tooth can strike, leaves but little dressing necessary. For the unfilled sides of the outside of M, the third surface of the file is all that will be needed. They are made 24 cut of hi-best quality. By the use of this file all filing to set, removed, and cost of filing Lightning Cross cut saws at the factory is two cents per foot; hand saws, four cents each. The cost of the 10 inch for cross cuts is 50 cents each; five inch for hand saws, half price. A large stock kept constantly at my store, 80 Beekman Street, New York.

I will furnish my latest improved 1876 pattern Cross-cuts, at 70 cts. per foot, and the one man saws at same price for Cash in advance, where the Hardware Dealers do not sell the genuine latest improved Lightning Saws. Agents Wanted—special inducements. Will send C. O. D. if express charges are enclosed.

Buck Saw Blades, sent by mail Postage Paid at 75 cts. each.

The attention of the trade is especially invited to the vindication of my patent Saws as shown by the published Decree, Injunction and Costs of U. S. Court, of September 2d, 1875. In the meantime the other varieties of Clearing Teeth Saws have been overthrown and pronounced invalid. My patent M Teeth alone stand as the only vindicated Patent for Cross Cut and Buck Saw Teeth. I shall proceed at my leisure to make it interesting to infringers, having retained excellent counsel. ☞My advice to the trade is to cease selling counterfeits of my goods. I will make any of these imitation goods at prices as low as they can be made of good material and workmanship, while I will furnish the genuine Patent Lightning Saw, so that it can be retailed at 70 cts. per foot, by the dozen.

Special terms made with the jobbers and agents for quantity.

EDWARD PLOTTS' STAR PARLOR ORGAN

Surpasses in Tone and Power any Reed Organ heretofore manufactured in this country. It has been tested by many competent judges and

GIVES UNIVERSAL SATISFACTION.

By a skillful use of the Stops, and of the Patent Knee Swell, the Music is adapted to the human voice, ranging from the softest, flute-like note to a volume of sound.

Unsurpassed by any Instrument.

The proprietor has noted carefully for many years the imperfections and needs of the Reed Instruments, and directed his present experience to the correction of such imperfections, and his experiments have resulted in the production of a quality of Tone which satisfies as closely to the

Pipe Organ Quality

That it is difficult to distinguish between the two. This instrument has

ALL THE LATEST IMPROVEMENTS.

And every organ is fully warranted. Large Oil Polish, Black Walnut, Paneled cases that

WILL NOT CRACK OR WARP,

And forms in addition to a splendid instrument of music.

A BEAUTIFUL PIECE OF FURNITURE.

This organ needs only to be seen to be appreciated and is sold at EXTREMELY

LOW PRICES

For cash. Second hand instruments taken in exchange.

AGENTS WANTED.
