-On Monday the widow of Ezekiel Harlan, received from the Grand Lodge of Knights of Honor, the sum of two thousand dollars, the amount for which her husband was insured. Mr. Harlan was a member of Onoko Lodge of this place.

-An arbitration was held at the Broadway House on Tuesday, in which a Mr. Boyer, of Catasauqua, was plaintiff, and Mr. Adam Christman, of Penn Forrest, was defendant. Last spring Mr. C. ordered three hundred bushels of lime from Boyer. When the lime arrived at the depot, Mr. C. immediately hauted it on his farm, which took about one week. Several days after Mr. C. hauled a large quantity of water to the lime pile and endeavored to slack it, but like the horse be could'ut make it drink. He then put some lumps of lime it, a bucket and poured hot water on, but it would'nt slack either. The lime lay exposed to the rains and weather but nothing would bring it to a pulverized condition. Mr. C. then wiete Mr. B. that he could'nt use the lime, and ordered some of his hands to haul it to the woods, which was donewhere it has lain ever since. sequence was a little law suit before one of your Justices, and an award in favor of plaintiff. The defendant appealed to court, and soon after entered rule to arbitrate, when the case came up for a hearing again on Wednesday. Before the Justice, Christman offered to settle for one half and call it square, but the plaintiff wanted every cent or nothing, which latter they generally get. On Wednesday, however, the defendant did nt offer one half, but claimed damages to the amount of about thirty dollars for hauling the lime from the depot, he having contracted to pur-chase good lime instead of stones. The lime was exhibited in large lumps, having been exposed for nearly a year and it was proven conclusively that it would'nt slack. The case occupied the whole day and was conducted for the plaintiff by Rapsher and Giace, Esqs., and by Albright and Freyman, Esqs., for the defense. At the conclusion of the argument the arbitrators took the matter in hand and after a short deliberation decided in favor of the defendant. -It was only last week that Dr. De-

Explosion of Fire Damp. There was a series of tremendons explosions at the Prospect shaft, three miles from Wilkesbarre, on Monday might. The miles was flooded veral weeks ago, to put out a fire, and the water was being pumped out when the second disaster occurred. A spark from the watchman's lamp fell down the shaft, and a terrifle explo sion immediately followed, which blew to meess the timbers around the top. Jacob Giatz, the watchman, and Charles Nolan, the boss, were seriously burned. As fast as the accumulated gas rose to the mouth of the shaft, another explosion would follow. The explosions lasted for three hours, one occurring every fifteen minutes: and some of them shook the ground like an earthquake, while the flashes ighted up the country for miles.

Closing out Fall and Winter Stock.

Daniel Graver, of the Bee Hive store, next door to the First National Bank, announces to his customers and the public in general, that he has disposed of his entire stock of boots and shoes. and has marked down the price of his present stock of fall and winter dress goods and notions, so as to close out and make room for an immense stock of spring and summer goods, thus offering bargains seldom to be met with in this section. In this connection he would also call especial attention to his large stock of groceries, provisions, queensware, oil cloths, earpets, etc., of the choicest quality, which he is selling at the lowest prices. Remember, the Bee Hive Store is the place where you can secure bargains and now is the

The Coal Trade.

The most noticeable feature in the anthracite cold trade the past week is an agreement among the na-ociated producins and earr ing com-panies to extent the time of the coal suspen sion in the producing regions from the time first fixed upon, the 10th inst, to the 20th inst,, and to limit the contract amount of coal to not less than five thousand tons to individuals and to ten thousand tons to companies. There was some dissatisfaction as to the unlimited unta in this matter as originally sunoun ed, hence the change at the last meeting of the acceptated companies as above stated. With a reorganization of the Schuylkill Coal Exchange of Phila, effected within the past week, the artrade is supposed to be satisfacturily adjusted for the secson. As to the coal trade directly, it continues without any general interest. The for domestic uses, and production in all the sev eral anthracite coal regions is nearly or quite at a standstill, some of the larger carrying and producing companies have made to report of tonnage for the past two weeks.-I.edger, 6th.
