The assertions of counsel as to this prisoner having been backed by a powerful opinion, it was not in the trial of this case, and such assertion had a tendency to render the verdict which they delivered.

The second, the verdict is against the evidence. Third, the assertions of counsel as to this prisoner having been backed by a powerful opinion, it was not in the trial of this case, and such assertion had a tendency to render the verdict which they delivered.

This ended the second trial of the case conducted in the courts of carbon county, and we hope it has forever shattered and terrified the "blacklist" in this and other regions.

The Kelly Trial.

The examination of witnesses in the Kelly murder case was concluded on Monday afternoon about 4 o'clock.

The counsel for defense cross-examined but few of the witnesses. The evidence given by the witnesses proved the soundness of the alarm when Jones was shot; the pursuit by the miners, who dropped their tools in the mines when they heard of the killing; the tracking of the prisoner and Doyle and Kerrigan to the spring; their arrest and lodgment in jail; the finding of the pistols; the fatal identification by nearly every witness; the fact that the ball found in Jones' body fitted one of the pistols, and much more, which was published in the ADVOCATE when Doyle was tried.

The Court adjourned at the conclusion of the testimony until Tuesday morning at 9 o'clock, at which time Hon. Allen Craig opened the argument on behalf of the prosecution in a speech on behalf of three hours duration.

Mr. Kaibitz in his address to the jury during the first trial of the case on Wednesday morning, March 25th, and closed Thursday afternoon, April 6th, 1876. It took two days to get a jury, three days to examine the witnesses, two days to deliver the speeches, and of the last day one hour and a half to charge the jury and for the jury to make up its verdict, coming into court at 12 1/2 P. M.

The court stopping for a verdict, when they returned to the court, the judge asked the jury whether they agreed upon a verdict, when they replied "Yes." The prisoner's counsel asked that they be polled, which was allowed by the Court. Each juror answered separately, and the verdict was "Guilty." The jury was thereupon discharged.

Mr. Kaibitz then asked leave to present the motion for a new trial, which was granted by the court for a new trial.

In the Court of Oyer and Terminer, at the County of Carbon, Pa., on the 27th day of April, 1876. The jury returned a verdict against the law and charge of the Court.

The verdict is against the evidence. Third, the assertions of counsel as to this prisoner having been backed by a powerful opinion, it was not in the trial of this case, and such assertion had a tendency to render the verdict which they delivered.

Jonny Curran, of Tamaqua, a boy only nine years old testified as a witness in the Kelly trial.

One hundred and ten witnesses were called by the Commonwealth in the Kelly case, and not one by the defense.

Prof. Douglass, of Lafayette College, at Easton, preached, both morning and evening, in the Presbyterian church in the absence of Rev. Ferrier.

On Saturday an insurance agent, by the name of Smith, endeavored to leave town without paying his board bill to our host Behler, of the Columbia House.

The wages of the brakemen on the Lehigh Valley Railroad was reduced ten per cent, on Saturday, and the men at Sugar Notch and Fairview struck in consequence. They stopped the freight and coal trains during the morning, but let the passenger trains pass.

Kerrigan's Confession.

Boyle, Duff and McKeenan—now awaiting trial in the jail at Tamaqua—are the men who, on the night of July 24th, at Lehigh, shot and killed James Carroll in a saloon in Lehigh.

OFFICER VOST MUST BE KILLED. Kerrigan, Duff and McKeenan have been arrested and taken to Lehigh. They are now awaiting trial in the jail at Tamaqua.

I knew J. P. Jones; I know all about his death. He was shot by Kelly before he went to work. He was shot by Kelly before he went to work.

THE JURY MURDER. Carroll introduced me to the men in his saloon in Lehigh. I was with them after he had consented to go with them. Before leaving the saloon Carroll treated twice.

Carroll walked with us to Friedenberg's Hotel, where he parted with us. He cautioned us to wear it any questions we, and then he went to his room. When he returned he had a pistol in his pocket.

THE ARREST. We pushed right on to Summit Hill, and went into Alexander Campbell's, where Carroll had been shot. We went in with him, and he called me outside and asked me to go with him to the hotel.

WHY JONES WAS MURDERED. The men, McKeenan and Campbell, said that Jones was "blacklisted"—that is, he was reported as one who could not be trusted.

MORE OBJECTIVE VICTIMS. McKeenan said he was "blacklisted" at Jeddo, and that he was shot by Kelly before he went to work.

IN SEARCH OF JONES. In the morning Doyle, Kelly and myself left the saloon in Lehigh, and went to the road by McKean's tavern to the saw mill.

THE DEED WAS TO BE DONE. Campbell allowed they should shoot Jones at his house or in coming from the post office; they then went to the post office.

THE FORT ALLEN FOUNDRY is now in full blast with a full set of moulders.

C. H. McDaniels' barber shop was broken into during Friday night last, and a number of articles were stolen.

Henry Campbell, East Weissport, has just received his spring stock of dress and dry goods, which he is selling as low as the same quality of goods can be bought for elsewhere for cash.

These are not flush times, and patched trousers, and torned garments, are the really consistent and natural result. Economical, home-made dresses are now the rule rather than the exception.

Laury & Peters, the merchant tailors, call the attention of their customers and the public in general, to the fact that they have recently purchased the right for Lehigh and Weissport to make up the patent rubber bottoms for pantaloons, one of the best arrangements for keeping the bottoms of the pants in proper shape ever introduced.

When Doyle saw Carroll he said, "By G—d they are after us; and then set out to run; the arrest followed immediately, I think Carroll started out to get to the jail at 10 1/2 P. M. and make his confession."

SOME YEARS AGO ALEXANDER CAMPBELL kept the saloon that is now kept by James Carroll in Tamaqua; in that town, when Campbell kept it, I first joined a society known as the Ancient Order of Hibernians, that is the Order of "Molly Maguires," and nothing else. I was introduced into it by a man named Alexander, and a man named John Kelly, and a man named James Carroll.

I was not what you strictly call sworn when I joined the Ancient Order of Hibernians; I was not sworn until after I had been in the society for some time. I was not sworn until after I had been in the society for some time.
