until they find a shallow place w they can see the fish, and shout : "Oh I I see one." "Where ?"

" There."

" Oh i my, so he is." " Let's catch him."

"Who's got them baits ?"

" You lazy thing, you're sliting on my pole." "Show me the wretch that stole my worm." All these exclamations are gotten off in a tone that awakens every echo within a mile around, and sends every fish within three acres square into gallop-ing hysterics. Then the girls by super-2,196 40 human exertions manage to get a worm on the hook, and " throw in" with a splash like the launching of a wash tub, and await the result. When a silverfin comes along and nipples the bait they pull up with a jerk, that, had an unfortunate fish weighing less than fifteen pounds been on the hook, would have landed it in the neighborhood of three or four miles in the country. Af-ter a while a feeble-minded sun-fish contrives to get fastened on the hook of a timid woman, and she gives vent to her tongue :

"Oh ! something's got my hook !" "Pull up, you little idiot !" shouted five excited voices, as poles and hooks are dropped and they rush to the res-cue. The girl with the bite gives a spasmodic jerk, which sends the unfor-tunate sunny into the air the full length of forty feet of line, and he comes down on the nearest curly head with a damp flop, that sets the girl to clawing as though there were bumblebees in her the nasty thing !'

Then they hold up their skirts and gather about that fish as it skips over the logs, one all the time holding the line in both hands with her foot on the pole as though she had an evil-disposed goat at the other end. They talk over it. " How ever will he get off ?"

- " Ain't it pretty ?" "Wonder if it ain't dry ?"

"Poor little thing; let's put it back." "How will we get the hoo't from it ?" " Pick it up," says a girl who backs

"Good gracious, I'm afraid of it. "Loss then the sunny wriggles off the hook and disappears between two logs into the water, and the girls try for auother b.te. But the sun comes down and fries the and shirt buttons all right. If I possess and shift builtons all right. If I possess a predominant virtue it is that of for-giving every energy whom I deem it hazardous to handle. Money is no ob-ject, as I never was troubled with any and never aspect to be I should like There's generally about six of them and never expect to be. I should like some lady who is perfectly able to support a husband, or if she could intro-duce me to some family where religi-ous example would be sufficient com-pensation for board, it would do just as well .- New York Graphic.

An Essex farmer is obliged to chalk his nose every time he takes a walk round the farm, to save himself from an old bull which has a strong antipathy to red.

" Harry give me a bite of your apple," said one little fellow to another. "No," refused Harry, eating away rapidly. "You wouldn't like this; it is a cooking apple—and I never give a fellow a bite of a cooking apple."

William : " Morning, James. I see william : "Atorning, sames. I see your gais ha' got a new gov'ness; what sort of a pusson is she?" James : "Weil, hi can't 'zactly sny, as hi don't 'ave much to do with 'er class, but hour ladies down stairs don't think much of

A colored preacher, in translating to his bearers the sentence, "The harvest is past, the summer is over, and we are not saved," put it, " De corn has been cribbed, dere ain't any more work, and de debbil is still foolin' wid dis community."

A scotch minister recently told his neighbor that he spoke two hours and a half the Sunday previous. "Why, minister, were you not tired to death?" asked the neighbor. "Aw, nae," said he, "I was as fresh as a rose; but it would have done your heart good to see how tired the congregation was." how tired the congregation was."

Lady: "Now, Mr. Snapper, as I saw you at church last Sunday, tell me what you think of our new preacher?" Snapper; "I think he would be a firstclass martyr at the stake." Lady : "Why so, Mr. Snapper ?" Snapper ; Because he is so very dry."

A young clergyman, whose reputation for veracity was none of the best, ventured to differ with an old Doctor of Divinity as to the propriety of whipping children. "Why," said he, the only time my father whipped me was for tell-ing the truth." "Well," retorted the doctor, "It cured you of it, did'nt it ?"

A practical joke was once attempted to be played on Mr. Erskins, as he went one day to Westminister Hall, with his ample bag crammed full of with his ample bag crammer that a briefs. Some waggish barristor hired a boy to go and ask him if he had "any boy to go and ask him if he had "any old clo's to sell ?" "No you little imp," exclaimed the indignant counsellor, " they are all new suits."

If any unwary chub dare show himself in the water they poke at him with poles, much to his disgust. Finally, they get mad all over and throw their poles away, hunt up the lunch basket, climb up into the woods, where they sit around ou the grass and caterpillars, and eat enough of dried beef and rusk and hard boiledeggs to give a wood horse the night-mare ; after which they compare notes about their beaux until sundown, when they go home and plant envy in the hearts of all their muslin de laine friends by telling what " just a splen-did time" they had.

confident hope of a better life." Horace Walpole said this was the worst-that is the best-bull he ever read : " I hate that woman," said a gentleman, looking at a person who had been his nurse-"I hate her; for when I was a child she changed me at nurse." This was indeed a perplexing assertion ; but we have a similar instance recorded in the autobiography of an Irishman, who gravely informs us that he "ran away early in life from his tather, on discovering he was only his uncle."

Stammering, says Coleridge, is some-times the cause of a pun. Some one was mentioning in Lamb's presence the cold-heartedness of the Duke of Cum-berland in preventing the Juchess from rushing up to the embrace of her son, whom she had not seen for a consider able time; and insisted on her receiving him in state. "How horrible cold it was," said the narrator. "Yes," said Lamb, in his stuttering way, " but you know he is the Duke of Cu-cum-berland '

A few evenings ago a young lady abruptly turned the corner of a street in Sheffield, and very rudely ran against a small boy, ragged and shoeless. Stop-ping as soon as she could, she turned to him, and said : "I beg your pardon; indeed, I am very sorry." The small, ragged boy looked up in blank amazement for an instance ; ther, taking off three-fourths of a cap, he bowed very low, smiled until his face became lost in a smile, and answered : "Yer can hev my parding an' welcome, miss ; and yer may run again me an' knock me clean down, an' I won't say a word." After the young lady passed on he tarned to a comrade, and said, haif apologetically : "I never had any one ask my parding, an' it kind o' took me off my feet."

An obliging Mississippi Judge recent-ly adjourned court for fifteen minutes to get time to go out and purmies an offending lawyer, who had rudely made application for a ulce-eye.
