We would call the attention of the people to the fact, that we have made arrangements with the National Art Co., of Cincinnati, Ohio, to furnish our subscribers with a number of choice engravings, as premiums to subscribers to the CARBON ADVOCATE, at the nominal price of 25 cents each, 5 for a dollar, or the series of nine for $1.75, this places in the reach of the people a good new local paper and a very handsome lot of engravings (9) for $2.75. Call at our office and see samples of the engravings Agents wanted in all the townships to canvass, to whom a liberal commission will be allowed. To the first lady who will procure for us 125 subscribers to the ADVOCATE at $1.00 each, paying us cash, we will present a nearly new $25 Wheeler and Wilson Sewing Machine, in first class working order. Who takes this valuable prize?

The mountains are now arrayed in beautiful colors.

The mountain disease is very bad in some parts of the county.

For bargains in water proofs call at Dan Graver's Bee Hive Store.

The present fashion is shake hands and "smile." Nice, don't it?

A full line of carpets and oil cloths at the Bee Hive Store.

Read Laury & Peters' new advertisement on our first page. They will "get" you.

Buckwheat cakes and sausages are now in order—if you have the wherewithal to get them.

A fire is a handy thing to sit by these cold mornings and evenings, and is a protector against theague.

Potatoes have been selling during the past week in our borough at $1.25 per bushel. Entirely too much.

An immense arrival of fall and winter styles of ladies' dress goods at the Bee Hive Store, next to the 1st National Bank.

Mr. Jacob Hantzinger has been released from jail at Pottsville, his sons becoming his bondsmen in the sum of $200.000.

Samuel Kearney, of Franklin township, will sell his farming stock and implements at public sale on Thursday, November 24. Persons desiring to purchase anything in the line will note the date. See bills printed at this office.

J. K. Rickett has still a few of those eligible lots in Ricketts town to dispose of. If you feel like securing a good home call and see him. He is also supplying flour, feed, lumber and coal at the lowest rates.

T. D. Clauss, the tailor, has thrown a new sign to the breeze. It is very neat and attracts much attention.

Scarlet fever is prevalent in our borough. Several children have already died from it, and more are down with it.

Now our people are looking for the sauer kraut plant. $5.00 per hundred is what they ask for them on our streets.

Our friend Jos. Lynn, of the Democrat, has decided that he won't be an Associate Judge in Carbon for the present.

Frank Inkmann, of the Centennial saloon, Mauch Chunk, was in town Thursday.

We had the pleasure of grasping our "massive" friend Fincher, of the "Mountain Democrat," by the hand at Monday's convention.

A series of extra meetings will commence in the M. E. Church, tomorrow (Sunday) evening, and continue until further notice.

Lehigh Hook & Ladder Co., at their regular meeting on Monday last, resolved to hold their third annual ball, on Friday evening, Nov. 10th.

Samuel & Steigewalt, of East Penn township, will sell their valuable farm at public sale on Saturday, Oct. 14. See bills printed at this office.

Horses and carriages can be obtained at the popular livery of David Ebbert on North street, on very reasonable terms for pleasure trips or funeral purposes.

One of the defeated candidates at the Democratic Convention, says that that body was composed as follows: 37 Americans, 20 Irishmen, 1 German and 1 Welshman. Ish dot so?

Mr. Fred Schmidt, of Philadelphia, was in town two or three days during the past week, looking after his property and visiting among his friends. We are sorry to note that his health is not good.

Joel Kunkle will run an omnibus from the several depots and hotels in this borough to the Fair Grounds, during the continuance of the Fair, commencing on Tuesday next. Fare each way ten cents.

Next week (fair week), will be an excellent time for our friends to drop in and pay up their subscriptions, and see the beautiful premiums we are offering to new and renewing subscribers for the coming year.

Several of the candidates at Monday's convention are very mad over their defeat. As the attack is not chronic, it is generally thought they will recover in time to deposit ballots for their successful rivals. Yah!

Hon. A. J. Durling, is at Milford, Pike county, attending the meeting of the Congressional Conferees, of which body he is a member. T. D. Clauss, our County Treasurer is also at the same place.

Willie Meyers, a seven year old brother of Mrs. David Kreamer, of this place, on a visit to her home, was taken with scarlet fever on Friday last, and died on Monday. The funeral took place on Thursday afternoon.

On October 19th, at one o'clock p. m., Adam Beckman, of this borough, will sell at public sale, at his manufactory, a large lot of double and single carriages, spring wagons, sleighs, &c. Parties desiring anything in the above line will do well to attend. See bills printed at this office.

A man by the name of John Shull was struck on the Lehigh Valley road just below Allentown, Friday morning of last week, by the engine of the first passenger train running north. He is supposed to have been deaf, and did not hear the train approaching.

County Superintendent R. F. Hofford informs that it is proposed to hold the Teachers' County Institute this year on the Centennial grounds, and that it will probably occur between the 16th and 23d of the present month. Teachers should brush up lively for the occasion.

During a saloon fight at Taylorsville, near Scranton, Wednesday morning, Edward James and Charles Cernen were mortally stabbed by Reese James. Cernen died Thursday. Reese James and his mother, who took part in the fight, have been arrested.

We have been requested by a number of our citizens to call the attention of the proper authorities to the fact, that on Sunday evenings, a crowd of half grown boys assemble on the corner of Bank and Iron streets, and by their loud and indecent remarks, cause much alarm and great disgust to our citizens. Are our borough authorities powerless to abate this nuisance? If so let the people themselves see to it.

Charles Horn, brakeman on the Lehigh Valley railroad, Wyoming division, was killed Friday morning of last week. He was attached to freight train No. 45, which as it neared Gould's siding broke by the parting of the couplings. He was standing on the platform of one of the cars, and as the cars rushed together when the train slackened up, he was thrown on the track and instantly killed. Mr. Horn was an estimable young man about twenty-one years of age and was highly respected.

Tuesday night last, four fellows broke into a clothing store, at White Haven, and stole therefrom a quantity of clothing, hosiery, jewelry, &c. They were captured Wednesday evening at the Carbon siding, about 1 1/2 miles above Penn Junction, and the stolen property found in their possession. They were taken to White Haven on train No. 8, and on Thursday morning train 18 took the "beauties" to Wilkes-Barre.

Letter from Mauch Chunk.

Mauch Chunk, Oct. 5, 1876.

MR. EDITOR.—Although some of the more sanguine among the Democrats regard their ticket with satisfaction, there are others—and by no means a minority—who compare the result of the late Convention with the mountain that "labored and brought forth a mouse." Whether their estimates are well founded, I neither know nor care to inquire, since it is my business to deal with facts only, and if the ticket has its defects, it also has its strong points. I would call it a good average ticket, with a good chance of being elected. That there should be growlers, is natural, since the judgment of most men is guided by self interest; besides, the disappointment of self, or friends, is only too frequently the prompter. To him who has no personal feeling in such matters this may seem strange, but it nevertheless is so. Whether the voters at large appreciate the ticket as placed before them or not, the result of their verdict on the seventh of next month will show, and since we can well afford to wait until then, I shall drop the subject.

Yours, etc.,

ITEMS.

To anticipate all competitors, our young friend P. J. Mehan already announces himself as a candidate for the District Attorneyship, which office is to be voted for in the fall of '77.

Accessions to the Democratic ranks continue to increase at East Mauch Chunk.

A slight change in the running time of some trains, and the discontinuance of others, on the L. & S. Division, will necessitate a consulting of the timetables of that road by the traveling public.

The funeral of the late Chas. Horn, of East Mauch Chunk, was largely attended on Sunday last, when sorrow at the untimely departure of this very excellent young man seemed to be the all-prevailing sentiment of the community. Rev. Young, of the M. E. church of E. Mauch Chunk performed the solemn burial rites of that Church, both at the residence of deceased and at the Upper Mauch Chunk Cemetery.

On Tuesday evening the Hayes and Wheeler Club of East Mauch Chunk turned out, for the first time, fully equipped, the men presenting a very fine appearance as they marched through the streets on their way to Mauch Chunk, where they joined the procession of the first and second Ward clubs of that Borough, and subsequently listening to speakers "orating" at the Court-House.

Patrick McKenna, a well known Irish citizen of Nesquehoning, died last Monday night, aged 54 years.

The recent delegate elections were the most numerously attended gatherings of the kind held here and in the Borough across the river, in the memory of the "oldest inhabitant."

The contest was a sharp one, but terminated without bloodshed, and now, since the late contestants have shaken hands over the "bloody chasma," all is again serene.

The Democratic family of E. Mauch Chunk are said to feel very sore over the defeat of their favorite candidate Chas. Kline, and the latter now declares to be done "mit bollies and bulldozers," and designs to again devote his attention to dealing in "bags." We are glad to notice that Mr. K. bears defeat more cheerfully, than the community, who can scarcely brook the idea of the slight shown the man of their choice.

Among the political gossip now carried on, the nominees for the prothotaryship come in for their full share, of course; and while many can't see why a Felt should have been "foisted" upon the Democratic ticket, they confidently predict that Kemmer will, on election day lay him out "flat as a pancake;" the same class of political astrologers foretell the defeat of "Pap Painter" by Jacob W. Raulenbush, as confidently as if it were already accomplished fact. Hold your horses! I don't be too fast! Remember that "there's many a slip," etc.

Whether in consequence of the disappointment experienced on Monday last, I know not, but am informed that Mr. Chas. Kline has returned to his first love—the Republican party, by participating in Tuesday's Republican procession. Thus we go.

The public schools of East Mauch opened on Monday of this week with a good average attendance. That the disgraceful influence of parents may not again interfere to thwart the efforts of teachers, as it did last winter, is sincerely to be hoped. Should anything of the kind occur, I shall make it my special business to vindicate the matter before your readers.

The Democratic meeting, held in the first Ward Club Room on Monday evening, and which was ably addressed by Dr. Leonard and J. H. Siewers, Esq., was well attended, and much enthusiasm is said to have prevailed. The formation of a Tilden & Hendricks Club is agitated in the Second Ward.

Mr. George Long, the West Broadway green-grocer, feels sore because Sunday's new arrival proved to be a girl, instead of the coveted Centennial boy.

A clarinet and piccolo have lately been added to the musical force of the Phoenix Band.

Nothing is so hid, but what it will come to light at last—and so have Pat Murray's boots, that had been burglariously purloined from him nearly a year and a half ago. And the way this came about is truth, if not stranger, at least as strange as fiction. Your readers will probably remember the account I gave them, last May a year ago, of a burglarious entry, effected one night in that month into Pat Murray's shoe store, and the mysterious disappearance of some thirty odd dollars worth of home-made work. The affair was well forgotten, and would probably have never come to light but for the interference of a mysterious something—call it chance, or fatality, or whatever you please—which put the despised Murray on the track of the thief and burglar. In short, one morning in the forepart of this week, a respectable young man called at Mr. M's store for the purpose of purchasing a pair of gaiters. He wore boots, which, as was at once apparent to the experienced eye of "wax ind," illly fitted him. To try on the gaiters chosen, the young man in question divested himself of one of his boots, in which the victimized shoe maker thought he recognized a mate to a pair stolen from him a year and a half ago; and having slyly substituted one of his own for the one pulled off by the unsuspecting young gentleman, and which the latter, unsuspectingly donned, Murray asked an explanation, and from his customer learnt that it was one of a pair of his brother's (Buckshot's) boots, which, his shoes being worn out, he had borrowed to wear that morning. This explanation, satisfactory to the shoemaker, in so far as his customer was concerned, put him on the track of the real thief, who had always been a customary loiterer in his store, and, at the time of the commission of the burglary, had deigned to look against the thieves. In the course of time Murray obtained a warrant, and when arrested, "Buckshot," owing the corn, offered to settle; but he and the officer being unable to come to terms, he at last gave that functionary the slip for parts unknown.

When last reported, the number of cases gracing the criminal Docket, and noted for trial at the ensuing term, was 37, since which time nine cases have been added, making the grand total 46, to wit:

No. 38—John, vs. Jas. E. Hill—false pretense—Prosecutor, Geo. A. Fry.

No. 39—Com. vs. John Mackintosh—Larceny—Prosecutor, R. S. Wolfe.

No. 40—Com. vs. Michael Fisher—Malicious mischief—Prosecutor, A. W. Leisinger.

No. 41—Com. vs. Patrick Murray and Ed. McGarry—Malicious mischief—Prosecutor, Chas. Kline.

No. 42—Com. vs. John Messer—Larceny—Prosecutor, Harry Breister.

No. 43—Com. vs. Isaac Holtz—Assault and battery—Prosecutor, Harry Breister.

No. 44—Com. vs. J. Wesley Lacro—Larceny—Prosecutors, Henry J. Woodring and John N. Smith.

No. 45—Com. vs. John Leopold—Outrage—Prosecutor, John Hill.

No. 46—Com. vs. J. L. Lehman—Rape—Prosecutors, James S. Sherman.

As in all likelihood one of the murler cases will claim the undivided attention of the Court during the coming session, we presume that this unusual accumulation of criminal business will necessitate the holding of an adjourned session for the trial of these cases.

Fatal Shooting.

Wm. W. a son of Lyman D. McDaniel, of this borough, on Wednesday forenoon, was ascending a ladder in the Cort Allen Foundry, at Westport, with a revolver in the breast pocket of his coat, muzzle upwards, when by some means the pistol was discharged, the ball passing through the lappet of the coat and entering his face below the cheek bone, passing upwards and backwards, it penetrated the center of the brain, causing instant death. Dr. N. B. Reber was immediately on the ground, but was unable to reach it with his instruments. The above being the Dr's. testimony before the jury of inquest. The community deeply sympathize with the parents in their sudden bereavement. This should prove a warning to our young men to give up the prevalent custom of carrying revolvers about their persons. In a community like ours it is entirely unnecessary and should be strictly forbidden by parents.

The funeral will take place from his parents residence, No. 9 Company's Row, to-morrow (Sunday) afternoon at 1:30 o'clock. Friends and relatives are invited to attend. Deceased was aged 19 years, 2 months and 9 days.

Fall and Winter Styles.

T. D. Clauss announces to his friends that he has just returned from the city, and is now opening his fall and winter goods, comprising cloths, cassimeres and vestings of the latest designs, and the best manufacture, which he is prepared to make up in the most fashionable and durable manner, at prices fully as low as the same material and workmanship can be obtained for in any other town in the State. Also, a full line of gent's furnishing goods, hats, caps, boots, shoes and gaiters suitable for the wear of this section, and manufactured expressly to his order. The entire stock has been purchased on an entirely cash basis, and as he is selling for cash only he is able to sell at such prices as will astonish purchasers. Call and examine goods and prices before purchasing elsewhere.

Dry Goods.

Some activity has manifested itself in this branch of business during the past week. Most of our dealers last week opened their fall and winter stocks. We looked in at J. T. Nusbaum & Son's and found a great variety of very elegant goods. Dan. Graver displayed his usual taste in fall offerings; the crowd at Snyder's was quite flattering, and the inspection of his stock, if we judge by the amount of the purchases, must have been entirely satisfactory, and Tighman Arner is offering inducements in this line which are well worth the consideration of our people. Read their advertisements in to day's paper.

Republican Meeting at Weatherly.

A correspondent writing from Weatherly relative to the Republican meeting held in that lively little borough on Tuesday evening last, says:

The meeting was a success. Your townsman, W. M. Rauscher, Esq., one of the republican candidates for Assembly addressed the meeting. His arguments were concise, clear, and were well taken by both political parties. Many of the opposing parties have expressed their intention of voting for the republican ticket, and the time has come when the "Intelligent" voter will cast his ballot for the man that is best fitted for the office. The gathering on the occasion was large and well attended.

Carbon County Fair.

Before our next issue our County Fair will have opened, been in full blast and passed. Tuesday next is the opening day, and Friday the closing.

The products of our farmers will then again be exhibited to the public, and, as our crops have been heavy this year, the display, no doubt will be large and fine. The officers of the Society seem to be sparing no exertions to make this Fair a grand success. The premiums have been increased in nearly all the departments, and the grounds and buildings put in a condition to make all visitors comfortable. Every provision has been made for exhibitors, for the accommodation of their stock, machinery, products, goods, etc. The show of animals, including the stable and poultry yard, will be, as usual, very attractive. The attractions of the race course, for the trial of our own stock, to properly emulate in the production and improvement of first-class horses, will be fine this year. Our county has gentlemen of taste, who have good horses. Fair week is the proper time to exhibit the stock; it attracts much attention, and the excitement of the race, fairly and legitimately conducted, is harmless, and to our male and female population full of interest. So far as can be learned, it appears to be the determination of the citizens of the county generally to render the display such an one as shall be in every way worthy of our agricultural and manufacturing interests. The past season having been so well adapted to the growing of fruits, etc., the horticultural display will be exceedingly fine, promising to surpass all efforts of previous years. Let all who can bring the products of their skill, both in agricultural and mechanical pursuits, and come themselves with their families to see the sights. Such relaxation from daily toil is both pleasant and healthful, and cannot fail to benefit them in every respect. In short, let all do something to render the Fair of the present Centennial year yet more creditable to our county than that which has preceded it.

On Thursday a grand parade of firemen will take place, comprising the departments of this and other towns, headed by bands of music, which it is expected will far eclipse any former demonstration of firemen in this section before witnessed. Come with your wife, sweetheart, family and friends.

Morgan Powell Murder.

The Shenandoah Herald of last Friday, furnishes the following testimony of Charles Mulherrin, as given at the habeas corpus hearing of Fisher and McKenna, at Pottsville on Thursday of last week:

Charles Mulherrin, who pleaded guilty of having been engaged in a conspiracy to murder the Major, was the first witness placed upon the stand at the hearing given Fisher and McKenna, and his story given in a condensed shape is somewhat as follows: Mulherrin said that he did not remember the date upon which Morgan Powell was murdered, but as we before mentioned in the Herald that the murder was committed upon the 21st of December, 1874, our readers will no doubt excuse his memory for being rather shaky upon that point. The witness then went on to say that on a dreary afternoon Jack and Mat. Donohue came to him while he was at Matey's saloon in Tanamag, and that Jack asked him to go to Summit Hill with them for a bottle of medicine that he (Jack) wanted for his sister-in-law. Mulherrin went to Summit Hill with them and there met Tom Fisher and "Big" Pat. McKenna. The five men strolled about for a while and then rambling down a street the name of which Mulherrin didn't know as it was his first visit to the place, and after wandering about for some time Jack Donohue remarked that he would go into Dr. Donohue's to get his medicine. Whether or not it was to the doctor's he went Mulherrin pleads innocent, but that "Yellow Jack" did enter some house the witness was certain, and he was also positive that Donohue said after he came out that "the doctor wasn't in."

They then walked up the street again and Fisher said that Morgan Powell was in his office and that he was not alone. The office referred to must have been Williams's store, for Mulherrin said that after Fisher had looked in the window they stepped back into the shadow and that in a few minutes Powell came out, when McKenna and Donohue made toward him. Witness heard a cap snap and then a shot; saw Powell fall and heard him cry out, "I'm shot," when they all ran, three in one direction and two in another. Mulherrin and the two Donohues made their way back to Tanamag safely, and in a few days Tom Fisher came to Matey's saloon and gave Jack Donohue thirty dollars, telling him to divide it with his brother Mat, and advising him to give Mulherrin a few dollars. Fisher also said that he had done his best to raise a hundred dollars, but the times were hard and more than thirty dollars he couldn't scrape. This is about the gist of Mulherrin's testimony, and it certainly places "Yellow Jack" in an unfavorable position, but the last straw that breaks the camel's back in his case was laid upon his ugly carcass by John J. Slattery, who testified that John Donohue told him that he "fired the shot that killed Morgan Powell." More astounding particulars than the above are yet to be made in this case, and before the 15th of October, when the case is expected to be called, there will be others, beside Jack and Mat. Donohue, Charles Mulherrin, Tom Fisher, Pat. McKenna, John Malloy and John Slattery, deeply interested in it.

Hayes & Wheeler Meeting.

A large and enthusiastic Hayes and Wheeler meeting was held in the hall of the School House, on Thursday evening at 8:45 p. m., and W. M. Rauscher, Esq., was elected President, J. K. Rickett, of Weissport, and Wm. Lilly, of Mauch Chunk, Vice-Presidents, and W. E.

Smith, of Lehighton, Secretary. W. W. Brown, of Erie, Pa., was the first to address the meeting. He spoke logically and eloquently for about 50 minutes reviewing the history of the Republican and Democratic Administration, financially and politically. Mr. Beriolette, of Mauch Chunk, spoke of the character of the candidates for office in this county. The closing speech was made by Mr. Jackson, of Mercer county, Pa. He was the orator of the evening, but owing to the lateness of the hour, necessarily made a short speech. The meeting adjourned at 10:30 o'clock. The audience was about 350 persons, of whom 200 had participated in the parade before the meeting.—140 from Mauch Chunk and 60 from Lehighton, with torches and a band of music. The affair was a success.

The Coal Trade.

Two large auction sales of coal at New York the past week have a little unsettled the general market for that commodity, but the result of it all was an average higher price. The first sale of 10,000 tons, on Wednesday, by the Delaware Lehigh and Western Railroad Company, raised the price of the best quality of the Lehigh coal to $1.00 per ton, the highest price that has been known since the late war. The Delaware Lehigh and Western Railroad Company raised the price of its coal to $1.00 per ton, the highest price that has been known since the late war. The Delaware Lehigh and Western Railroad Company raised the price of its coal to $1.00 per ton, the highest price that has been known since the late war.

The following table shows the quantity of coal shipped over the Lehigh Valley Railroad for the week ending Sept. 28, 1876, and for the year compared with the same time last year:
