HUMOROUS.

The man who had a project on foot went to a corn doctor. "Can a politician be honest?" — Ex. Can a potato wink? St. Louis man ran six blocks after his nose, thinking he was going to a fire. — When a printer can't find a cap A, why ought he use B? Because it is the next thing to it. — A youth who appears to be on the right track—Prince Oscar. — The happiest paper in the United States is an Indianapolis daily. It has but one "want."

HUMOROUS.

The Boston Post wants to know what sort of an animal the father of a mule is. Look in the mirror and see. — If your furs ever get worn down short, whip them with forty rods, for forty rods is said to make a fur-ting. — A young man admiring the delicate fabrics for collars in a milliner's store, wished he was Emperor of all the tuches. — Profanity in Texas is against the law, $100 worth each time. They think of enforcing the law for a month and paying the national debt. — A man had a lot of powder exploded in his face the other day at Amsterdam, N. Y. His name is Going, and his eyesight is gone.

HUMOROUS.

An obliging Mississippi judge recently adjourned court for fifteen minutes to get time to go out and pummed an offending lawyer, who had rudely made application for a nice eye. — Dr. Vander Weide says a first-rate article of jelly can be made from old boots. And almost any printing office can furnish enough old boots to make a barrel of that sort of jelly. — Mr. Air is the name of an hotel clerk, and it isn't inappropriate either. — New York Commercial Advertiser. Don't borrow with any more like that, or we may come to "blows."

HUMOROUS.

A Virginian accidentally stumbled and fell. A lady, thinking to commiserate with the mishap, observed that she regretted his unlucky faux-pas. "I didn't hurt my fore-paws," he replied, "it was my knee." — John Thomas—"Now, then, be hooff; we can't ave that noise 'ere." Indignant Musician—"Noise! Yas, 'ezoy yer guv'ner's gone to the Dubby, you give yerself hairs, an' wants to set lup for a cricket of music?"

HUMOROUS.

August Laebel advertises in the Chicago Staats Zeitung his matrimonial experience. A widow asked him to marry her, and offered $2,000 as an inducement. He hesitated, and then she gave him all her property. The honeymoon was not over before she became disagreeable. Says he: "She has insulted me in all things, and charges me with having a weak memory, and God knows what else. An old woman like her ought to be glad to have a husband like me, who has all his military papers. At first it was always, 'I have the honor to present to you my husband here. And all the people were surprised that so old a person could get such a respectable husband.' He has separated from her, and to warn other men is the avowed object of his card, which closes as follows: 'I learned, un fortunately after my marriage, that she tormented and beat her first husband to death. He was a weak man. She cannot thrash me. Finally, she was telling me that I should buy poison—only for the rats, of course. But I was very careful not to do it.'"

HUMOROUS.

William Crafts, the once-famous colored man, who for years past has collected money from people of the North ostensibly for the benefit of a farm school for colored people in Georgia, is declared by respectable white and colored persons in Georgia to be a fraud. They assert that he and his family live on the money, and that not one cent goes to charity.

HUMOROUS.

At a small party in Boston the host, having as a guest a genial New Yorker, and wishing that he should have a good impression of Boston's brains, introduced him to Mr. H—, a gentleman of repute in literary circles and an admirable conversationalist. After a while, encountering his Gotham friend alone again, he said "How do you like Mr. H—, Dick?" "Very much indeed," was the reply, "He is a good fellow, but (sotto voce) those trousers were never made for him."

HUMOROUS.

Another horrible murder has been committed by the natives of New Hebrides. Capt. Anderson of the labor schooner Lucy and Adelaide, and the Government agent, went ashore at the Island of St. Bartholomew in the ship's boat, and on reaching the village were attacked by the natives. Capt. Anderson was killed, but the agent succeeded in escaping to a neighboring village, which was, fortunately, at enmity with the natives who attacked them. He was well treated, and conveyed in the ship's boat, to which the Captain's body was brought down by the murderers, who gave it up on being liberally supplied with hatchets and other utensils.
