in the world." "Let us bring this to an end, Bella," said Caleb, decidediy. "Harriet has made you a most reasonable offer, and if you persist in declining it, we must conclude that you wish us to interfere no further in your affairs. We will give you half an hour to consider," dropping her hands. "And I don't want five minutes," said Beila, firmly. She stood quite erect now, with scattet checks and a defiant light in her large blue eyes. " I won't give up Archie, and you can do as you please.

" Think a moment before you turn your back on the only ones who can help you," said Caleb's warning voice, arresting her.

"God can help me," said Bella,a pa-thetic tremble in her voice. "He gave baby to me, not to anybody else, and He will help me take care of him I'm sure."

She passed from the room without another word. 1.40

" No, ma'am, we cannot give you a cent more. The watch isn't worth it." There was a touch of insolence in the jeweler's tone that called up a faint flush into the pale face regarding him. Bella-for it was she-stood hesitating a moment.

"Well, you may have it on your own terms then, though I'm sure it's worth more." she said, with a sigh. "You're in no danger of being taken advantage of in this store, ma'am, "said Mr. Marble, sharply, as he counted eighty dollars in her hand.

Bella went out of the store, her heart heavy as lead. The day when she and Archie would be turned homeless into the street was put off, but only for a time. " My wedding ring-that will have to go next," thought the poor child, " And then !"

A look of despairing anguish came into her eyes, and she clasped the little hand she held more firmly.

" It would kill me I" she murmured, in a husky voice.

" Do 'lone, mamma, do 'lone !" cried Archie. She released his band, and be trotted on before her. Though scarcely eighteen mouths old, he was so large of his age he seemed like a child of two years. " No, dear, not to-day."

" Buil 1 Bull 1" repeated Archie, im-periously, and his mother yielded, as usual.

Mr. Bull, a little round-faced Englishman, came in smiling from an ad-joining kitchen. He was glad to see the pretty lady, who had come into his store like a beneficient fairy some months ago. Archie, too-his nurse had taken him there once, and from that time the child world not let her pass the door without going in.
