The Burial of the Mollies.

The body of James Carroll, who was hung at Pottsville, on Thursday of last week, was taken to the residence of his father, at Packerton, from which place the funeral took place on Saturday afternoon, the body being buried in the Catholic Gemetery, in East Mauch Chunk. The funeral was very largely attended by the relatives and friends of the family.

The body of McGeghan was taken to Summit Hill, Beyls to Coaldale and Campbell to Lansford. The places are about two miles apait, and were con-stantly visited by crowds during the wakes held after the arrival of the bodies. Two different arrangements were made as to the funerals of these three. At first it was intended that the three funerals should take place Satur-day, but some of Campbell's friends failed to arrive, and the ceremonies were postponed until Sunday. Afterward circumstances made it necessary to bury Boyle and McGeghan Saturday, and they were interred in the Summit Hill Cemetery in the afternoon. At At Campbell's the largest crowd was prescontraining the integer crown was pres-ent Saturday night. A barrel of tobac-co nearly empty—it was full three days prior--san almost in the middle of the floor, and three boxes of clay pipes were beside it, and the half gallon measure on the table had made it is im-

the wart. The chief topic of conversa-tion was the recent executions, and the views of the friends were given with much emphasis. Throughout the whole night a large crowd was coming and going At about 7 o'clock Sunday Δt going morning the first comers to the funetal arrived, and from that time until 2 o'arrived, and from that time until 2 o'-clock, there was a steady stream of public walking in and out of the little two-story frame building which had been the home of Campbell since his marriage. Soon the house became crowded, and the guests sat on the door steps, then on the curb stone, and finally a crowd lined the other side of of the streat. of the street. The remains laid in the best room in a handsome coffin. They of the street, were very well preserved and present-ed a natural look. The mouth was slightly open and the dark ring or the neck was well covered. At 2:20 the body was placed in the hearse. The immediate male friends of the deceased walked behind the coffin, an immense body of mourners, numbering three hundred. Then came the carriages, and after them a large procession of men and women. Tae body arrived at the grave at half past 3. The grounds were packed full of people, who were orderly and well behaved. Campbell's grave was directly beside those of McGegban and Hoyle. After the services the people slowly dispersed.

From Manch Chunk,

-If you desire to visit a dull place, come to Mauch Chunk. -Major Robert Klotz's new building will soon be under roof.

-The potato crop hereabouts promises an unprecedently large yield.

-- Of all the Mollie funerals, Campbell's is said to have been the largest. -Mr. Henry Beineman, sr., of East Mauch Chunk, is said to be seriously ill.

-The special session of Court, already referred to elsewhere, will coucone on next Monday.

-Mr. Clem Hazard, of this place, is

Supreme Court, in October. -The tombstone of the late Mrs. Caroline Rustay is the first that orna-ments Evergreen Cometery of East Mauch Chunk.

-An ice cream festival for the benfit of the M. E. Church, held at the Mauch Chunk public school house on Wednes-day evening of this week, was tolerably well patronized for the times.

-Boss Relehard has lately added a number of new plocks to the machinery at the wire works. The force, although constantly employed, are only working 8 hours per diem.

-According to present appearances the light for the District Attorneyship will be confined to a contest between Messrs. E. R. Siewers, the present incumbent, and P. J. Meehan, -The L. V. RR. Co. having furnished transportation over their road free of charge, Saturday's excursion must have netted the exchequer of St. Lake's hospital a considerable sum.

-The paymaster of the Jersey Cen-tral Ballroad Company, on Menday and Tuesday of this week, distributed an additional ten per cent. of the back pay due the employes. Every little helps. -The regular sessions of June term closed on last Saturday. A special session of Common Pleas will convene shortly, when it is expected much of the unfinished business will be disposed of.

-A tramp, for a week or so employed at Gerster's brewery, ou last Satur-day evening suddenly disappeared, as did a suit of clothing, a gun and a revolver, the property of Mr. Thomas Gerster.

-Inspector Gen. Jno. D. Bertolette is absent at Providence, R. I., where he expects to remain until after the 4th of July. The industrious Fred. Berto-lette and wife are absent on a visit to Lewisburg, Pa.

-The gallows, which had remained standing in the jail corridor until Tuesday, was taken down on the afternoon of that day, and is again stored away In one of the upper cells of the prison for future use. —Although Fisher's death warrant has received the Governor's signature, and the 10th of September has been ap-pointed as the day for his execution, it is not considered likely by those best informed that that worthy will be called on to give up the ghost before Nov.

-Poverty and distress among boat-men are increasing, so that it is no is no longer a rare occurrence to find mem-bers of the craft begging for "chuck" or provender. But there is a better day coming. Soon the corn will be in ear,
