Letter from Maych Chunk,

MAUCH (?HURK: July 18, 1877. There is, really, nothing new under the sun. There may be in other places, but here in Chunk there is absolutely nothing-scarcely enough to cause a ripple on the smooth surface. Fashionable Mauch Chunk is loitering at the sca-side, and if things were dull before they went, they are much more so now. Indeed, we're rapidly assuming the character of men of leisure, for the simple reason that we can't find anything to do-at least nothing that'll pay. Everything is stagnant-dead. Our hotels are empty and the streets almost deserted. Even the boisterous, frolleks some school, bey is no longer visible, as the schools are closed and the watchful eye of ma' is keeping the mischlevous pet at home. If he sallies forth at all, it is after dusk, when he joins the crowds of pedestrians on the sidewalks or watches in front of ice-cream saloons to see what girls bigger boys of his acquaintance are "toting around." which knowledge furnishes him the material for next day's gossip. "Murmaterial for next day's gossip, "Mur-phy meetings" also have their charms him, and it is principally at these gatherings that the gamin must be sought should be be missing on the pave. Indeed, they fairly monopolize these meetings, in consequence of which a vast majority of them have assumed the blue badge, in imitation of bigger boys, no doubt, for the gamin is always bound to be in fashion, be it at talking slang, "bladging" Murphy, or cating cream at ma's or pa's expense. And what airs he puts on while he is handling the spoon ! and how glibly he talks about "that 'ere girl and her fellow !" And what a trying time this must be to larger boys, who hardly dure venture out for fear of being beset by a number of young lady acquaintances who never itate to suggest a plate of cream. "I hate to go out nights," I heard one of them say a few evenings ago ; "it costs like blazes. How sorry I am a test leap year, then the girls would have to buy the cream." Now I can sympa-thize with such fellows, especially if they chance to be forty dollar clerks like blazes. How sorry I am it isn't with two hundred dollar pretentionscan't you ? Now that the ice-cream trade and Murphyism are flourishing, the swill (yclept beer) trade is suffering accordingly, which is sufficiently plain from the fact that most of the saloons are, in a manner, deserted o' nights. Whether the world will event. ually be the better on that account remains to be seen . Some individual or individuals-perhaps with a view of starting a sausage factory-on last Tuesday night caused and havoc among the canines in town, as on Wednesday morning quite a num-ber of the genus were found dead. Sundry pieces of bologue that were subsequently discovered scattered along the sidewalks indicated that they had been poisoned. That there was some swearing among the owners of the curs, in may langing.

"The man that hath no music in his soul!" will beneeforth have to be sought outside of East Mauch Chunk, as they propose shortly to set up in the musical line independently; the first step in furtherance of the project having been taken on Wednesday, when the picnic of the embryo band was well patron-

Mollies Released.

On Monday morning last, at Potts-ville Judge Green discharged Muli Lawlor, John Stattery and Charles Mul-hearn, three of the Mollie Maguires who turned State's evidence during the late trials.

The above frio have been patiently waiting for the past six months for their freedom, and left town on the first train in very jubiliant spirits. Each one entered in $1,000 on his own recognizance. Lawlor was arrested and found guilty as an accessory after the fact to the killing of Sanger and Uren. He the sning of sanger and Uren. He turned State's evidence and corroborat-ed M Parian, the detective, very strong-ly, against Thomas Munley, one of the murderers who explated his crime upon the gallows on the 21st of last month

Mulbern and Slattery were arrested and tried for conspiring to kill William and Jesse Major, of Mahanoy City. withern pleaded guilty in both State's evidence, which convicted Michael Doolan of the same charge. Doolan was sentenced to-day to one year im-prisonment. Doolan has been incarcerated for the past ten months awaiting sentence.

Muthern in his evidence gave information which led to the arrest of "Yel-low Jack" Donohue, for the murder of Morgan Powell, a bass at Summit Hill, for which crime he was long at Mauch Chunk on the 21st.

Mulhern was one of the most import ant witnesses, the commonwealth had during the progress of the Mollie Maguire trials, and gave information, which led to the conviction of several murderers.
