-At Tuesday's quotations the greenback and national bank note dollar were respectively worth 97.09 cents in gold, while the bullion in a 412% grain sliver dollar had a gold! value of only 93.42 cents, the paper dollar being thus shown to be worth in gold 4% cents more than the silver dollar.

-The President said Tuesday to Mr. Leonard, Republican Congressman from Louisians, that, from what he had seen during his recent trip South, he believed the Southern whites "were really anxious to accord to the colored people their full civil and political rights," and the trip had "strengthened bim in the conviction that his Southern policy would rebound greatly to the interest of the blacks." He also said that he had lately received from leading Republicans renewed assurances of their support of his Southern policy.

-The trial of the rioters at Reading commenced Tuesday. Two indiciments were presented, one against eight men, charging them with the turning of the Lebanon Valley bridge; the other against thirty men, charging them with riotous disturbances, the burning of cars, tearing up of tracks, etc. Samuel Humphreys, one of those indicted for burning the bridge, pleaded guilty, and turned State's evidence. He confessed that he held a lamp, while a man named Smith saturated kindling wood, thrown by accomplices from the upper part of the bridge, with coal oil, and then set it on fire.

-The lecture season is well under way, Beecher is making from $200 to $500 a night in the West. Wendell Phillips has hitherto confined his lectures almost entirely to New England, but this year he will make a Western trip. Mrs. Livermore has two new lectures this season-one on " Harriet Martineau" and the other on "The Coming Man." Among the candidates for lyceum honors is Collector Simmons of Boston. He will talk about " Reforms." Burdette of the Burlington Hawkeye will probably come East in December. James T. Fields has numerous engagements in New England. This will be Joaquin Miller's last season on the platform. Gough's popularity holds out wonderfully, and he has far more engagements than he can fill. His new lecture will be on the reform movements of the day. Josh Billings will give his lectures as usual, going as far as Texas. The Rev. Robert Collyer has obtained two Sunday's leave of absence from his church, and will spend the time in lecturing in

-The Secretary of the Treasury has issued a statement showing in detail the amount of United States and national bank notes in the Treasury and Sub-Treasuries on September 15. The purpose of this statement, as explained in a special to the New York Times, is to show banks and bankers the amount of currency that is withdrawn from circulation and held by the Treasury on account of the several items specifically mentioned therein. For instance, the August debt settlement showed that the item of currency in the cash balance.including that held for the redemption of fractional currency, amounted to over $20,000,000. The only other item of currency which the debt statement shows as being in the Treasury is the amount held to redeem certificates of deposit, which, on September 1, was over $50,000,000, but which, as is shown in the memorandum now published by the Secretary, amounts to less than $45,000,000. The statement given below shows that the amount of currency actually held by the Treasury on September 15, and which for all commercial purposes is locked up, was nearly $97,000,009. This amount does not include the currency held by United States depositories, which would swell the aggregate amount withdrawn from circulation to over $100,000,000, or near ly one sixth of the entire amount of legal tenders and national bank notes now outstanding. The certificates of deposit are really used as cash in commercial transactions, being substantially Clearing-house certificates, and may, therefore, be said for the most part to be so much currency. The $45,000,000 represented by these certificates cannot fairly be considered as withdrawn from circulation, although the Treasury holds on deposit that amount for their redemption. The following is the memorandum prepared by the Secretary :

-The examination of Tweed goes on developing some sickening rascality at almost every word. There was a perfect and widely ramified system of swindling the city understood and practised by a very extensive ring. Forty thousand dollars were paid to each of a number of Senators to obtain their votes for the charter which subjected New York to the rapacity of Tweed, Sweeny, Connolly and others. This charter enabled the ring to rob the city interest or principal of the public debt of many millions without any difficulty or any check. Besides the money ac-against the city for millions more. He also tells how he spent part of the money he stole. He paid a mouthly allowance to a list of persons he names for no special work, but doubtless either to secure their influence in a general way or to get them to act as spies and go-betweens. The New York Aldermen had to get $60,000 divided between them to vote a million and a half for the Brooklyn bridge. These are only a few instances of the extreme venality and dishonesty which were rampant in the not remote days of the Tweed ring.

" Molite" Cases Before the Su-preme Court at Pittsburg.

Pittsbung, Oct. 2 —At 11 o'clock yesterday morning the Supreme Court convened here for the purpose of hear-ing the arguments on and disposing of all cases that had been in process of collection since May last. The argu-ment list was very lengthy and heading it was the case of John Kehoe vs. the Commonwealth, carried from the Court New England. Will Carlton will pro-bably come East in November.

of Schuylkill county on a writ of error. Keloe, as our readers are aware, was convicted many month ago for the murder of F. W. Langdon, of Audenried, who was beaten to death by a gang of "buckshots" under the alleged leader-ship of Kehoe. Representing Kehoe was the Hon. John W. Byon, and op-posed to him were George R. Kaercher, Esq., Schuylkill's able District Attor-ney, and General Albright, of Mauch Chunk. Upon the rendition of a number of decisions Chief Justice Agnew, looking as fresh and brisk as ever, called the case referred to. My Ryon im-mediately took the floor and in an argument of an hour and a half duration en deavored to prove that the verdict returned against his client was unjust, insomuch that the evidence in the case failed to show that Langdon's assailants intended to murder him, but that instead they merely desired to give him a good beating. My Ryon mainly relied upon three points, the one already referred to; that the testimony of Dougherty should have been admitted and that the dying statements of Lang. and that the dying statements of Lang-don should not have been admitted to be used against his client. Mr. Kaercher spoke for an hour and having given the Court a general idea of the facts of the Court a general idea of the facts of the case argued, relative to the admissa-bility of Dougherty's testimony, that Dougherty was a convicted felon, having been tried and found guilty in the sec-ond degree of the murder of Langdon, and that therefore his testimony could not legally be, considered as evidence. He devoted but little time to the other points submitted by Mr. Ryon, and gave place to his colleague, having made an argument that was listened to with great attention by the entire bench. great attention by the entire bench. General Albright claimed the consideration of the Court for half an hour and strengthened the argument of his colleague, the General being possessed of a memory that is most tenacious in keepling to the front any little details that will strengthen his case and show the weakness in the enemy's show the weakness in the enemy's armor. Though the time for ad-journment was less than half an hour distant, Mr. Ryon intimated that he de-sired to close the argument, and did so in a twenty minutes' speech. Upon the question of the degree of Kehoe' guilt he dweit at considerable length.

Appearances indicate that Kenoe's chances of obtaining a new trial are limited indeed and he had better devote the time remaining to him in preparation for the worst.

THE PISHER CASE. The second case upon the list was Thomas Fisher vs. the Common wealth of Carbon county. Greatly to the sur-prise of everybody Fisher was not rep-resented, and in his case the Commonwealth asked for a nol. pros. It was granted and the last hope of Fisher now is the Board of Pardons, a Lope that might be with profit abandoned for the conviction that his days on earth are numbered,

Washington Letter.

From our Special Correspondent,
WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 2, 1877. October, gay October is bece with its rich weet days—the bonniest days in all the year or Washingtonians.
