The Reading railroad tracks below Port Carbon are laid on a shelf cut out of the rock, and on the outer side are guarded by a small railing, beyond which again is a steep declivity. The space between the tracks and this railing is too narrow for a person to walk, and on Friday evening whilst a woman was walking along this dangerous piece of track the Harrisburg fast express came thundering along, and the engineer, who saw the pedestrian too late to check his engine, felt that her death was certain. She, however, seeing at a glance that it was too late to cross the track, in an instant grasped the railing, and, with remarkable strength, managed to hang suspended until the train passed, when she dragged herself up to the track again.

Letter from Mauch Chunk.

MAUGH CHUNK NOV. 15, 1877. Although election is barely past, quice number of aspirants for political honors and the fi thy tucre therewith connected, are already in the field, are their respective "ciaims" are being autively discussed. Tiths we go ! crops may fail, and copital seek hidrig-proces, but the candidates will always be with as. The only consolution is that for nearly ten months to come we'll not be called on to convince people that unless this or that one should be elected, county, state and country will be lost beyond recovery. serve the people in the capacity of County Commissioner there are several who long for the loaves and flates of the Recordership, while me are willing to accept almost any office it still of the people, whether they possess the squisite finess or not. It Superintendent of common schools Hofford, should refuse to be a candidate for re-elec-tion, no danger need be apprehended on that score, as Professors Rowland and Kline would, no doubt, he periodity willing to assume the arcuons duties of the Superinterdency, and Prof. Hillinger's name is also mentioned in this con-nection. But as the new Superintendent is to be chosen to May it's bigh time that the several espi ing " Profes ors" should bestir thom-selves. May, you know, is only s'x months off and this fur neither of Mr. Hofford's expectant successors has fairly amounced himself a candidate. What a contrast between the teachers and politicians !

On last Tursday evening the members of the Athenmam co.ebrated the first anniversary of Athenesin ecceptated the first shurrerary or that Secesy, which, by the way is one of the best Associations to this town. The attendance was unusually later and the proceedings were or a most interesting character. This Society enters upon the 2d year of its existence with good prospects of a long continuance.

Now meetingling the prevence of considerable contress among the rile and poorly paid in this community, no steps have yet been taken with a view to organize a relief association, bat perhaps that after a while "peand" parties will be head for the relief of the destitute in the regions of the moon. A thing of that kind has happened here about a year ago as you will. perhaps, remember.

A few boats are still in port, but clearances are few and for between. "Ti fre is a time in be born and a time to die and it is of each that I am about to write. Not that I intend to give your readers a windy dis-sertation so death, but merely to savise them of the endden demise of Renj. P. H. Lynn, who died at Hagieton on last Saturday. Deceased, a born Mauch Chunker, was well known here. and greatly respected by all who had the pleasure of a more intimate addinantance with him. Not yet past the prime of life, he was a man of commanding presence, seemingly singled out by Providence to be a main of note. He was an individual of many sterker parts, and his vast stole of information, coupled with a grand in-tellect. fitted him adorrably for the calling he had chosen. Indeed there were few in the adirordal profession, in city or country, who wielded as fooles pen as he. come the founder of quite a number of periodi cats, some of which are still in a flourishing ex istence. There was method in all he did, and whether at the neat of a prosperous city jour-nal or a small country sheet published in a our-horse town, his daily or weekly cultions would invariably bear the imprint of his character for thoroughness. Indeed there are few to this day who know how to get up a sheet as well as Ben F. H. Lynn did. And yet, who was this prodigy! A self-made man indeed, who in his youth, had enjoyed but two months schooling! He was emphatically a self-taught man, whose grammar and style were acquired at the case, and by reading, and whose reasoning faculties were of the first order. In short deceased was a genius, but though a genius, he was far from having been a successful business man, and his fulures were probably as many as his success As a man be was one of those feet and easy going creatures who make friends, wherever they go, and whs be matter to what straits they may be reduced, command the respect of age. But, poor tellow, he is gone. Having written his valedictory, he has departed, leaving us much to admire and but little to lament. Besider,

"Who e'er expects a perfect man to see, Seeks what ne'er was,nor is, nor e'er shall be" and white londly harboring the memory of Ben F. H. Lynn in the innermost recesses of our hearts let us forset his frailties. When I first heart the particulars of his death—bow he had died alons, far from his wife and family, with no one to cheer nor comfort him, I felt sick at heart, but when I thought of the life of useful ness be had led and the proud record he had left behind in his writings, I grew silent in mioration of Him who knoweth best. His funeral which sook place on Taesday afternoon from the residence of his brother-in-law. Mr. T. L. Fosier was we lattended, and while he sleeps his last sleep in the Cemeterf on the Hill, his works survive him.

Mr. Martin Nuss, a him fifth the humbler walks of life exchanged time and things timely for elernity and things eternal at 6 o'clock on last Sanday morning, aged 47 years. About six weeks ago deceased, who was a carpenter, was lippied while worsing at his trade on the Tamanend branch of the L & S. Division of the Central B. R. of N. J., since which time he continuet to sink slowly until death came to his redef. In Upper Mauch Chunk, where he had resided so many years, there was none more respected than he, as it was attested by the numbers who came to pay him the last tribute of respect on last Tuesday afternoon when dust was consigned to dust. Deceased leaves a widow and 5 children to mourn the loss of husband and father. The sympathies of the whole commu nity is theirs.

.--The Coal Trade.

The Coal Trade.

The authracite coal trade the past week has ruled rather dull and showshist beavy as to prices. The tenings of the Reading Haifroad Coupany for the week ending on the 10th lists, was 14,000 tons, of which 61,850 tons went to Port Richmond. In the same time 50,000 tons were shapped from Port Richmond, shewing a pretty fair supply of orders for coal from that point. The Philadelphia Coal and from Company mined during the past week $2,000 tons, and mining was kept up generally pretty well throughout both the Schuly, still and Lenish Valley resions. The heavy lain of last Thursday interfered somewhat with active operations by causing temporary stolpases at several of the collection. Let me tell you something about fortissey. He lives in a street through which John Kelly, his defeated antag-onist, has to pass each day on his way to the car. On the night of the election Morrissey was taken very sick, but he was not too sick to forget to have prepared for Mr. Kelly, in the morning, a little theatrical surprise. When the great sachem of Tammany Hall passed the Senator elect's house, on Wednes day, he saw a magnificent bank of day, he saw a magnificent bank of flowers prominently displayed in Mor-rissey's window, with the word "vic-tory" embiazoned upon it. At the same time there was a fumor flying through the city that Morrissey was dead. But he was not. Trying as the campaign has been he has been so faithfully nursed by his wife that out of it in much better condition than otherwise would have been the case When he was taken sick at the Ashland House on Tuesday evening, he tele-graphed to her one word—"elected," "I am the happiest woman in New York." Appropria York." Appropos of this fidelity, it may be stated that when Mr. Morrissey was seriously debating the advisability of accepting the nomination for Senator from the Seventh District, Mrs. Morrissey told him that if he did not run she would.

Maybe we are not angry about the Parote-Ten Brock race-being off. Those of us who bet on Ten Brock, and am happy I was not one,did so on the basis of pay or play, and Parcie's waik over must mean universal losses for Ten Broeck's backers. We have no pools now, as we are too moral for that; but our Jockey Club, has started the system of betting books on the English plan, and in those books Ten Broeck and Parole renked as 100 to 60. ing into consideration this preference for the Kentucky crack, you can leag-ine the wide-spread devastation which bis withdrawal occasioned:

Wendell Phillips has been in our city answering Grant und Fish in the matter of the San Domingo aspersions as to the character of Charles Sumner. He didn't make a very good exhibit of Mr. Sumner's fidelity to his word; and we are left to believe that the dead statesman played it upon the President when he promised to support the San Domingo schemes. When Phillips is in town he stops at the St. Denis Hotel. So does also Raiph Waldo Emerson.
