

HUMOROUS.
—An old negro cook says: "Sassa is powerful good in everything but children. Day needs some other kind of dressin'."
—An Irishman tells us of a fight in which there was only one nose left in the crowd, "and that belonged to the tay kettle."
—He went softly behind the door and murmured, "I am a man of very quiet tastes." Then he took a flask from his pocket and tasted something.
—When a man and woman are made one, the question is: "Which one?" Sometimes there is a long struggle between before the matter is settled.
—The other day a mean man out in western Iowa went into a quiet country place and died so quick that his wife got his insurance money before the company had time to fail. The president says he never felt so swindled and cut up since he has been in the business.
—It was a diplomatic husband who protested to his wife: "My dear, if it doesn't make any difference to you, don't say 'brute' and 'dolt'." Use terms milder, replied the registrar. "If I must have certain lectures, let them, at least be damn certain ones."
—"Sambro, is your master a good farmer?" "Oh, yes, massa, I say he makes two crops each year." "How is that Sambro?" "Why, he sells all his hay in de fall and makes money once; den in de spring he sells de hides of de cattle dat die for want ob de hay, and makes money twice."
—A certain registrar in an English town is unfortunately very deaf. One day a woman went to register the birth of her child, and had to answer the usual questions. To the one, "Were you present at the birth?" the astonished woman answered: "I'm the mother of the child." "But that is not an answer to my question," replied the registrar. "Were you present at the birth?" "Yes, of course," she said, "I was there."
—Now remove the mosquito bar. It isn't fair to take such a mean advantage of the few veteran blind, crippled, and half-palised mosquitos, who drop down from the ceiling at midnight and blow their cracked bugles for lunch. The hard-hearted wretch who keeps his mosquito bar up in these hard times would refuse to give ice cream to a beated tramp.
—He waited out of the front door, followed by a wash-board and two bars of soap; as he straightened himself and walked firmly down the street, he remarked: "A man must draw the line somewhere, or he can't be boss of the house; and I'll be hanged if I pump more than one tub of water for one washin', and there ain't a woman can make me do it, unless she locks me in."
—After all you were only a circus artist," said a prosperous equestrian's daughter to a well-known and clever actress, now retired from the boards, on meeting her behind the scenes the other day; "you were a member of my father's circus company." "Yes," replied the elderly lady, with dignity; "but there are grades even in a circus; your father used to think my shoes."
—"You'll never marry again, Susie, you grieve so arter Isaac. Was it twice you fainted, or three times, at the grave?" "Bless yo' soul, Sary, it was free times I fainted, an' de las' time I never like to come to." "Oh, Susie, you'll neber marry again, will yer?" "Bless yo' soul Frank Dunn ax me 'bout dis before my husband died, and I promised him if he died I'd hab him, an' I b'longed to de church an' won't tell a lie."
—A light-hearted, impulsive young lady, writing to a friend over the arrival of her eighteenth birthday, tells it in this joyous style: "Darling J—, I must write to you to-day to tell you that at last I am splendidly eighteen. Think of it—splendid eighteen—not timid fifteen, winning sixteen, blushing seventeen, or even bold nineteen, but splendid eighteen! I shall commence to live from this day forth, I shall love everybody and everybody will love me."

Glenn's Sulphur Soap
is a SPECIFIC in those OBNOXIOUS DIS EASES, which have been treated heretofore with "Sulphur Ointments," having the advantage of being CLEAN, INOFFENSIVE and UNINJURIOUS to CLOTHING.
SULPHUR BATHS.
The beneficial results of Sulphur Baths are too well known to require comment. The effects of GLENN'S SULPHUR SOAP in the bath are truly electrical, completely deodorizing, removing accumulations and thoroughly purifying the entire surface of the body. In fact it is the King of Soaps for bathing and Toilet purposes.
DIRECTIONS.—For Diseases of the Skin bathe freely and apply a thick lather before retiring, allowing it to remain over night. For Scalds and Burns apply the lather freely to the affected parts, and the fire and pain will be removed immediately. For Cuts, Bruises, Sprains, Bruises and Cuts apply lather well saturated with a strong solution. For Old Sores and Ulcers it is invaluable. Use freely as a lotion. For a preventive in Obnoxious Diseases use a strong lather as a wash, externally and by injection. IT NEVER FAILS.
