Teachers' Institute.

East Monday afternoon, which was the time appointed for the opening of the County Teachers' Institute, found many of the profession," marms and masters, in waiting at the Court House, and at two o'clock the Institute was called to order by Superintendent Hofford. There were motions and counter-motions, hitches by which the craft showed that they were not yet masters of parliamentary law; hence several hours vere consumed in effecting an organization. This accomplished, Prof. H. A. Kline, acknowledged the musical genius of the Institute, seated himself at the organ and struck up "There is music in the air," which was vell rendered principally by the female porion of the members.

Superintendent Hofford then addressed simself to the assembly in a few well-chosen remarks, commenting on the comparatively large attendance, the importance and visible esults of the teachers' work, closing by conending that the public schools of Carbon compared favorably with those of our neigh-ors. Prof. J. P. Rowland spoke encouragngly to, and highly enlogized that useful ndividual—the country pedagogue. The Professor's" remarks were suggestive of a ecessor, but no one seemingly felt inclined o follow, whereupon Prof. Kline struck up The sweet bye and bye," in which the nembers joined hearifly.

The meeting then adjourned until Tueslay at 9 a.m.

The organization as effected stands thus : President, Mr. R. F. Hovroup, Yice-President, L. H. Barber. Secretary, J. P. Rowland. Asst. Secretary, Miss Ellen Cooper. Treasurer, C. M. Arnold.

TUESDAY.

Institute met at 9 a.m., and was called to order by the President. "There is music in the air" was then sung by teachers, Prof. Kline presiding at the organ; and Monday's minutes being read and approved, Prof. S. H. Hollinger read a very interesting essay on "School Government." It was well written, well delivered, and full of many excellent suggestions.

At the close of the discussion Mr. Hollinger's theories had provoked, Mr. F. K. Bernd addressed the institute on what he consider-ed a profess method of teaching orthography. His remarks were attentively listened to and gave rise to considerable discussion.

AFTERNOON SESSION. Institute was called to order by the Presi-

Institute was called to order by the President at 2 p. m., when Miss Houk, of Lehighton, treated the audience to a beautiful solo, with organ accompaniment by Prof. Kline. At its close the singer was loudly applauded. Mr. S. M. Gable then demonstrated his method of teaching geography, map drawing, &c. The delivery of his lecture showed that he was perfectly "at home? sport the subject, and was attentively listened to. He was succeeded by Prof. Geo. L. Maris, Principal of Chester Normal Scheel, who took up the subject of grammar and language. His discourse, which was attentively listened to, was highly appreciated by all.

The subject of primary arthmetic was then then dilated upon by Mr. J. Horace Landis, who handled his subject in a musterly manner. After sibging, institute adjourned.

WEDNISDAY.

Called to order at 9 a.m., the institute was found to number 75 members. Singing and the reading of yesterday's minutes were then in order. In place of reading by Prof. Rowland, Prof. G. L. Maris resumed the subject of gestumar shall language, and by his very crudite arguments kept his andience greatly interested for some time. Interested for some time. Shortly after the conclusion of Mr. Maris' remarks, Miss F. Chidester delivered what may be called a Chidester delivered what may be called a very interesting lecture on Elecution. She was succeeded by a reaumption, by Mr. F. K. Bernd; on the "Methods of Teaching Or-R. upon the subject of Botany, and #6 did it well, of course. And in leaving the le well, of course. And in leaving the lecturer to his subject, dealing with light and heat as best he can, I may state that the attendance of the general public, which has been grewing ever sities Monday, is quite large now, showing increased ritterest on their part. In the cearse of his remarks the lecturer spoke of many things which could not have failed to prove interesting, if not astonishing to all.

Edsell Ferrier spoke for several hours on Ancient Superstitions, particularly "Witcheraft," and the "Orpheus," represented by fifteen members, enlivened the occasion with some of their stroatest melodies. The audience was the largest that probably ever had convened in the court-room, and while the content speaker fully justified all expectations, in so far an oratory was conterned; his lecture, and the many directores with which it was interspetted; created indescribable merrinest among the browled of listeners. The pieces sung by the "Orpheus": The God on High, from Mondelsohu's St. Paul; Hail Smiling More, the chorus from The Bohemius Girl, and the Soldiery' Chorus from Funat, were or the control of the part of the control of the control of the control of the control of cold weather, the domaind for control of cold weather, the domaind for control of the control of good at firm prices, and the supply is con-ing actively forward, there being new little interruption from any cause to production in any of the regions. The coal tenning of the Reading Bailroad Company for the weak ending on esturiacy lost. the 24th instan-was 170,000 tons, of which 65,000 tons went to Port Richmond. In the salms week 60, 400 tons were should be salms week 60, 500 tons were shipped thence. Thursday the 29th instant, being a holiday, leaves but four working days to the end of the front Monday, Tu-clay, Wednesday and Priday. The company's authracite coal tomage for the year ending last week amounted to 7, 088,000 tons, and; with the production of the four days mentified added, the total for the entire fiscal year will not be much, if any, entire discal year will not be much, if any, short of acces and a quarter millions of tons? This is an immense production, and shows transportation facilities for length of road probably unequaled. There is some talk in the papers as to the purchase of some four or five mines by the Reading Coal and Ir.n. Company. The transaction, hot year, is of no great moment. The mines are on the premises owned by that company, and the purchase of the leases of the territe in possession, involve comparatively little manney. Thesitay is fixed for the anction sale at New York of 190:090 tons of soil, and the general Theselay is fixed for the auction sale at New York of 100:000 tons of each, and the seneral expectation is that it will show an advance in prices. There is sometally of meetings of the managers of the great coal entry it geompanies, with the view to some arrangement looking to the control of the trade next year, but, so far as we can learn, the talk is confined to uninfluential parties. There are one or two parties connected with the business, who, in the matter of an arrangement or combination, seak in "voice netential." ness, who, in the matter of an arrangement or combination, speak in "voice potential, double as the duke's," and as yet nothing has escaped from them, so far as we learn, that indicates an early movement in that di-rection. Though all must admit the trade would be greatly benefitted next year if some reliable compact could be entered into whitch, while it would give the market a full supply of coal at reasonable prices, would nevertheless prevent its waste.—Ledger, Monday.
