

The Carbon Advocate.

H. V. WORTHIMER, EDITOR

LEHIGHTON, PA. SATURDAY MORNING, JANUARY 12, 1878.

—Edward J. Dunning, Jr., note broker, of Wall street, New York, made an assignment Wednesday. He owes from $300,000 to $500,000, divided between five or six banks. His assets consist of notes given or taken by thirty firms in the drug, chemical, paint and oil trade. He hopes to pay in full, but fears that he may lose $200,000.

—We refer our readers to the "Historical Sketch of the Progress of Education in Carbon County," by R. F. Hofford, County Superintendent, on our first page, it is very interesting, and will amply repay a careful perusal. We have printed a few extra copies of this week's issue in order to supply parties who may wish to secure a copy containing this article.

—But about four weeks remain until the time for holding the spring elections for township and borough officers. In this borough the following officers will be chosen: one person for Chief Burgess, two members of Borough Council, two members of the School Board, two Overseers of the Poor, one Constable, one Auditor, and one Assessor. Would it not be well if our people would take an early start in this matter and see that the very best men are put in nomination for the several offices to be filled? Our citizens will do well to take more interest in their local nominations and elections. If such officers are necessary, then let us have the best material we can possibly get.

—In the Pennsylvania Senate Tuesday night a bill was introduced providing for payment of the military for service during the July and August riots and the other expenses incident to them. The amount demanded for payment of troops is $290,000, and transportation, subsistence, quartermaster's and medical stores $235,000. The estimates of the cost of the riots at the Adjutant General's Department exceed the above amounts about $24,000. The expenses in round numbers are classified thus:—Troops, $307,000; transportation, $141,000; subsistence, $124,000; quartermaster's stores, $65,000; medical stores, $5,400. These amounts do not include about $70,000 already paid to the three months' men, and an independent regiment from Philadelphia. The cost of the riots therefore is $700,000.

—A cessation of hostilities between Russia and Turkey, with subsequent negotiations for the establishment of a permanent basis of settlement, is daily more probable. England has informed Russia that the Sublime Porte is ready to open negotiations for peace. The reply of the Russian Government is believed to indicate a desire to negotiate, but the implied proffer of mediatorial offices on the part of England is courteously brushed aside. The inquiry is now pressed with interest as to what will be the effect on the price of our breadstuffs abroad. When the war commenced, months ago, large expectations were aroused throughout this country of an immense demand, at greatly increased prices, for our surplus. Now, should the war cease—then what?—Er.

The opening of the Supreme Court at its rooms in the new Public Buildings, Philadelphia, Monday, was marked by an unusually large attendance. Precisely at eleven the chief justice declared the Court open, and a few minutes later the commission of Hon. John Trunkay, as Associate Justice, was read. When the reading was completed, the new Justice, whose term runs for twenty-one years from Monday, took his seat on the bench, he having been formally sworn in by Chief Justice Agnew, at a private meeting of the Court, on Saturday.

THE MOLLY MAGUIRE CASES. Patrick Hester, Peter McHugh and Patrick Tully vs. The Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.—Error to Common Pleas of Columbia county. On the 16th of October, 1878, ten members of the Ancient Order of Hibernians (Molly Maguires), met in the tavern of one Donohue, at Louest Gap, Columbia county, and there determined upon the murder of Alex. W. Rea, who was obnoxious to them. Hester, under whose direction the meeting was held, was the body master of the Louest Gap division. The next day Rea was murdered and robbed, and Hester, McHugh, Thomas Donohue, John Duffy, Michael Prior and Patrick Tully were arrested. Hester, Donohue and Duffy were charged with him for murder under a joint indictment. A verdict was had and a jury in Duffy's case acquitted the latter. A similar verdict in the case of Prior was rendered, and in the case of two cases prosequi were entered by the District Attorney. On the 11th of May, 1880, Hester was released from the prison of Columbia county.

Under the operation of the two-term law governing such cases, Hester, who had been indicted at the February term of the Court, was entitled to his discharge from custody at the expiration of the second term of Court after his indictment, which term expired on the 8th of May, three days before the discharge on the sole prosequi. After the expiration of the term, Hester was again arrested and put on trial for the murder of Rea, and McHugh and Tully were tried together with him for the same offense. The defense claimed on behalf of Hester that he was entitled on the trial of the indictment, to the benefit of the provision of the 57th section of the act of March 31st, 1866, declaring that if a person shall not be indicted or tried the second term after his confinement, and that his discharge shall be available against a second indictment. The Court below overruled this defense, holding that as Hester had been released on a sole prosequi and was under the operation of the two-term law, the District Attorney had at any time a right to re-arrest. This decision, the admission of the evidence of Daniel Kelly, a confessed accomplice in the murder, was it was alleged was a convicted felon, illegally pardoned by the Governor, and the admission of evidence showing the organization of the Ancient Order of Hibernians, together with their connection with the murder, was assigned as error. The Supreme Court, in an opinion by Justice Woodward, however, affirms the judgment of the Court below, holding that its rulings were in the main correct. It remits the record of its decision to the lower court in order that its sentence may be carried into effect.

On the 14th of January, 1862, Frank Langdon, ticket boss at the Anderson Colliery, Schuylkill county, was found brutally murdered, his head having been fractured by repeated blows.

In 1870, John Kehoe, together with five others, was arrested for the offense. A severance was had and he was given a separate trial. Evidence was adduced showing that he had made threats to take the life of Langdon, who was obnoxious to him and his associates, from the fact that he had docked their pay at the mine; that Kehoe and the others had plotted the murder and had brutally murdered their selected victim. After a long trial and a lengthy charge by the Court, a verdict of guilty of the murder of the first degree was rendered. Assigning error in the rulings of the Court below, the Oyer and Terminer of Schuylkill county, Kehoe removed his case to the Supreme Court. He alleged that the evidence adduced was insufficient to make out a case of murder in the first degree; that the Court erred in admitting testimony showing concerted action on the part of himself and his associates in planning and committing the deed, and in allowing the dying declarations of Langdon to incriminate the prisoner to go into evidence. The rejection of the evidence of Columbus McGee and Neal Dougherty, two alleged accomplices of the accused, was also assigned as error, as were also the rulings of the Court on a number of unimportant questions. The Supreme Court, in an opinion by Chief Justice, sustained the rulings of the lower tribunal, affirms the judgment and remits the record in order that the sentence of the Court may be carried into effect. It concludes that upon the whole case the evidence made out a clear case of murder in the first degree, and that the jury were right in so finding, as was also the Court below in its admission and exclusion of the evidence above cited.

Our Washington Letter.

Society of the National Capital and Formerly—Reminiscences of Antebellum Days.—The Social Administrations of Harriet Lane, Mrs. Grant, Mrs. Fish, and Mrs. Hayes.—A "Five o'clock Tea"—The first regular Reception of the Season at the White House, etc., etc., etc. WASHINGTON, D. C., Jan. 5, 1878. In ante-bellum days, during the Administration of Mr. Buchanan, when Harriet Lane "did the honors," as the saying is, of the White House, it was she who struck the key-note of the season; in other words, it depended upon her whether the social season at the National Capital should be a gay or a dull one. Our society-belles and beaux looked anxiously towards her to set the example, and her style and entertainments were copied in all first-class houses. Later, when the political horizon became overcast, and Mr. Lincoln was called to the helm of the ship of State, affairs all over the country, and more especially at the Executive Mansion, were of such a nature as to preclude much gaiety; other, far weightier matters, demanded the time and attention of him who, during the eventful period which followed, stood at the head of the nation, and entertainments at the White House were, like Angel's visits, comparatively few and far between. Then came President Johnson's Administration, which was a blank so far as the social records of the White House are concerned; and after him came Gen. Grant, and with him a revival. The colors were removed from the closed-up parlors and the dust brushed from the unused and faded furniture, and Mrs. Grant and her charming daughter "Nellie" busied themselves to make the world-be-old building look and feel like home again. In this admirably successful, and during the eight years of President Grant's Administration for long had a warmer welcome or a brighter fire-side to offer, than the Executive Mansion.

But it was, perhaps, these very homelike and domestic tendencies of Mrs. Grant, which caused her never to hold the place, as did Harriet Lane in her day, and as Mrs. Hayes does now, of a "leader" in Washington Society. This place was, by universal consent, awarded to Mrs. Fish, the wife of the then Secretary of State. A woman of wealth, generosity, and refinement, she was evidently suited for this position; and from her all social edicts and regulations governing society and etiquette emanated. To speak allegorically, Mrs. Grant took a "back seat" and at the opening of a season the question was never "What is Mrs. Grant going to do?" but "What will Mrs. Fish do?" She could make Washington dull, or, at her pleasure, and it was to her, exclusively, that society looked for an example. After her retirement from the social stage, at the close of President Grant's Administration, came an eventful and never-to-be-forgotten interregnum, and then President Hayes. As the wife of the Governor of Ohio, Mrs. Hayes had had large experience in conducting the affairs of an Executive Mansion, which, although on a smaller scale, has been of considerable advantage to her. The rondeau was familiar to her, as well as the President; and the advantage which she possessed in this respect over the late Administration when it came into power, was never more apparent than at the recent New Year's reception at the White House. For all the world, both Mr. and Mrs. Hayes looked and acted as if they had done the same thing over and over again, when in reality it was the first time they had been placed in this trying position. Trying, as requiring not only a good "presence," but great urbanity, civility and physical strength. To shake hands with upwards of fifteen hundred persons, without a moment's rest or respite, is no easy task—certainly not without showing signs of fatigue. This stolid physique of President Grant could stand it, as it could almost anything else, without sign or symptom of weariness, but, as a rule, Mrs. Grant was compelled to retire before the ceremony was over. Strange to say, both Mr. and Mrs. Hayes stood it all through, and stood it well; the only sign on her face of being worn out, or well nigh so, being a slight pallor and the deep breath of relief she gave as she sank into an easy chair after it was all over.

The social feature of the season promises to be a "five o'clock tea," a sort of early and inexpensive lecture, designed especially for the young folks. Mrs. Hayes has set the example, and they are already immensely in vogue. They have the merit of being cheap, that almost anyone can afford to give them, and are suggestive of early hours—in fact, rarely last longer than midnight. The balls and champagne supper of the Fish regime are at a discount, owing to the hard times and the fact that Mrs. Hayes is notoriously opposed to wine drinking. Besides, the bias of the late Secretary of War stands as a warning against living beyond one's income; and a Cabinet Minister's salary did not, unless he had other sources of income, warrant great expenditure. All the ladies of the Cabinet live in plain style, and no one ever dreams of looking to Mrs. Evans, who, so far as rank and prominence are concerned, now occupies the chair of Mrs. Fish, to set an example in style and fashion. Mrs. Belknap, Robeson, and Williams; the dashing coadjutors of Mrs. Fish, are things of the past; and for simplicity and economy, the entire circle of the White House, i. e. the wives of the members of the Cabinet, will compare favorably with the vaunted harmonies of dash and style of the early days of the Republic. There are among the wives and daughters of some of the members of the Diplomatic Corps, and of some of our wealthy Senators and members of Congress, several, who are distinguished by this plainness of style and living, and who, by their simple and strict lives, are their own. Only intimate friends have the open sesame to their convivial gatherings, and newspaper reporters are scrupulously excluded. I should not be surprised if their example will be more generally followed, and the rigor which has, so far, characterized the social gatherings at the White House, be relaxed a little under the strain of outside pressure. Non sequitur! This afternoon, I attended the first of Mrs. Hayes' regular Saturday receptions, which differed but little from those of her predecessor. The rooms, and more especially the "Blue Room," were magnificently and tastefully decorated with rare flowers from the conservatories, and the Marine Band was in attendance and "discours'd sweet music." (I believe that is the stereotyped phrase?) during the levee. Mrs. Hayes was assisted by a handsome black velvet, and was assisted by her young set-up friends who were now visiting at the White House. The President, and his two eldest sons were also on hand, and with Secretary Thompson and his two daughters, formed a little group in one of the alcoves near the door, where they were almost hidden by the flowers. As an opening reception, it was a success, and was numerously attended by the elite notwithstanding the inclemency of the weather. B.

Literary Notices.

VICK'S ILLUSTRATED MONTHLY MAGAZINE.—Each number contains thirty-two pages of reading, many fine Wood Cut Illustrations, and one Colored Plate. A beautiful Garden Magazine, printed on elegant paper, and full of information. In English and German. Price, $1.25 a year. Five copies $5.00. Vick's Flower and Vegetable Garden, 50 cts. in paper covers; in elegant cloth covers, $1. Vick's Catalogue, 300 illustrations, only 2 cents. Address, JAMES VICK, Rochester, N. Y.

Phrenology.

The public are being educated to a better knowledge of Phrenology by the publisher of the Phrenological Journal, that organ, is sent by express, carefully packed, to every subscriber of the Journal, who sends in addition to two dollars, the subscription price, twenty-five cents extra for boxing and packing, or No. 2, larger size, will be sent by mail, post-paid, on the same terms. Readers who desire a more complete description, together with prospectus of the Phrenological Journal, should send address on a postal card, or accept the publishers' offer, and send ten cents—half price for the Journal—to show the exact location of all the Phrenological Organs. It is a handsome ornament, well adapted for the mantel-piece, centre-table, library, or office. With the aid of this and the key which accompanies it, together with the series of articles commenced in the January No. of the Phrenological Journal on Practical Phrenology, each person may become quite familiar with the location of the different phrenological organs. It is sent by express, carefully packed, to every subscriber of the Journal, who sends in addition to two dollars, the subscription price, twenty-five cents extra for boxing and packing, or No. 2, larger size, will be sent by mail, post-paid, on the same terms. Readers who desire a more complete description, together with prospectus of the Phrenological Journal, should send address on a postal card, or accept the publishers' offer, and send ten cents—half price for the Journal—to show the exact location of all the Phrenological Organs. It is a handsome ornament, well adapted for the mantel-piece, centre-table, library, or office. With the aid of this and the key which accompanies it, together with the series of articles commenced in the January No. of the Phrenological Journal on Practical Phrenology, each person may become quite familiar with the location of the different phrenological organs. It is sent by express, carefully packed, to every subscriber of the Journal, who sends in addition to two dollars, the subscription price, twenty-five cents extra for boxing and packing, or No. 2, larger size, will be sent by mail, post-paid, on the same terms. Readers who desire a more complete description, together with prospectus of the Phrenological Journal, should send address on a postal card, or accept the publishers' offer, and send ten cents—half price for the Journal—to show the exact location of all the Phrenological Organs. It is a handsome ornament, well adapted for the mantel-piece, centre-table, library, or office. With the aid of this and the key which accompanies it, together with the series of articles commenced in the January No. of the Phrenological Journal on Practical Phrenology, each person may become quite familiar with the location of the different phrenological organs. It is sent by express, carefully packed, to every subscriber of the Journal, who sends in addition to two dollars, the subscription price, twenty-five cents extra for boxing and packing, or No. 2, larger size, will be sent by mail, post-paid, on the same terms. Readers who desire a more complete description, together with prospectus of the Phrenological Journal, should send address on a postal card, or accept the publishers' offer, and send ten cents—half price for the Journal—to show the exact location of all the Phrenological Organs. It is a handsome ornament, well adapted for the mantel-piece, centre-table, library, or office. With the aid of this and the key which accompanies it, together with the series of articles commenced in the January No. of the Phrenological Journal on Practical Phrenology, each person may become quite familiar with the location of the different phrenological organs. It is sent by express, carefully packed, to every subscriber of the Journal, who sends in addition to two dollars, the subscription price, twenty-five cents extra for boxing and packing, or No. 2, larger size, will be sent by mail, post-paid, on the same terms. Readers who desire a more complete description, together with prospectus of the Phrenological Journal, should send address on a postal card, or accept the publishers' offer, and send ten cents—half price for the Journal—to show the exact location of all the Phrenological Organs. It is a handsome ornament, well adapted for the mantel-piece, centre-table, library, or office. With the aid of this and the key which accompanies it, together with the series of articles commenced in the January No. of the Phrenological Journal on Practical Phrenology, each person may become quite familiar with the location of the different phrenological organs. It is sent by express, carefully packed, to every subscriber of the Journal, who sends in addition to two dollars, the subscription price, twenty-five cents extra for boxing and packing, or No. 2, larger size, will be sent by mail, post-paid, on the same terms. Readers who desire a more complete description, together with prospectus of the Phrenological Journal, should send address on a postal card, or accept the publishers' offer, and send ten cents—half price for the Journal—to show the exact location of all the Phrenological Organs. It is a handsome ornament, well adapted for the mantel-piece, centre-table, library, or office. With the aid of this and the key which accompanies it, together with the series of articles commenced in the January No. of the Phrenological Journal on Practical Phrenology, each person may become quite familiar with the location of the different phrenological organs. It is sent by express, carefully packed, to every subscriber of the Journal, who sends in addition to two dollars, the subscription price, twenty-five cents extra for boxing and packing, or No. 2, larger size, will be sent by mail, post-paid, on the same terms. Readers who desire a more complete description, together with prospectus of the Phrenological Journal, should send address on a postal card, or accept the publishers' offer, and send ten cents—half price for the Journal—to show the exact location of all the Phrenological Organs. It is a handsome ornament, well adapted for the mantel-piece, centre-table, library, or office. With the aid of this and the key which accompanies it, together with the series of articles commenced in the January No. of the Phrenological Journal on Practical Phrenology, each person may become quite familiar with the location of the different phrenological organs. It is sent by express, carefully packed, to every subscriber of the Journal, who sends in addition to two dollars, the subscription price, twenty-five cents extra for boxing and packing, or No. 2, larger size, will be sent by mail, post-paid, on the same terms. Readers who desire a more complete description, together with prospectus of the Phrenological Journal, should send address on a postal card, or accept the publishers' offer, and send ten cents—half price for the Journal—to show the exact location of all the Phrenological Organs. It is a handsome ornament, well adapted for the mantel-piece, centre-table, library, or office. With the aid of this and the key which accompanies it, together with the series of articles commenced in the January No. of the Phrenological Journal on Practical Phrenology, each person may become quite familiar with the location of the different phrenological organs. It is sent by express, carefully packed, to every subscriber of the Journal, who sends in addition to two dollars, the subscription price, twenty-five cents extra for boxing and packing, or No. 2, larger size, will be sent by mail, post-paid, on the same terms. Readers who desire a more complete description, together with prospectus of the Phrenological Journal, should send address on a postal card, or accept the publishers' offer, and send ten cents—half price for the Journal—to show the exact location of all the Phrenological Organs. It is a handsome ornament, well adapted for the mantel-piece, centre-table, library, or office. With the aid of this and the key which accompanies it, together with the series of articles commenced in the January No. of the Phrenological Journal on Practical Phrenology, each person may become quite familiar with the location of the different phrenological organs. It is sent by express, carefully packed, to every subscriber of the Journal, who sends in addition to two dollars, the subscription price, twenty-five cents extra for boxing and packing, or No. 2, larger size, will be sent by mail, post-paid, on the same terms. Readers who desire a more complete description, together with prospectus of the Phrenological Journal, should send address on a postal card, or accept the publishers' offer, and send ten cents—half price for the Journal—to show the exact location of all the Phrenological Organs. It is a handsome ornament, well adapted for the mantel-piece, centre-table, library, or office. With the aid of this and the key which accompanies it, together with the series of articles commenced in the January No. of the Phrenological Journal on Practical Phrenology, each person may become quite familiar with the location of the different phrenological organs. It is sent by express, carefully packed, to every subscriber of the Journal, who sends in addition to two dollars, the subscription price, twenty-five cents extra for boxing and packing, or No. 2, larger size, will be sent by mail, post-paid, on the same terms. Readers who desire a more complete description, together with prospectus of the Phrenological Journal, should send address on a postal card, or accept the publishers' offer, and send ten cents—half price for the Journal—to show the exact location of all the Phrenological Organs. It is a handsome ornament, well adapted for the mantel-piece, centre-table, library, or office. With the aid of this and the key which accompanies it, together with the series of articles commenced in the January No. of the Phrenological Journal on Practical Phrenology, each person may become quite familiar with the location of the different phrenological organs. It is sent by express, carefully packed, to every subscriber of the Journal, who sends in addition to two dollars, the subscription price, twenty-five cents extra for boxing and packing, or No. 2, larger size, will be sent by mail, post-paid, on the same terms. Readers who desire a more complete description, together with prospectus of the Phrenological Journal, should send address on a postal card, or accept the publishers' offer, and send ten cents—half price for the Journal—to show the exact location of all the Phrenological Organs. It is a handsome ornament, well adapted for the mantel-piece, centre-table, library, or office. With the aid of this and the key which accompanies it, together with the series of articles commenced in the January No. of the Phrenological Journal on Practical Phrenology, each person may become quite familiar with the location of the different phrenological organs. It is sent by express, carefully packed, to every subscriber of the Journal, who sends in addition to two dollars, the subscription price, twenty-five cents extra for boxing and packing, or No. 2, larger size, will be sent by mail, post-paid, on the same terms. Readers who desire a more complete description, together with prospectus of the Phrenological Journal, should send address on a postal card, or accept the publishers' offer, and send ten cents—half price for the Journal—to show the exact location of all the Phrenological Organs. It is a handsome ornament, well adapted for the mantel-piece, centre-table, library, or office. With the aid of this and the key which accompanies it, together with the series of articles commenced in the January No. of the Phrenological Journal on Practical Phrenology, each person may become quite familiar with the location of the different phrenological organs. It is sent by express, carefully packed, to every subscriber of the Journal, who sends in addition to two dollars, the subscription price, twenty-five cents extra for boxing and packing, or No. 2, larger size, will be sent by mail, post-paid, on the same terms. Readers who desire a more complete description, together with prospectus of the Phrenological Journal, should send address on a postal card, or accept the publishers' offer, and send ten cents—half price for the Journal—to show the exact location of all the Phrenological Organs. It is a handsome ornament, well adapted for the mantel-piece, centre-table, library, or office. With the aid of this and the key which accompanies it, together with the series of articles commenced in the January No. of the Phrenological Journal on Practical Phrenology, each person may become quite familiar with the location of the different phrenological organs. It is sent by express, carefully packed, to every subscriber of the Journal, who sends in addition to two dollars, the subscription price, twenty-five cents extra for boxing and packing, or No. 2, larger size, will be sent by mail, post-paid, on the same terms. Readers who desire a more complete description, together with prospectus of the Phrenological Journal, should send address on a postal card, or accept the publishers' offer, and send ten cents—half price for the Journal—to show the exact location of all the Phrenological Organs. It is a handsome ornament, well adapted for the mantel-piece, centre-table, library, or office. With the aid of this and the key which accompanies it, together with the series of articles commenced in the January No. of the Phrenological Journal on Practical Phrenology, each person may become quite familiar with the location of the different phrenological organs. It is sent by express, carefully packed, to every subscriber of the Journal, who sends in addition to two dollars, the subscription price, twenty-five cents extra for boxing and packing, or No. 2, larger size, will be sent by mail, post-paid, on the same terms. Readers who desire a more complete description, together with prospectus of the Phrenological Journal, should send address on a postal card, or accept the publishers' offer, and send ten cents—half price for the Journal—to show the exact location of all the Phrenological Organs. It is a handsome ornament, well adapted for the mantel-piece, centre-table, library, or office. With the aid of this and the key which accompanies it, together with the series of articles commenced in the January No. of the Phrenological Journal on Practical Phrenology, each person may become quite familiar with the location of the different phrenological organs. It is sent by express, carefully packed, to every subscriber of the Journal, who sends in addition to two dollars, the subscription price, twenty-five cents extra for boxing and packing, or No. 2, larger size, will be sent by mail, post-paid, on the same terms. Readers who desire a more complete description, together with prospectus of the Phrenological Journal, should send address on a postal card, or accept the publishers' offer, and send ten cents—half price for the Journal—to show the exact location of all the Phrenological Organs. It is a handsome ornament, well adapted for the mantel-piece, centre-table, library, or office. With the aid of this and the key which accompanies it, together with the series of articles commenced in the January No. of the Phrenological Journal on Practical Phrenology, each person may become quite familiar with the location of the different phrenological organs. It is sent by express, carefully packed, to every subscriber of the Journal, who sends in addition to two dollars, the subscription price, twenty-five cents extra for boxing and packing, or No. 2, larger size, will be sent by mail, post-paid, on the same terms. Readers who desire a more complete description, together with prospectus of the Phrenological Journal, should send address on a postal card, or accept the publishers' offer, and send ten cents—half price for the Journal—to show the exact location of all the Phrenological Organs. It is a handsome ornament, well adapted for the mantel-piece, centre-table, library, or office. With the aid of this and the key which accompanies it, together with the series of articles commenced in the January No. of the Phrenological Journal on Practical Phrenology, each person may become quite familiar with the location of the different phrenological organs. It is sent by express, carefully packed, to every subscriber of the Journal, who sends in addition to two dollars, the subscription price, twenty-five cents extra for boxing and packing, or No. 2, larger size, will be sent by mail, post-paid, on the same terms. Readers who desire a more complete description, together with prospectus of the Phrenological Journal, should send address on a postal card, or accept the publishers' offer, and send ten cents—half price for the Journal—to show the exact location of all the Phrenological Organs. It is a handsome ornament, well adapted for the mantel-piece, centre-table, library, or office. With the aid of this and the key which accompanies it, together with the series of articles commenced in the January No. of the Phrenological Journal on Practical Phrenology, each person may become quite familiar with the location of the different phrenological organs. It is sent by express, carefully packed, to every subscriber of the Journal, who sends in addition to two dollars, the subscription price, twenty-five cents extra for boxing and packing, or No. 2, larger size, will be sent by mail, post-paid, on the same terms. Readers who desire a more complete description, together with prospectus of the Phrenological Journal, should send address on a postal card, or accept the publishers' offer, and send ten cents—half price for the Journal—to show the exact location of all the Phrenological Organs. It is a handsome ornament, well adapted for the mantel-piece, centre-table, library, or office. With the aid of this and the key which accompanies it, together with the series of articles commenced in the January No. of the Phrenological Journal on Practical Phrenology, each person may become quite familiar with the location of the different phrenological organs. It is sent by express, carefully packed, to every subscriber of the Journal, who sends in addition to two dollars, the subscription price, twenty-five cents extra for boxing and packing, or No. 2, larger size, will be sent by mail, post-paid, on the same terms. Readers who desire a more complete description, together with prospectus of the Phrenological Journal, should send address on a postal card, or accept the publishers' offer, and send ten cents—half price for the Journal—to show the exact location of all the Phrenological Organs. It is a handsome ornament, well adapted for the mantel-piece, centre-table, library, or office. With the aid of this and the key which accompanies it, together with the series of articles commenced in the January No. of the Phrenological Journal on Practical Phrenology, each person may become quite familiar with the location of the different phrenological organs. It is sent by express, carefully packed, to every subscriber of the Journal, who sends in addition to two dollars, the subscription price, twenty-five cents extra for boxing and packing, or No. 2, larger size, will be sent by mail, post-paid, on the same terms. Readers who desire a more complete description, together with prospectus of the Phrenological Journal, should send address on a postal card, or accept the publishers' offer, and send ten cents—half price for the Journal—to show the exact location of all the Phrenological Organs. It is a handsome ornament, well adapted for the mantel-piece, centre-table, library, or office. With the aid of this and the key which accompanies it, together with the series of articles commenced in the January No. of the Phrenological Journal on Practical Phrenology, each person may become quite familiar with the location of the different phrenological organs. It is sent by express, carefully packed, to every subscriber of the Journal, who sends in addition to two dollars, the subscription price, twenty-five cents extra for boxing and packing, or No. 2, larger size, will be sent by mail, post-paid, on the same terms. Readers who desire a more complete description, together with prospectus of the Phrenological Journal, should send address on a postal card, or accept the publishers' offer, and send ten cents—half price for the Journal—to show the exact location of all the Phrenological Organs. It is a handsome ornament, well adapted for the mantel-piece, centre-table, library, or office. With the aid of this and the key which accompanies it, together with the series of articles commenced in the January No. of the Phrenological Journal on Practical Phrenology, each person may become quite familiar with the location of the different phrenological organs. It is sent by express, carefully packed, to every subscriber of the Journal, who sends in addition to two dollars, the subscription price, twenty-five cents extra for boxing and packing, or No. 2, larger size, will be sent by mail, post-paid, on the same terms. Readers who desire a more complete description, together with prospectus of the Phrenological Journal, should send address on a postal card, or accept the publishers' offer, and send ten cents—half price for the Journal—to show the exact location of all the Phrenological Organs. It is a handsome ornament, well adapted for the mantel-piece, centre-table, library, or office. With the aid of this and the key which accompanies it, together with the series of articles commenced in the January No. of the Phrenological Journal on Practical Phrenology, each person may become quite familiar with the location of the different phrenological organs. It is sent by express, carefully packed, to every subscriber of the Journal, who sends in addition to two dollars, the subscription price, twenty-five cents extra for boxing and packing, or No. 2, larger size, will be sent by mail, post-paid, on the same terms. Readers who desire a more complete description, together with prospectus of the Phrenological Journal, should send address on a postal card, or accept the publishers' offer, and send ten cents—half price for the Journal—to show the exact location of all the Phrenological Organs. It is a handsome ornament, well adapted for the mantel-piece, centre-table, library, or office. With the aid of this and the key which accompanies it, together with the series of articles commenced in the January No. of the Phrenological Journal on Practical Phrenology, each person may become quite familiar with the location of the different phrenological organs. It is sent by express, carefully packed, to every subscriber of the Journal, who sends in addition to two dollars, the subscription price, twenty-five cents extra for boxing and packing, or No. 2, larger size, will be sent by mail, post-paid, on the same terms. Readers who desire a more complete description, together with prospectus of the Phrenological Journal, should send address on a postal card, or accept the publishers' offer, and send ten cents—half price for the Journal—to show the exact location of all the Phrenological Organs. It is a handsome ornament, well adapted for the mantel-piece, centre-table, library, or office. With the aid of this and the key which accompanies it, together with the series of articles commenced in the January No. of the Phrenological Journal on Practical Phrenology, each person may become quite familiar with the location of the different phrenological organs. It is sent by express, carefully packed, to every subscriber of the Journal, who sends in addition to two dollars, the subscription price, twenty-five cents extra for boxing and packing, or No. 2, larger size, will be sent by mail, post-paid, on the same terms. Readers who desire a more complete description, together with prospectus of the Phrenological Journal, should send address on a postal card, or accept the publishers' offer, and send ten cents—half price for the Journal—to show the exact location of all the Phrenological Organs. It is a handsome ornament, well adapted for the mantel-piece, centre-table, library, or office. With the aid of this and the key which accompanies it, together with the series of articles commenced in the January No. of the Phrenological Journal on Practical Phrenology, each person may become quite familiar with the location of the different phrenological organs. It is sent by express, carefully packed, to every subscriber of the Journal, who sends in addition to two dollars, the subscription price, twenty-five cents extra for boxing and packing, or No. 2, larger size, will be sent by mail, post-paid, on the same terms. Readers who desire a more complete description, together with prospectus of the Phrenological Journal, should send address on a postal card, or accept the publishers' offer, and send ten cents—half price for the Journal—to show the exact location of all the Phrenological Organs. It is a handsome ornament, well adapted for the mantel-piece, centre-table, library, or office. With the aid of this and the key which accompanies it, together with the series of articles commenced in the January No. of the Phrenological Journal on Practical Phrenology, each person may become quite familiar with the location of the different phrenological organs. It is sent by express, carefully packed, to every subscriber of the Journal, who sends in addition to two dollars, the subscription price, twenty-five cents extra for boxing and packing, or No. 2, larger size, will be sent by mail, post-paid, on the same terms. Readers who desire a more complete description, together with prospectus of the Phrenological Journal, should send address on a postal card, or accept the publishers' offer, and send ten cents—half price for the Journal—to show the exact location of all the Phrenological Organs. It is a handsome ornament, well adapted for the mantel-piece, centre-table, library, or office. With the aid of this and the key which accompanies it, together with the series of articles commenced in the January No. of the Phrenological Journal on Practical Phrenology, each person may become quite familiar with the location of the different phrenological organs. It is sent by express, carefully packed, to every subscriber of the Journal, who sends in addition to two dollars, the subscription price, twenty-five cents extra for boxing and packing, or No. 2, larger size, will be sent by mail, post-paid, on the same terms. Readers who desire a more complete description, together with prospectus of the Phrenological Journal, should send address on a postal card, or accept the publishers' offer, and send ten cents—half price for the Journal—to show the exact location of all the Phrenological Organs. It is a handsome ornament, well adapted for the mantel-piece, centre-table, library, or office. With the aid of this and the key which accompanies it, together with the series of articles commenced in the January No. of the Phrenological Journal on Practical Phrenology, each person may become quite familiar with the location of the different phrenological organs. It is sent by express, carefully packed, to every subscriber of the Journal, who sends in addition to two dollars, the subscription price, twenty-five cents extra for boxing and packing, or No. 2, larger size, will be sent by mail, post-paid, on the same terms. Readers who desire a more complete description, together with prospectus of the Phrenological Journal, should send address on a postal card, or accept the publishers' offer, and send ten cents—half price for the Journal—to show the exact location of all the Phrenological Organs. It is a handsome ornament, well adapted for the mantel-piece, centre-table, library, or office. With the aid of this and the key which accompanies it, together with the series of articles commenced in the January No. of the Phrenological Journal on Practical Phrenology, each person may become quite familiar with the location of the different phrenological organs. It is sent by express, carefully packed, to every subscriber of the Journal, who sends in addition to two dollars, the subscription price, twenty-five cents extra for boxing and packing, or No. 2, larger size, will be sent by mail, post-paid, on the same terms. Readers who desire a more complete description, together with prospectus of the Phrenological Journal, should send address on a postal card, or accept the publishers' offer, and send ten cents—half price for the Journal—to show the exact location of all the Phrenological Organs. It is a handsome ornament, well adapted for the mantel-piece, centre-table, library, or office. With the aid of this and the key which accompanies it, together with the series of articles commenced in the January No. of the Phrenological Journal on Practical Phrenology, each person may become quite familiar with the location of the different phrenological organs. It is sent by express, carefully packed, to every subscriber of the Journal, who sends in addition to two dollars, the subscription price, twenty-five cents extra for boxing and packing, or No. 2, larger size, will be sent by mail, post-paid, on the same terms. Readers who desire a more complete description, together with prospectus of the Phrenological Journal, should send address on a postal card, or accept the publishers' offer, and send ten cents—half price for the Journal—to show the exact location of all the Phrenological Organs. It is a handsome ornament, well adapted for the mantel-piece, centre-table, library, or office. With the aid of this and the key which accompanies it, together with the series of articles commenced in the January No. of the Phrenological Journal on Practical Phrenology, each person may become quite familiar with the location of the different phrenological organs. It is sent by express, carefully packed, to every subscriber of the Journal, who sends in addition to two dollars, the subscription price, twenty-five cents extra for boxing and packing, or No. 2, larger size, will be sent by mail, post-paid, on the same terms. Readers who desire a more complete description, together with prospectus of the Phrenological Journal, should send address on a postal card, or accept the publishers' offer, and send ten cents—half price for the Journal—to show the exact location of all the Phrenological Organs. It is a handsome ornament, well adapted for the mantel-piece, centre-table, library, or office. With the aid of this and the key which accompanies it, together with the series of articles commenced in the January No. of the Phrenological Journal on Practical Phrenology, each person may become quite familiar with the location of the different phrenological organs. It is sent by express, carefully packed, to every subscriber of the Journal, who sends in addition to two dollars, the subscription price, twenty-five cents extra for boxing and packing, or No. 2, larger size, will be sent by mail, post-paid, on the same terms. Readers who desire a more complete description, together with prospectus of the Phrenological Journal, should send address on a postal card, or accept the publishers' offer, and send ten cents—half price for the Journal—to show the exact location of all the Phrenological Organs. It is a handsome ornament, well adapted for the mantel-piece, centre-table, library, or office. With the aid of this and the key which accompanies it, together with the series of articles commenced in the January No. of the Phrenological Journal on Practical Phrenology, each person may become quite familiar with the location of the different phrenological organs. It is sent by express, carefully packed, to every subscriber of the Journal, who sends in addition to two dollars, the subscription price, twenty-five cents extra for boxing and packing, or No. 2, larger size, will be sent by mail, post-paid, on the same terms. Readers who desire a more complete description, together with prospectus of the Phrenological Journal, should send address on a postal card, or accept the publishers' offer, and send ten cents—half price for the Journal—to show the exact location of all the Phrenological Organs. It is a handsome ornament, well adapted for the mantel-piece, centre-table, library, or office. With the aid of this and the key which accompanies it, together with the series of articles commenced in the January No. of the Phrenological Journal on Practical Phrenology, each person may become quite familiar with the location of the different phrenological organs. It is sent by express, carefully packed, to every subscriber of the Journal, who sends in addition to two dollars, the subscription price, twenty-five cents extra for boxing and packing, or No. 2, larger size, will be sent by mail, post-paid, on the same terms. Readers who desire a more complete description, together with prospectus of the Phrenological Journal, should send address on a postal card, or accept the publishers' offer, and send ten cents—half price for the Journal—to show the exact location of all the Phrenological Organs. It is a handsome ornament, well adapted for the mantel-piece, centre-table, library, or office. With the aid of this and the key which accompanies it, together with the series of articles commenced in the January No. of the Phrenological Journal on Practical Phrenology, each person may become quite familiar with the location of the different phrenological organs. It is sent by express, carefully packed, to every subscriber of the Journal, who sends in addition to two dollars, the subscription price, twenty-five cents extra for boxing and packing, or No. 2, larger size, will be sent by mail, post-paid, on the same terms. Readers who desire a more complete description, together with prospectus of the