LEHIGHTON, PA.: SATURDAY, FEBRUARY 16, 1878.

-A point well taken. The New York Weekly Witness puts it as follows: "Half-mast that starry flag!" Why? The Pope is dead, and Mayor Ely says that out of respect to a large body of citizens the flags on the City Hall must be displayed at half-mast, Out of respect to the Methodists, when Bishep Janes died, nobody thought then of halfmasting our city flags; but he was an American and a Protestant.

-Hon. Myer Strouse died Monday in Pottsville. He was born in Germany in 1825, came to this country in 1832, and settled in Potisville. He studied law, and from 1842 to 1852 was editor of the North American Farmer, in Philadelphia. He was elected to the Thirty-eighth Congress from the Tenth Pennsylvania District in 1862, and was re-elected to the Thirty-ninth Congress.

-The Hon. Charles M. Conrad, Secretary of War under President Fillmore, died at New Orleans on Monday. He was a native of Winchester, Va. He was an advocate of secession before the war and was a member of the Provisional Congress which met at Montgomery, Ala. In March, 1863, he offered resolutions in the Confederate Congress in favor of measures "tending to a speedy restoration of peace with all or with any of the States of the Federal Union."

-The Hon. William Welsh, brother of the American Minister to the Court of St. James, fell dead of heart-disease on Monday afternoon at Wills's Hospital, Philadelphia, at which place he was attending a meeting of the Board of City Trustees. Mr. Welsh is well known throughout as a public-spirited philanthropist. He was engaged in promoting and sustaining with his wealth various charitable institutions, was an Indian Commissioner under President Grant, and at the time of his death he was President of the Board of Directors of Girard College. He was a prominent member of the Protestant Episcopal Church,

 A cable telegram was received on Tuesday, announcing the death, at Sidmouth, England, of Rev. Dr. Alexander Duff, the well known missionary of the Free Church of Scotland. He was about 72 years of age. Dr. Duff was the first missionary of the Church of Scotland to India. He founded the Free Church College in Calcutta, where, it is stated, over 1000 native students have been receiving an education. Since his return from India, he has been Professor of Evangelistic Theology in the Free Church College, Edinburgh. Dr. Duff was a man speaker. He visited this country in 1854, and made many friends in Amercia.

-Gideon Wells, ex-Secretary of the Navy, died in Hartford, Conn., Monday evening from the effects of a carbancle, after four weeks' illness. He was born in Glastenbury, Connecticut, on July 1st, 1802, was educated chiefly at the Norwich University of Vermont, and studied law. In 1826 he became the editor of the Hartford Times, from 1827 to 1835 was a member of the Connecticut Legislature; served for a short time as Comptroller of Public Accounts, and was Postmaster of Hartford from 1836 to 1841. having been appointed by President Jack-son. In 1842 he was made Comptroller of the State, and from 1846 to 1849 had charge of a Bureau in the Navy Department. He was a delegate to the Chicago Convention in 1860, and in 1861 he went into President Lincoln's Cabinet as Secretary of the Navy. For thirty years before becoming Secretar he was an occasional contributor to the Hartford Press, the New York Evening Post, and the Washington Globe and Union.

Hell.

The question of eternal punishment still continues to be the theme of discussion in some of the New York pulpits. The views of the eminent divines who have unburdened themselves are rather conflicting. Below we give some of the important points of the subject, as touched by clergy of the metropolitan pulpits on Sunday. Rev. Thomas S. Preston, of St. Ann's Church, on Sunday morning, said, among other things, "that the distribution of the rewards and punishments by God in this life is unequal, and that, therefore, there is a life beyond the grave where God's justice shall be magnified; that the wicked are to be punished beyond this life; they are to be burned with unquenchable fire; the punishment of hell is eternal; the fire of hell is a material corporeal fire." In concluding his discourse the reverend gentleman said; "In the first place let me state that it is evident to any man that there can be no food without law. We can not conceive of an intelligent agent without law or a code of morals, much less can you conceive of a God without law. There is no law that can exist without the sanction of rewards and punishments, and, therefore, God does govern by rewards and punishments. Now, rewards and punishments are unequally distributed in this life. This life does not satisfy the justice of God, nor demonstrate the equality of His government, and, therefore, there is a life beyond the grave, where the intelligent agent who has been wicked shall be punished, and another shall be rewarded according to God's justice."

At the Church of Our Saviour (Sixth burned with unquenchable fire; the pun-

At the Church of Our Saviour (Sixth Universalist Society), Rev. James M. Pullman preached from the words found in Isalah xiv., 18-22. During his sermon Rev. Pullman said: "The great question, if the Divine Being is capable of perfecting the souls He created, is what is now to be dealt with here. We Universalists believe that the Old and New Testaments contain assirtances that He is. We believe that God will finally restore the whole of mankind to holimess and happiness, and in this we show that we appreciate God as a being of morry and compassion, and not a monster of cruelty and injustice." The subject of the sermon was "John Hall's Mistake—Review of a Discourse on Probation and Punishment." The reverend gentleman said Dr. Hall's "Calvinism drives him to the doctrine of God's impotency in declaring substantially that it is beyond His power to take the dead and unregenerate sinner and place him in the way of ultimate redemption and happiness." He remarked that "Dr. Hall's mistake consists chiefly in limiting the sovereignty and moral perfection of the Almighty and the saving efficacy of Christ, and in assuming that the death of the body changes the relation of God to the soul."

Bev. J. J. Muir, of the Macdougal Street

Rev. J. J. Muir, of the Macdougal Street Baptist Church, said in his discourse that there was a future punishment, sustaining there was a nature punishment, sustaining his argument by quotations from the Bible, and also the laws which govern himan mature. As to the nature of this punishment he said, "Speculation can not solve the question. God, who knows the future, can solve that problem." When scotlers can tell what sin is, then he, the speaker, would describe the nature of the hell of the dammed.

Rev. E. H. Chapin preached from the words found in Romans i., 25. He said: "No man was ever made better by punishment. I can not conceive of endless punishment, because I don't believe in endless evil, for that can not be unless Christ is conquered."

Here is a Roman Catholic editor's opinm. It is to the point, to say the least of it: "All the preaching adulterers and perjurers in America, or in the whole world, with all their blowing, can not make hell less awful, less sure, or less eternal, than God Almighty has made it for these who die out of His

How the News of the Pope's Death Was Reecived in Washington-A Turkish Lion at Our Republican Court-A Practical Joke on the Newspaper Correspondents-Kellogy in a New Role-Balls, Parties, and Society

Washington, D. C., February 9, 1878. The Pope's death, the " British Position," the trial of the Louisiana Returning Board, and the investigation of Poor-keeper Polk, have formed the leading topics of interest and conversation during the past week. A majority of the Corps Diplomatique being Catholics, the passing away of Pope Pius Catholics, the passing away of Pope Pius IX, although an event long foreshadowed, created no little excitement phere, and was the cause of the postponement of several brilliant fetes that were to have come off during the coming week. Only the members of the Italian Legation (consisting of Baron Blane and Count Litta), however, have donned crape as a part of their uniforms, a broad, black band of this material being tied around the left arm just above the elbew; but it was noticed that at the reception given by Professor Henry, at the being tied around the left arm just above the elbew; but it was noticed that at the reception given by Professor Henry, at the Smithsonian Institution, on the evening of the day when the first authentic news of the death of the Pops was received here, Madame Mantilla, the wife of the Spanish Minister, had discarded her magnificent diamonds, and wore in their place black jet jeweiry. Her white cashmene robe was also trimined with black as a mark of respect to the memory of the dead Pontiff.

At the Department of State considerable curiosity is resulting to the the Mantilla of the Russian Minister, and Sir Edward Thornton, the British Representative, do not appear to have suffered from the recent complications, newspaper gossip to the contrary not withstanding; and at the diamer to be given this evening by Sir Edward Thornton, the the members of the Diplomatic Corps, both the Russian and Turkish Ambassadors have been invited. As Aristarchey Bey is at present in New York, he will probably be represented on this occasion by Baltarzi Effendi, his first Secretary of Legation, a sprightly little Turk, closely related to the Sulkan, and who dresses in exquisite style, is married to a Paristan lady, and speaks half a dozen languages besides his matice Turkish. Baltazzi, notwithstanding the fact that he is a married man with one wife here and probably some dozens more in Constantinople, is a great favorite with the fact that he is a married man with one wife here and probably some dozens more in Constantinople, is a great favorite with the fact that he is a married man with one wife here and probably some dozens more in Constantinople, is a great favorite with the fact that he is a married man with one wife here that the order to supplie the sufference of the preser up of the government of the proser upon the conference. While probably in was perpetrated by one of these little jokes that newspaper men delight to induse in was perpetrated by one of the members of the country appear to have impaired his gescinature or take for chartreuse to any remark able degrae!

Last week one of those little jokes that newspaper men delight to indulge in was perpetrated by one of the "members of the press" upon his conferes. While standing in the lobby of the Riggs House (the most fashionable hotel here), the idea struck him to register the name of J. Madison Wells, of the late Louisiana Returning Board, upon the register. Walking up to the counter, he wrote, in a large, hold hand,

"J. Madison Wells,

and then withdrew to a corner of the lobby to watch the result. In the course of the evening a number of correspondents dropped in, who, seeing this name on the register, sent up their earls, and, while waiting below, went to the hotel telegraph office, and telegraphed to their respective journals the important news of the arrival of ex-Governor Wells, whose whereabouts had long been a mystery, in Washington. Meanwhile, somehow or other, ex-Governor Packard, who boards at the rame hotel, had been let into the secret, and the cards were taken to his room. He summoned the anxious correspondents to his room, one by one, and blandly informed thom that Mr. Wells had gone round to see Senator Kellogg on brainess of an important nature, and could be found at the residence of the latter on G street. Thither the quilt-drivers went, to be informed, in turn, by Mr. Kellogg, that he had not seen Mr. Wells, and knew nathing whatever about him. The newspaper men were increduleus; there was the mane on the register of the Riggs House, and there was Governor Packard, who had distinctly sated that Mr. Wells had certainly arrived in Washington, and was at that mament clossted with Senator Kellogg's house. The result was more dispatches and the papers far and near; and the wires were kept Jusy for mere than two hours informing the people of the United States that Mr. Wells had certainly arrived in Washington, and was at that mament clossted with beat jeeds and other missiles from his best-r

President Hayes's reception; a truly Demo

President Hayes's reception; a truly Democratic "crush," where struggling hundreds vainly sought admittance, and the Chief Magniterial hand was made the test of smiling fortitude sufficient to have sustained Montrose on the scaffold. The East room must have shown scattered relics of torn finery equal to such exhibitions in President Lincoln's time.

As next in importance, in scale of social affairs, came the ball given by the Japoness Muister, Mr. Yeshida, and his wife, a bewitching little Japaness who has a baby three menths old, speaks Franch fluently (that is, she, not the baby), and English tolerably well. She told me she was going to teach the baby English in honor of his (it's a bey) being form in the United States.

This evening Senstor and Mrs. Blaine will commence a series of Saturiay nine o'clock receptions, on which occasion Mes. Blaine will be assisted by Miss Dedge, better known as "Gail Hamilton." Just now the season is at its height, and, assisted by the exceptionally fine weather, the national capitol presents a scene of gayety by day and evening that centainly can not be asserted. capitol presents a scene of gayety by day and evening that certainly can not be sur-passed, if equaled, by any other American city.
