The Cause of Communism.

For weeks there have been demonstrations of the restiveness which pervades the class of people who call themselves workingmen. In San Francisco, St. Louis, Chi-cago, Cleveland, New York, Schuylkill County, and other towns and communities societies have been formed. From accounts of the doings of the members of these organizations it would seem that they have been formed with the intention of shedding blood. In Western cilies, when asked why they were drilling with firearms, the reply was something like this: "We are preparing to defend ourselves." It is true that men are drilling with firearms, no matter how much the would-be conservative citizens may laugh at the idea. Is there any necessity for these Communistic demonstrations? There may be. But there should be no cause whatever. "It is not to the discredit," says a writer, "of any element in society to say that suffering and privation resulting from involuntary idleness inevitably result in making any class of men desperate and dangerous. There are Com-munists in every land who are such by reason of innate wickedness or perverted teaching. These are powerless, by reason of the smallness of their number, in times of prosperity." The time when they are most successful is when business is depressed; when rolling-mills, blast furnaces, and foundries are idle; when hungry humanity, wee and want, sin and suffering, are real things. "This is all the argument of any man of sense needs to understand why the spirit of Communism is abroad in this land to-day, and why it must continue to spread unless an improvement of the times comes soon." " Hard " times are the cause of Communism. Now, then, what is the cause of the hard times? Is there a remedy for the depression which pervades the land? We year after year send men to our State Legislatures and to Congress. They are to make laws that will promote the general welfare of the citizens of the United States. If they had done, and would do, their duty, it is more than likely that we would to-day not be suffering the way we are.

Dishonesty has caused the hard times, Dishonesty has reigned almost supremely throughout the populous North, the sunny South, the intellectual East, the great West ; in short, though true Americans may blush with shame when they think of it, throughout the whole United States. We can go back a few years, and, with memory's aid, bring before our minds the Credit Mobilier, and the rascality, bribery, and perjury connected with it; the Tammany Ring and the attendant corruption; the Whisky Rings; Robeson and the millions squandered and stolen by him; Belknap, the thief and extortioner. Coming down to more recent events, we have Hayes's induction into office; the deceptions of Morton, of Philadelphia; the Fall River thieves, who, while they could not find money to pay wages for which their employees asked, found thousands of dollars for themselves; and the numerous defaulting bank officials. There are many, many similar cases. The ones we have cited will more than suffice. however. What a dirty record ! The saddest thing is that the end is not yet. A secretary of war, a secretary of the navy, a vice-president and a president of the Union tainted with dishonesty! The man who holds the highest office with which the American people can honor any one, reduced to a level with the professional tramp who pleads poverty or ill health so that he may got money to get drunk ! A vice-president lowered by his own actions to the status of severely punish those who practice it. A republican form of government is the best; but even that which is most beautiful and most durable may be ruined if the destroyer is not checked. As long as perjury, bribery, larceny, burglary, defaulting, extortion, and fraud go unpunished, that long will the commission of these wrongs continue: that long will we have hard times; that long will Communistic principles endure. If the better class of citizens become more earnest in electing good, pure, honest men to offices and positions of honor and trust; if they give the persons elected real support in the performance of their duties, -we may hope for better legislation, for a more strict and proper enforcing of our laws.

and for better time Let Truth rise, and, with her heel, crush the head of the serpent Dishonesty.

-A good many people seem to have accepted the advice, " go West," so frequently repeated during the last few years of hard times in the large cities. The Kansas papers have recently recorded the arrival of thousands of emigrants daily at the railroad centres of that State, and it is reported that the Union Pacific Railroad has already sold, in 1878, land to the value of $538,000, although the sales for the first four months of 1877 amounted to only $46,000. If those who are able to go West and begin farming with some prospects of success do so, they will make room here for those who cannot afford to go, even though farms should be given to them. This is one of the best forms of relief for the hard times that come from an over supply of labor and an under supply of employment, and, with other remedies consequent upon the movement, will help to restore the old-time equilibrium between the two.

-S. M. Pettingill & Co., advertising agents, Now York, will please accept our thanks for a copy of their "Newspaper Directory and Advertisers' Hand Book for 1878." It is neatly printed, and contains all the information desired by those for whom the book is intended-valuable to the publisher of a newspaper as to the general advertiser. The book is handsomely embelished with faithful portraits of S. M. Pettingill, the publisher : Geo. W. Childs, Hon. Bayard Taylor, Bret Harte, the late James Gordon Bennett, and the late Samuel Bowles.

-Low prices mean low wages for producers, so that it is not necessarily a matter for rejoicing when one finds a failing market But at a time when many men and women are unemployed, and when wages for the employed are exceedingly low, it is worth while to note that quotations at the Produce Exchange show a corresponding shrinkage. Mess pork sold in New York on Monday at $8.40 per barrel, and prime Western lard for $6 75 per 100 pounds for June delivery. These are the lowest prices quoted in May during the last twenty-three years.

-The State Executive Committee of the National-Greenback-Labor party met in Harrisburg Tuesday, and accepted the decli nations of Benjamin S. Bentley, the nominee for Justice of the Supreme Court, and Christopher Shearer, the nominee for Lieutenant Governor. Judge Bentley's letter of declination expresses strong sympathy for the principles of the party. The Committee unanimously nominated Hon. Daniel Agnew for Justice of the Supreme Court, and Daniel M. Steck, of Lycoming county, for Lieutenant Governor. A resolution complimentary to Judge Bentley was adopted, after which the committee adjourned.

-The necessity of providing means for the safe keeping of silver at the New York Sub-Trensury, where most of the coin deposited for silver certificates will be kept, has required the construction of a large silver vault there. This new building is 47 feet high, and will hold $50,000,000 in silver when finished. The cost of its construction about $20,000, including the doors and pays the printer, grocer, or clothier! their levers. The floor of the vault will be iron and steel, two inches thick, and under this will be four feet thickness of concrete, who, having the money, neve Speaking of the payment of debts, we here give something from the Lehanon Courier that all honest people will indorse :

Any one who has observed the legislation of this country, for some years mat, State and National, pertaining to debtors and creditors, must have been struck with the large amount of it that was calculated to in-teriere with the obligations of contracts, and the little of it that was calculated to help honest creditors obtain their dues. Under the plate of heridations for the "more rune" the little of it that was calculated to help honest creditors obtain their dues. Under the place of legislating for the "peor man", commercial honesty has been almost de-stroyed. The law, instead of being an in-strument to enforce contracts and encourage honesty between citizens, has been a ready help to baffle fair dealing and a most effect-ive aid to all those who chease to resort to dishonest practices. Honest debta could not be collected according to agreement; while sharpers, with fortunes in their possessions, have been able to smap their fingers at their creditors, and, through the facilities pre-sented by the bankrupt and other laws, could wipe out their indebtedness and start on a fresh campain for making obligations which they never intended to pay. We could name using fact making obligations which they never intended to pay. We could name using cases where men lave gone through the bankrupt law, while liv-ing in princely style, and, as soon as their obligations were anceled, starting out again as if their credit had never been affected. The repeal of the law which embled this to be done is a proper thing, but the repeal should immediately be followed by legisla-tion to encourage honesty in the business world, and protect honest creditors in their rights. Unless there be legislation of this kind, there will be no diminution of success-fal macality. Throogh preferences, &c, there will be no affect for country new want legislation that shall be some guarhonest business interests of the country now want legislation that shall be some guar-antes of honest dealing between man and man. We have had a surfeit of the other man. kind.

Low, deceptive knavishness, want of integrity, violations of trust, tarnishing treachery and unchastity, have become too common. Vile, dispitable Dishonesty has reigned too long. ## Youthful Depredators.

Youthful Depredators. En. CARDON ADVOCATE.—It appears from recent occurrences brought to light, that we have in our midds a gang of young boys, be-tween the ages of ten and fifteen years, liv-ing in the upper part of Lehighton, who are becoming adepts in the art of petty theiving. Last week they went so far is to take two very fine base balls worth $2.50 and some hase hall bets from one place of business, and another citizen had a duck stolen from his promises; fortunately their losses were dis-covered in time, and the property traced to the young rogues, and, under conditions, that they would not be brought up for it, they were induced to return the goods. We hear also of liquor, beer, eggs, &r., being tolen almost daily. We would want these boys, however, that they are known and any repetition of these offences will bring upon them the full power of the law, for they are ad enough to know better. We would contine their nearms, and business, and enough to known better. them the till power of the law, for they are add enough to know better. We would caution their parents and business men in particular to be on their guard, in order that this pilfering may be abolished, and we hope the lesson will not be lost on the boys themselves, but that it will at least teach them that detection and exposure will be EQUITT.

The only way to end dishonesty is to May 22, 1878.
