restful night, retiring at about eleven, and arose at five Tuesday morning. At seven he was visited by Fathers Gallagher and Bren-nan, whs remained with him until his death. The town was free from excitement, very few people arriving in the morning trains, and nothing indicated the judicial tragedy but the collection of a curious crowd around the prison entrance, which was strongly guarded by Coal and Iron police. Within the walls all the preparations had been made at an early hour. The gallows was erected on a spot at the eastern end of the yard, where six Mollies expinted their crimes a year ago. At 10.20 a pro-cession composed of Sheriff Mata and Ward-en King, the prisoner, supported by the two Priests and followed by the jury of 12 men, emerged from the door of the prison and walked slowly down the pavement to the gallows. Donnelly repeated the prayers as dictated by his spiritual advisors and mount-ed the gallows with a firm trend. As he stood on the fatal trap he passionately kiss-ed a cruefix which hung from a string around his neck, until the Deputy Sheriff pinioned his arms and the cap was drawn over his head. In eight minutes life was extinct. After hanging for fifteen minutes the body was taken down and removed to the depot, where a special train provided by the Philadelphia and Reading Railroad Co. conveyed it to Girardvills for interment. At this point the matter of granting to the District Attorney a not. pros. in the case of Thomas Durkin, claimed the attention of the court. The defense had been instructed put their reasons in writing. They did id the reasons, as sworn to by Thos. Durkin, are given below : First. That he has already been in confinement over more than two regular terms of the court of Oyer and Terminer of this ounty. Second. That, if the Commonwealth after this lapse of time is not ready to try the prisoner, he is justly and legally entitled to his discharge as provided by the act of as-

Third. That he is prepared, and has been prepared ever since the first time of his ac-rest, and is now ready to go to trial, and de-mands from the court either his absolute dis-charge or trial before a jury, to which the law entities him. aw entitles him.

To the objections of the defense, the Dist. Atorney replied that two regular terms at which the defondant might have been tried had not passed, that the April term was ex-hausted in the trial of James McDonnell and

Charles Sharpe. Wednesslay morning the court, after hav-ing held the matter under advisement, granted the mattion of the District Attorney, and allowed him to enter a nolle p

To this ruling of the Court the defendant excepted, and prayed the Court to seal for him a bill of exception, which was granted. Freeman Woodland, larceny, was the next case called. H. J. Woodring, prosecu-tion.

Monoah Shockeney, Harry Header, and Charles W. Gray were in two indictments, charged with largeny. Defendants pleaded guilty, asking that permission be given them to make statements. After hearing their statements, the court allowed them until the middle of next week to pay the costs.

THURSDAY.

THURBOAY. The jury, in the case of Commonwealth ws. Freeman Woodland, although they were-out all night, could not agree upon a ver-dict. The court discharged the jury. Thursday morning the grand jury pre-sented their report to the court. The docu-ment reads as follows: "Mauce Curxis, June 13, 1878. "To the Honomble the Judges of Quarter Semions of the Peace in and for the county of Carbon: of Carbon :

The grand inquest of the common wealth of Pennsylvania, inquiring for the county of Carbon in all matters relating to the same, do respectfully report that they have acted upon seven bills of indictment, of train, and held to bail in $1,500, and arrived home again early in the evening. Mr. Landy considers the whole affair as a piece of political persecution, and his worst ene-mies must allow that there are some things very inexplicable connected with the matter, which makes two sides to the question. Time may unravel the whole affair and put things in a shape that will shed a light upon it, different to what has been seen in the comfinition and aveilagement thes has reasolided confusion and excitement that has prevailed during the late few days,-Purker's Ma-hanoy Record.

The Coal Trade.

The Coal Trade. The anthracite cost trade continues the same encouraging aspect it bore at the time of our last week's notice. The impression is steadily strengthening that the output of ceal for 15% will be larger than the largest of the estimates two months ago. If this shall prove true, all that this paper has asid in reference to the encouraging monings of in references to the ensurriging promise of the trade will be more than realized, and this result may be made the basis of the rebins for the second sec
