LEHIGHTON, PA.: SATURDAY, AUGUST 10, 1878.

-A meeting of the Republican County Committee is called for August 20th, and a full attendance requested. The meeting will be held in the Gazette office, Mauch Chunk, at 2 o'clock p. m.

-It is positively asserted by those who profess to know, that the Greenbackers of Carbon county intends to diet themselves on onions from now until election in order to make a good show of strongth in the confest for official pap!

-Pension Agents have received orders from Washington requiring all widows drawing personal pensions to be accommulanied by two witnesses able to prove that the widow has not been married since the previous payment. There are 2500 of the claims on the list, requiring the personal attendance of 7500 persons.

-The Democratic Convention, of Schuylkill county, met Monday in Pottsville, and nominated the following ticket:

Congress-John W. Ryon. Congress—John W. Pyon. Treasurer—Louis Stoffregan, Prothonotary—Thos. F. Kerns. Recorder—John A. Reilly. Register—Richard Rahn. Clerk of Court—O. J. Aregood.

-A Washington correspondent says the United States Treasurer is daily in receipt of letters from bankers in all parts of the country, the tenor of which is generally expressed in the following, received on Saturday from an Eastern bank :

"Is there any way of using our surplus silver with the Department? We are mak-ing stremous efforts to float it, but find it a great undertaking. The discount and freight is too heavy too pass it over to the brokers."

The Treasurer is obliged to answer that he has no use for it, and cannot drain the glutted market in the Western States, and particularly in Kansas, Iowa and Missouri. There is wailing over the amount of trade dollars and Mexican dollars which have accumulated in these parts, and which can no longer be circulated except at their value in bullion.

-A special from Washington to the New York Times says the Pacific Railroad Companies affected by the recent land decision of Secretary Schurz have formed a combination, and propose an active resistance. They have issued a circular informing all parties that any attempt to pre-empt their lands under the decision of the Interior Department will be resisted and the parties ejected. They also give notice of their purpose to ignore what they term "the so-ealied decision of the Secretary of the Interior," and that they will continue the sale of lands as heretofore, at prices fixed by the respective companies. It is probable a test case will be made shortly in order to have the question at issue adjudicated by the courts. Numerous applicants are being received at the Interior Department from persons desiring to pre-empt under Secretary Schurz's decision, asking for information as to the character and location of the unsold lands, No steps have as yet been taken to furnish the information asked, and applicants are simply supplied with printed copies of the Secretary's decision.

Freezidero Palace—From the Time of Adam to Edison—Relies and Carlosities of all Ages and from all Opentries-Americans Abroast.

Panis, July 20; 1878. The right wing of the Frocadero palace, he annex to the Main building, is devoted to antiquities, which have been so arranged as to give a connected view of the progressive development of the arts, and form a fitting introduction to their present advanced condition. Even the pre-historic relics of the human race are displayed there to complete the feries. The Exposition is thus not nly of the present, but of the past. It gives the history of human labor in various countries from the earliest periods, and becomes o a great degree an exposition of mental dereforment of the human race. It is impossible to pass successively from the inpection of the implements of stone, bronze, iron and finally of steel, without recognizing a progressive development of humanity. The galleries of the antiquities makes the Exhibition an unwritten history of civilization which every one can read, of whatever nation or language. It attracts the peasant and the scholar, and teaches history and philosophy by the contrast of the productions of human labor of all periods and countries.

The French exhibit is the most complete as a whole, and is divided by partitions into a series of halls or apartments, so as to more distinctly mark the different periods.

a series of bails or apartments, so as to more distinctly mark the different periods. The pre-historic period is brought holdly forward by the extensive collections which have been made in various parts of Europe during the past ten years such as implements of stone from the bone caverus, peat bogs, and from the lake dwellings, of Switzerland. The cases are filled with normous spear heads of flints, listchets and other rudely made implements formed by chipping and without polish. These occur in association with the bones and teeth of the extinct eave bear, the elephant, and the mandom, and specimens of these are displayed in the same cases. These rudely-made implements are supposed to belong to the first or earliest stone period. A second or later period of the stone age is indicated by implements of a superior fluish; such as were ground down to the smooth surfaces and in zone instances polished. The next hall contains instruments of the broize period, cavening to the taille Roman. The objects consist shiefly of enting instruments, agricultural implements and ceating instruments, agricultural implements, lamps, and objects of ernament, such as bracelets of brome and of gold, rings, and pins. Of the latter a large cellection contains pins with a shield for the points, and a spiral spring at the back almost identical in form with some of the patent pins of the present day.

The next half is devoted to the Celtic and The next hall is devoted to the Celtic and Gallic relies, and contains the remarkable golden necklaces from the moseum of Toulouse. The representation of the work of the middle ages is characterized by a variety of church ornaments and relies, such as oak chests, seals, cashets, croators, broaxes so with masses of rock-crystal, like those of China and Japan; ivory carvings, illuminated missuls of vellum swords and chain armor.

The fifth hall contains objects of the sixteenth century, or the Renaissance period.

Here are found curiously fashioned from locks and keys, cutting instruments, jewels and a few nearly sperical watches. The cuamels of Luneges occupies a large space and come in great part from the collection of Baron Rothschild.

of Baron Rothschild.

At the entrance of the sixth hall, repre-senting the arts of the seventeenth and eigh-teenth centuring a curious collection of high-heeled boots and shows attract considerable attention. Here also are seen the faisances of attention. Here also are seen in manness of Bouen, and the production of the renowned. Pallissay, old furniture, mirrors, inlaid cabi-nets, black letter books, and specineus of book-builting. The cellections of this period are continued in the halls beyond, and esciare continued in the halls beyond, and contains the percelains of Sevres, righly wrought table services of silver, tapestries, ministures, souff boxes, thread-lace and claborately decorated fans. Although the collection of antiquities as a whole is very large and interesting it can not be regarded as a complete exhibit of the progress of human labor up to the present time. up to the present titue. The wonderful advances made in the mechanical arts of the present titue. The wonderful advances made in the mechanical arts of the present century and the various applications of misnes to the arts, are not instorically shown. The collection is also deficient in representations of the ancient arts, and civilization of China, Japan, of Egypt, Mexico, Central America, and Poru.

Somebody has said, that Americans make the bast Frenchmen of all the forcipuers who flock here from all parts of the globe; and what I have seen of our beloved countrymen abroad, I am inclined to believe that such is really the fact. The English are always English, and promenade in London styles and the Res de Recols, affect nothing but dogcarts and drags on the Boulvaria and in the Res de Recols, affect nothing but dogcarts and drags on the Boulvaria and in the Bas de Boulegne, and, when they condessend to learn French, never make it without the peculiar mass cockney (wang of Picadilly, The Russians, of whom there are always a large colony here, are intensity Russ; in everything, and spend more money on diamonds, champagne, and questionable women, than all the other foreigners put together. The Germans, of whom we have also a great many here, are, as a rule, of an economical turn of mind; patronize cheap restaurants and thrivi-class hetels, and assimilate with nothing as readily as beer. They are the least popular of all the foreigners fairs, for Paris has not yet forgotten 1871. But an American has not been a week in Paris before he waxes his monstache, buys a plug hat of the latest Parisan style at Chaptills, sports lavender kids and a whole bone cane with an ivery leg for a handle, wears marrow trowers, and lightly-fitting cheviot suck-coat and patent leather boots, and says "as piansite" and "pardon seconds, during, every live minutes.
