Over the Bushkill Falls.

A Milford, Pa., dispatch of the 19th inst. says: On Saturday afternoon last Mr. George compton, proprietor of a summer boarding house near the Delaware Water Gap, accom-panied by his wife and daughter and several guests, drove to Bushkill, in Pike County, to visit the numerous retreats in that romantic section. Reaching Hushkill, the party set out on foot for a tour of inspection. Having visited the smaller points of interest, the Bushkill Falls were next sought. At the cataract the party separated, some going further up the stream. Mr. Compton, his wife, and daughter remained. Miss Josephine Compton, who was only 17 vears of age, carelessly waited to the edge of the cataract, and while peering over the rocks into the seething waters 120 feet below, she kind the balance, and, uttering a piercing scream, plunged heading down the rocky abys. Her mother, simust frantic with grief, was with great difficulty prevented from jumping after her. Mr. Compton histoned to the bottom of the falls, and there found his daughter feebly combating with the rough waters. Without a moment's hesitation he plunged into the stream and rescued her. isit the numerous retreats in that romanti plunged into the stream and rescated her. As he stepped from the water with his daughter in his arms, the mother arrived upon the scene, and, at sight of her bruised child, wrung her hands and fell back in a fainting fit. A physician was summoned, whe pronounced the girl's injuries fatal. She was bruised and mangled from her head to her feet. She was taken home, where at last accounts she lay in a critical state, with no hops of recovery. The Bushkill Falls are a noted resort for city people, who yearly spend the heated term at the numerous retreats throughout the Delaware Valley, and never within the recollection of the oldest inhabitants has an accident before occurred to any person of the thousands who have visited them. plunged into the stream and researd her.

Eo. Carros Arvocare:—Permit one, and in doing so I express the sentiments of many, to insert a few lines in your paper relative to the Register and Recordership. Three conventions have siready been held and a fourth, the Republican, will be beld the 17th inst. Among these to be nominated, is that of Register and Recorder. For that office we propose the name of a gentleman, who is highly and favorably spoken of, viz, Samuel R. Gilham, of Franklin township. Mr. Gilham, is a school teacher, and has followed that profession for about ten ship. Mr. Gilham, is a school teacher, and has followed that profession for about ten years, teaching respectfully at Franklin, Weissport and Lehighton, at which latter place he is now employed. He has always been a Republican, working for the interest of his party, and never asked for an office. Mr. Gilham is honest, capable and upright, and well worthy to fill the position in every respect. Nothing can be said against him. and well worthy to fill the position in every respect. Nothing can be said against him. During his entire career among us, as a teacher he has shown himself a gentleman in every sense of the word, as is attested by his promotion from that of a country school teacher to that of the graded schools of Weissport and Lehighton. He is held in the highest estem by his fellows. He is a man of the people and for the people, and if nominated his election is certain. He is de-serving, of the psende, irrespective of marty. serving, of the people, irrespective of party, wherever he is known, they desire his nomi-nation for the office of Register and Recorder. As to the remarks made to punishment, we say as before, "we have heard it" referring to the charge that our teachers (one in particular) are not satisfactory. I wish only to say, that there could not have been any great objection (if any at all) to the teacher referred to in particular, for the cry of every perent that sent a child to this ansatisfactory teacher, was, we want our old teacher back for the coming term, and a paper signed by teacher, was, we want our old teacher back for the coming term, and a paper signed by them was presented to the Board, asking them to reappoint this unsatisfactory teach-er? said paper was brought before the Board after a certain party circulated reports, ("very likely the same reports that surprised "Anon,") which we were informed by a re-spectable neighbor of the teacher they were false, he knowing the teacher from child-hood.

As to "Anon's" generosity to our last year's teachers, I think they all have seen enough in print to judge for themselves.

I admit that I am no careful and studied writer "like Anon," but, it is my own fault. I attended public schools only half the time, I had not the means to attend private schools. As regards personality, I have no particular desire to attack any one, but if attacked will of course defend myself. I am not in the habit of having false assertions put in papers, but wish it to be understood that I do not like to see facts diputed.

DEATH IN THE MINE.

281 Lives Lost in a Welsh Colliery. Loxnon, Sept. 12, 1878.—England is now passing through an era of secidents of the most dreadful nature. The excitement and anguish caused by the sinking of the excur-sion boat Princess Alice on the Thames has not suisided to any appreciable degree when close upon it comes, to-night, the news of a terrible colliery accident in Wales. To the horrors of this new calamity England will awake in a few hours. The disaster occurred yesterday afternoon at Ebbw Vale colliery, Absrearn, near Newport, in Mon-mouthshire. There were 371 men in the pit when the explosion of coal gas occurred, and at the latest accounts, dated nine o'clock last ening, only ninety miners had been res

The pit is still on fire and the burning gas eccasionally bursts out from the mouth of the ventilating shaft. Search parties have been able to penetrate only a few yards into the main entrance to the mine, where into the main entrance to the mine, where they encountered eighteen dead horses in the stables. Beyond this point the fallen timbers and the blazing wood-work and coal gas effectually bar the way.

This disaster is the most terrible that has ever occurred in Wales. The scenes at the mouth of the pit are indescribable. Frantic women who have relatives in the mines are kneeling about the shaftway calling hysterically for the men who are known to have saily for the men who are known to have gone into the mine, but who answer not to their names. The last nine men rescued from the pit at about eight o'clock were badly burned, some of them, indeed, terribly disfigured. The dead body of a boy, one of the drivers, has been recovered. There is hardly any hope entertained that more of the miners are yet alive, although it is assertthe miners are yet alive, although it is asserted that there is a distant part of the pit in which refuge may have been found from the flames. The poisonous gases, however, would soon penetrate even to the most distant place of refuge and render breathing impossible.

According to the latest advices the pit is According to the managers are discussing the propriety of flooding it, as it seems certain all the men are either burned to death or suffocated. The flooding will probably be briefly delayed until the last hope that any are alive is extinguished. The bably be briefly delayed until the last hope that any are alive is extinguished. The number of the dead is estimated at two hundred and eightly. Two of the rescued have since died from their burns. Others are in a precarious condition. There is not the slightest hope of rescuing any more alive, as the workings are very intricate and extend over three nuiles. So far only about seven corpses have been recovered. The explosion occurred soon after noon. Those on the bank knew it by a rumbling noise and the ascent of a dense volume of smoke. All the people in the district rushed to the pit mouth in consternation.

consternation. Reverting to the first of the recent calamities, I was informed to-night that 628 bod-ies had been recovered from the Princes Alice and from the river. Cannon were fired over the Thanes at Woolwich, yesterday afternoon, to bring up corpses. Several bodies were recovered in that way. From the above it will be seen that England has her griefs and her burdens of wee to carry as well as the United States.
