The Coal Combination.

A Philadelphia dispatch of the Sth Inst., says. At the last meeting of the Board of Control of the coal combination Dr. Linderman, representing the Lehigh interests, request to vote to continue the present compact until the 1st of April. He stated that his colleague, Mr. Wilber, and himself were not authorized to act for a date subsequent to the end of the year. He amounced, however, that a Lehigh trade meeting would be called to determine the question as to their ever, that a Lehigh trade meeting would be called to determine the question as to their pontinuance. There is a great dissatisation among the Lehigh men as to the present method of carrying out the compact. The Lehigh producers declare that their limit of production under the scale of the Board of Control is entirely inadequate. They are in favor of a continuance of the combination, but will imast upon a medification of their proportion of shipments. The present dissatisfaction may result in the dissolution of the combination at the end of the year unless the other corporations will yield to the demands of the Lehigh, which has always been the obstrepersus element in the Board.

A Church Quarrel Settled.

A despatch from Pottsville, Pa., says: About three months ago a serious quarrel arose in the Polish Roman Catholic congregation in Shenandonh, Pa., which is presided over by Rev. Z. Alexander Lenarckwiez. The poster and a majority of the congregation are from Poland proper, and use the dialect of that country, while a strong minority are Lithuanians, and speak Lettish. The latter demanded that a portion of the services should be conducted in their native tongue, but the majority refused to consent to this. The dispute grew more and more bitter, until finally, one Sunday morning in A despatch from Pottsville, Pa., says About three months ago a serious quarre tter, until finally, one Sunday morning is bitter, until finally, one Sunday morning in July, the poster, on reaching his church, found the gete locked and guarded by about 20 women, supported by a strong body of the disaffected males of the congregation. The Chief Burgess was called on to disperse the mob, and dld so by the aid of a force of special police, but not without a scuffle. A number of the more turnultuous persons in the crowd were arrested, and held to await trial for riot assault and betters, &c. and trial for riot, assault and battery, &c., and were arraigned in the Criminal Court last week. For convenience, it was agreed to try all the suits at once, as they all grew out of the same trouble, and as the services of three or four interpreters were necessary to turn the witness' patois into English, more than a week has been consumed in the trial and the costs have run up to a total of about $1,600. Judge Pershing made a very elaborate charge to the jury, and, after an all-night session, they returned verifiets of not guilty in every case, but divided the costs between the presecutors and the defendants, thus putilehing both parties allike. Surprise was expressed when the decision of the jury was made known, as it was thought the charge of riot, at least, was fully made out, and, in deed, Judge Pershing expressed that opinion after leaving the bench. The general result, however, is thought to be a salutary lesson to the billigerent churchmen on both sides, and it is hoped that the squabble, which created much excitement while it lasted, is now settled.

The Conferees at Strondshure.

Friday afternoon the Democratic Con forces of the Eleventh District returned home from the Conference, having adjourned without effecting its purpose. There were two organizations of the Conference, and the following is a brief extract of the proceedings: The Conferees from Montour, Pike, Lackawanna, and upper Luzerne met on Tuesday at 11.45, notwithstanding the earnest protest of the Monroe county Conferees, who were desirous of waiting for the arrival of the Conferees from Columbia, Carbon and Luzerne proper, who arrived at 12 bon and Luzerne proper, who arrived at 12 o'clock. The president of this organization was Edwin Shortz, of White Haven. No mention was made of the organization until 11.20. When the Conferees from the three counties mentioned arrived and found how counties mentioned arrived and found how matters stood, they proposed that the non-contested counties should meet and decide upon the Conferces from Pike, Lackawanna and upper Luzerne, which were contested. This the first organization declined to agree to. Hence the counties last arriving, united with Monroe county and formed an organ-ization, with A. G. Brodhead as President. After negotiating fruitlessly with the first organization the delegates from Monree, Car-bon, Columbia and Luzerne proper adjourn-ed to meet at Hasleton October 15th, At the organization of the first set of conferces, Monroe was invited to join, but refused, and asked those delegates to wait until the arriv-al of all delegates before organization, which was in turn refused. Some of the conferees was in turn refused. Some of the conferees of the first organization, which was called "Joe Lynn's Beamish—Dr. Trimmer" meeting, told S. B. Price that the reason for their not waiting for the other delegates was because they knew that these latter would not recognize the contested conferees (above mentioned.) Both sides balloted for a Congressiman, and the vote in the second organization for the last 56 ballots, with few exceptions, stood 9 for Kunta and 3 for C. B. Brockway, the other votes were 8 to 4. Mr. Brockway: the other votes were 8 to 4. Mr. Storm, of Monroe, begged the Beamish-Dr. Trimmer organization to wait just 20 min-utes until the arrival of the other conferees. but his requests were not granted. The second convention invited Montour of the first organization to unite with them, that county being the only one of the first organ-ization which was not contested, but Montour refused. Every one throughout the country condemnsthe action of the first organization

The Coul Trade.

The feeling in the anthracite coal trade for the past week was more cheerful in all departments than it has been for several weeks. The operators in the Schaylkili region acknowledge a good demand for coal, and full circular prices are obtained. The city and line trade for egg, stove and ches-nut sizes is beyond the immediate supply of the Reading Railroad Company. The broken coal of this company, which is most in request in the manufacturing districts of New England, has been short of the demand New England, has been short of the demand the greater part of the year. Just now the sizes for domestic uses are called for, and from the demand all around there is almost a panie in the market. The Lehigh Coal and Navigation Company has within the last six weeks lessened its stock of coal on hand more than one-half. The Lehigh Valley Bailroud Company notices a similar condition of business, the demand for its coal in this city being quite heavy. Among its recent orders is one of 1000 tone of Buck Mountain coal for the supply of the Russian steamers now fitting out at this port. For any short supply of coal that may exist naw or at any time during the remainder of the year consumers will have only themselves to blume, as they have been cautioned time and again to lay in their winter's supply any time within the been cautioned time and again to lay in their winter's supply any time within the last two or three months, as lower prices were not probable in all this year. That caution is repeated now, and if promptly heeded higher pices in the near future may be avoided. Of the future of the ceal trade beyond the limit of the present combination, which expires with the current year, noth-ing as yet has been definitely determined. which expires with the current year, nothing as yet has been definitely determined. The voltes taken on the proposition at the Long Branch meeting of the Board of Control to extend the existing arrangement as far as to April in the next year as yet lacks the approval or consent of the Lehigh Valley interest. Dr. Linderman, the representative of that interest present at the meeting, voted in favor of the proposition of extension, but with the understanding that his vote should be submitted to the parties represent. should be submitted to the parties represent-cel.
