-Pulling a husband's bair and leaving him unprotected at the polls, is known to jurists as wigamy.

-A Kentucky woman has married a Mr. Calles-has wedded a prints, as it were. -To cure a cough-First catch your cough then salt it and smoke it, and hang it up to

-It cost Madame Thiers $100,000 to bury her husband. Shoulding Thiers is an expensive haxnry in France.

-One of the cleverent of Artemus Ward's sayings was with reference to the Mormons; "Their religion is singular, but their wives are plural."

-The drewsy, innocent wasp comes indoors these fine, cold autumn days. He is no aristocrats this waspt he picks you up with one tine of his fork.

-Cider-may be a good temperance drink, but I can manige to get so drunk on it that I kant tell one ov the ten commandments from a by-law ov a base-ball club.

-An advertisement in a daily at our elbow says there is " a piano for sale belonging to a lady about to depart for Europe with modern legs." Modern? Ah, paddled?

...." What is your son doing in the battle of life?" asked the Christian Helper, Well, he appears to be drawing rations most of the time, just at present, thank you.

-Ox-tail scup is an old thing, but now some genius of the kitchen has discovered a way of making a broth out of a cow's horns. This comes about as near to make both ends most, perhaps, as it is possible for any but Edison to do.

-Business-like wife to her busy husband -" I'm sure you charge too much for your pictures, my love, beautiful as they are. If you were to ask a quarter the price, you would sell twice as many."

-How beautiful and affecting is the sight, and what volume does it speak of man's love for women, to see a husband and wife at this time of the year tossing a copper to see who shall get up first this winter and kindle the fires.

-When the belated Christian, with a face like a stubble-field, rushed wikily through the streets last Sunday morning, only to find all the barber-shops closed, it was then that he exclaimed: "What shall I do to be shaved ?"

-What a beautiful example of simplicity in dress is shown some of the followers of fashion by that domestic animal, the cat, which rises in the morning, washes its face with its right hand, gives its tail three jerks, and is ready dressed for the day.

-One of the greatest needs of this country is a vest pocket deep enough to take the whole length of the extra eigar, so that a man can look his fellow square in the eye and say, " No. I'm sorry; but this is the last, and I have already had it in my mouth."

-The Boston Transcript asks this simple question: "Supposing your darling, dimple cheeked, blue-eyed habe could look forward to the lantern-jawed, frowsly-headed old duffer into which he is to be transmitted in the crucible of time, think you he would care to play out his hand?"

-Nervous old gentleman to watchwaker: " No, none of them will do. I want a watch that won't go tick, tack! tick, tack! all the night long. I hate to hear a watch tick, for it keeps me awake." Watchmaker: "Ah! I see, sir. You want one of the 'silent watches of the night,' I don't keep 'em."

"John" writes to nak: "How should we begin the week ?" We haven't the scriptural regulations handy, but If your folks wash on that day, one good way to begin it will be by getting out of the louse before they discover that the boiler or one of the tubs
