Since it has been developed beyond dispute that Judge Dillon has resigned, some interesting facts are coming out as to the inducements offered him to vacate the bench. The principal reason assigned by the Judge's firends for his resignation is, that as professor in Columbia college he will get a larger salary and have an easier time. It now turns out that the $7,500 aniary as professor will not be the only one the judge will get the will be paid $10,800 aniary as professor will not herefore in the least with the arrangement and performance of the dities involved.
