Advertising Rates.

We desire it to be distinctly understood that no advertisements will be inserted in he columns of THE CARBON ADVOCATE that may be received from unknown parties o firms unless accompanied by the CABR. The following are our oxty terms: ONE SQUARE (10 LINES), 10 cts One year, each insertion. 15 cts. Bix months, each inserts 20 ets H. V. MORTHIMER, Publisher.

A. ID. MOSSEP,

Manufacturer of and Dealer m STOVES, RANGES AND HEATERS, Tin and Sheet-Iron Ware and General House Furnishing Goods.

BOOFING and SPOUTING done a short notice and at Lowest Cash Prices.

I am the authorized age tior the Sale of the following FIRST-CLASS STOVES-THE SILVER & GOLD MEDAL COOK. THE LIGHTROUSE COOK. THE MAYFLOWER GAVOR, THE SUNSHINE RANGE and The NEW ANCHOR HEATER and am Selling them VERY CHEAP for Cosh. Every kind of STOVE GRATES and FIRE BRI: KS kept consecutiv on hand. STORE on SOUTH Street, A few doors above Baus St., LEHIGHTON. Patronage solicited-S. Indae vn guarante-

Central Carriage Works,

Bank St., Lehighton, Pa., Are prepared to Manufacture Carriages, Buggies, Sleighs, Spring Wagon, &c., Of every description, in the most substantial manner, and at Lowest Cash Prices. Repairing Promptly Attended to. TREXLER & KREIDLER, April 26, 1879 yt Proprietors. CARBON ADVOCATE CHEAP JOB PRINTING OFFICE. LEBIOHTON, PA.

Every description of Printing, from a Visiting Card to a Poster.

CARDS. BILL HEADS,

A LBIN STOLLE,

charged after thirty dows.

OIVE ME A CALL.

The Carbon Advocate. H. V. MORTHIMER, Proprietor.

INDEPENDENT-" Live and Let Live."

LEHIGHTON, CARBON COUNTY, PA., SATURDAY, APRIL 10, 1880.

Dr. Charles T. Horn Would announce to the public that he has purchased from MRS. A. C. PETER, the CENTRAL DRUG STORE,

In Leuckel's Block,

Bank St., Lehighton, Pa., Having reflited and reflited the entire stock he can offer

DRUGS AND Strictly fresh CHEMICALS and Pare,

Also Horse and Cattle powders, Patent Medi-cines, Brushes, Song, Comits, Pertomeries, Sporges, Chamois Skins, Wines and Laques for Medical Parposes. Olds, Eamps and Fixtures Dyes and Choice Chanze, Piles and Tobaces, Spec-tacles, Trusses, Nursing Pottles, Violin Strings, and a tull line of Wall Paper and Bersters at the Lowest Prices.

Prescriptions carefully compounded and rompt attention given to every branch of the

A continuance of the patronage heretofors extended to this establishment is respectfully offetted, and such factor guaranteed. sept.13, 1872-19. Dn. C. T. HORN.

The New Food Medicine Truly a Wonder.

The Quaching Coon CS, prepare from the sense of the Sacreet Pentrum Plant (CO L&P) the met disciplination of the sense of OUA BITTERS has the power of susadining a one strength f r days without food. she alreputh i ranys without loss. xposur: to storms, jour fai gue and malve a preserving cannot harm the e who use CO-BITTERS.

Are prepared to Manufacture, to order, every description of

CARRIAGES, HUGGIES. SLEIGHS,

and awful death.

RABELL STRATED AND A DEPARTMENT OF A DEPARTMENT A DEPARTMENT OF mmbler aspire to my hand ?" The war that spring and winter wage, Goes on in silence day by day : Strong youth against decraphi age, New growth opposed to dark docay. husband are highly unbecoming if not to The strife of hope against despair, Life against death ; and, morn by morn, A tender warmth is in the air.

And richer hues and hopes are born. And lot on every side appears The hurrying host of spring's advance, The crown ng grass, with bristling spears, The brookside rushes' ready innov.

The javelins of daring reads, The lris sprout's keen bayonet thrust, With rank and file of sturing weeds Rising exultant from the dust. Each day a fresher guidon flaunts, Blarking the vantage ground by turns; The arrow heads of water plants

The hard-clenched fists of valiant forns, The willow pennons, brase and fair, The wild-flag's sharp and tender blade, With every to ce of earth and air Join toldly in the glad crusade,

Till winter's sullen straggies cense, And cold and daraness fail and fleo, And all the hills are fair with peace, And green with palms of victory.

The White Queen's Castle

Count Albert von Carmiola died very sudlenly. There had been a grand hunt, a agnificent wild boar had been slain, and the exultant party came back to the grand old castle of Carmiola, to devote the remainter of the day, and the whole night, to eatug and drinking the old wines with which 'ount Albert's cellar was stored. Wit and nirth had reached their height, wine flowed any were high, when seizing the hugh sit-Ernstein, A very handsome man was Count without thinking." Allert, but a deep drinker, and one lost all sive goblet, but before he could utter a single his nerveless hand, and he fell forward with his face on the table, dead, without a groan. His horror struck companions raised him up and strove to restore consciousnes but in vain. All was confusion in that banquet hall, which a few nrinutes before was the scene of such wild revelry and unounded license. Sadiy the company hore the body to an inner chamber, and then left

The Counters you Carmiola was dead long nce-killed, it was reported, by the coldess and neglect of her husband, an imperias bad tempered man. She died, leaving o daughter, now nineteen years old, who ubcrited all her mother's gentlemes, with ast enough of her father's haughty spirit to add piquiney to her manners. If Count could searely refrain from doing-she seized Albert and been unkind to his wife, he could the young girl radely by the erm. not be charged with trenting his daughter, barsh manner, for to her he was kind and future husband."

How dare the low, depraved libertine and both felt that the hatred which the Coun-"Such terms, Lodolska, applied to the her to do all in her power to separate them moyes made by the figures, but at length nan whom I have chosen for your future and destroy their happiness.

him, to myself. I expect him every moment, so you may as well prepare to receive was a clean-board and a huga golden goblet, that the eccentric prince had not chosen to him calmiy, and not show such evident and filled to the brim with his favorite wine. inmistakable signs of ill temper." "I will show you no ill-temperasyou call was a very brave and generous man. High my just indignation, but a proper spirit. 1 spirited and imperious, heat times governed have submitted too long to your sway ; but with gentleness, but often with the away of ow you have to learn that the daughter of a despot. He was an inveterate chess playount Albert you Carmiola possesses some er-every leisure moment was devoted to f his spirit." Lodoiska had searcely done speaking when servant announced the Count yon Kard. in squares, and on that extensive board he till the poor chemmen were ready to tink rag, and in a moment he was ushered in. played games, using living human beings with fatigue. Lodoiska was almost in a The sunt rose to receive him, giving him a for chess men. A door opened, and the fainting condition, and leaning in a very varm welcome but Lodolaka, raising her chamberlain informed the duke that a lady unqueenly manuer upon a knight who ceunned her work. With a quick, admon- portance. Should she be admitted ? The to move. This she did mechanically, past shing glance at her nince, the enraged aunt duke gave a sign of assent. The door closed minding how the game went, when a loud placed a chair for the count near her own and opened again in a few moments to ad- voice exclaimed exultantly : and equally that of Lodoisha. The Count mit the lady. When the door had again ccepted the sent, and thus addressed the closed, and the lady found herself alone with the duke, she knelt before him.

girl before himt "Countess Lodoiska, your aunt, the ami-"Lay saide your vail, which completely able Counters Anna, an ornament to her conceals your reatures. We like not to reex, gives me to understand that you are ceive prayers or petitions from one afraid or ashamed to show her face," said the prince, ady and happy to see me to-day." "As ready and as happy now as ever," gravely. was the ungracious reply, delivered in a freezing tone and manner.

"Ah ! eh ?" ejsculated the count, struck by the air of the girl. "You are sarcastic, doiska von Carmiola. Prince John could How is this! Your aunt led me to believe that you looked with favorable eyes on my suit-may, that was all positively settled," and the count rose in great rage.

"You are right-she does, she does," said time water, and the spirits of all the comlaying her hand on the count's arm. "De ver hunting cup, Count Albert rose to pledge not mind what she says, for the dear girl is the successful marksman, Count John von in one of her old fits, when she speaks lady."

"Your pardon, aunt, and yours too, count ense of his beauty in disgust for the face hif I contradict the statement just made," said ful head drooped. now so inflamed. High he raised the mas- Lodolska, "It is not mere whim that induces me to treat you as I have done. My annt word, a deadly paleness overspread his made you mab promises, which she cannot

"How is that minx? Remember I an our lawful guardian." "That I know to my corrow; but, thank Heaven, I can guard my own happiness, before him. and in order to do so, I respectfully, decidedly, refuse to consent the Count you Kardozag's suit." charm as she said:

"Death and fiends !" exclaimed the count pringing towards the young girl as if he meant to selze her. "Dare you say that to my Count Victor von Ernstein." ace, Countess Lodoiska ?"

"Ay, and do not let me forget by your ac faithful subject. I fear, Countem Lodoiska, ions the fact that I strive to shut my eyes you have come too late," mid the archituke, upon, that I am dealing with one who can lay no claim to the title of gentleman." Scarcely an hour ago I signed a paper en-Anna ven Carmiola did what the coun roing your aunt's wishes." "Alast I know it," said Lodoisha. "For "Retract, Lodoiska, your unlady-like inme from such a fate f" the lovely counters Lobotsko, in the same sulting words, and receive the count as your Prince John leaved back in his chair is deep thought. The sight of her distress adalgant, and it was with wild deepair Quickly removing her aust's hand from troubled the really kind-hearted archituke. SPRING WAGONS, that the girl heard of her father's stallen her arm, Lodolska, drawing her tall form Staldenty he raised his head, while a smile proadly up, spoke coldly and deliberately, spread over his face.

Sitting in his noble hall was the Archduka eyes. To her it seemed a vast confusion, John of Austria. On the table bofore him that chest board, and she sighed to think the genial Johannisberger. Archduke John the study and practice of the game. Indeed, one room of his palace was marked off was saved. Reaction followed, and sho fainted from fatigue and anxiety. A long while she lay in deathlike stillness, almost is white as her dress ; but recovering, she mw Prince John and Victor von Ernstein With a gesture in which pride and fear bending over her. As soon as she was able to sit up the prince spoke to her. disclosing the boautiful features of the Loscarcely suppress a start of astonishment and admiration as he looked at the entraordinary beauty of the face before him. have made you hear, in fatherly loye and "Ab, whom have we here?" he naked.

ction--Lodolska von Carmiota." away." "The name methinks I have heard. Aha! but now we gave a written order for your marriage. What brings you here, fair "Dospair I" she replied; and the beautithinks we heard you did." "Nay, sire. A base unprincipled man is the Count von Kardozag. I prefer death to when Victor von Ernstein was the White a life with him." "Is hatred for his character the sole reas-

n for this disinclination to wed him ?" and the duke bent his dark eyes upon the face

A deep blush for a moment overspread the pule face of the girl, adding another Till you are like unto Him. "To you, my prince, the truth may be told. I love and am betrothed to another-We do feel ourselves secure; But in this our wordly treasure, "We know him-a brave soldier and a We can find no rost secure.

A moment at our feet will He : in his perplexity laying aside the "we." It makes but an empty jargle, "Scarcely an hour ago I signed a paper en- When death comes we all must die.

> Thau this world can give or found : In the time your ship's aground.

And upon His power rely ; And when clouds do gather round you, You will but your prayors apply.

The Carbon Advocate. An Independent Family Nowspaper Published every SATURDAY, in Lehighton, Carbon Co., Pa., by PLARME V. MORTHINEL.

PROB-BANEWAY, a short distance above the Lobigh Valley R. R. Depot. Terms: $1.00 per Annum in Advance

$1.00 a Year if Paid in Advance. BYINT DESCRIPTION OF PLAIN AND PANOT Job Printing If not paid in advance, $1.25. AT VERT LOW FRICES.

> The game began and was carried on in sigem Anna bore the young count would lead lence. At first, Lodoisks tried to follow the abe turned her face away and lowered her decide it by a game played on a table with innuimate pieces of ivory. The peculiar game was for her interest; for the prince, accustomed to play on such a large scale, was never confused, while his opponent made several false moves. This Lodoiska knew not, and was blindly sent from one end of the board to the other. Hour after hour the game was carried on.

*Checkmated I" "Which king-red or white ?" "The red king."

Lodolska heard the answer, and folt she were mingled, the vail was thrown back. "The game is finished." and he, "and the pricet stands ready even now to unite you to he man of your choice, of whom we approve. In consideration of the pain and anxiety we

"A poor girl who asks for morey and procare we will take it upon us to give you Banishing the natural shrinking she felt, fearing another misfortane, Lodoiska stood up in the presence of the assembled knights and ladies and was made the wife of the handsome, brave Victor you Ernstein. Prince John gave the bride away, and in "Like you not your future spouse? Me- inter days smiled as he saw the beautiful woman and her husband the brightest ornament at court, for he thought of the time

Queen's Castle. For the Cannon ADVOCATE. SPERA IN DEO.

Let your thoughts to heavenward flowing ;

Let your prayers ascend to Him. He will help you in your growing, In our state of worldly pleasure,

All we have is fleeting, fragile,

Lay up treasures, higher, nobler, the love of Heaven secall, annul it. Save And yon'll have a hope far nobler, Place your trust on Him above you.

+ AR arly non4

-"A good workman is known by his

Was this mechanine margin to be sweet "Twas but yester o'en," he said, "That away by a sudden decline of her love for

This is what bothered the young mam. and had set him to pacing. He had wood? the maid with all the ardent nature of his

No, no. The missive told him of her unsying love, and how his image was never discut from her maiden fancy. This looked

Perhaps she had given the young man clip he was going. That piece of paper was from Penlope McGuire, a proul and haugh-ty beauty, the only daughter of a man whose his hand he held a tray piece of paper,

For more than an hour he Laced the apartment, never once striking a trot. This showed that he was a natural pacer. In:

lemestic was one of the most extensive on as if you could hat on the girl; but who can full well that no woman wears them unless she shall triffe with me no longer;; I will

The next day's mail bore to Penelope the "Nobuddy can pla me for a sucker. Aws

"Do we need compulsory education ?" as 's