

Local and Personal.

TO SUBSCRIBERS. Subscribers will please refer to the direction...

John Fitzwilliam... Shows that the subscription list has been paid...

West Bethlehem has a population of 1,350.

Bethlehem borough has a total population of 5,104, an increase of 752.

If you are troubled with rheumatism use Kendall's Spavin Cure.

Headquarters for market at J. T. Nusbaum & Son's, just received, in kits and quivers, very cheap for cash.

The population of Coplay borough is 1870.

Look at the yellow direction tab on the first page and see how much you owe.

If you want nice smooth-shaven hair cut or shampooing, go to Frantz Barber's Saloon, under the Exchange Hotel.

He will fix you right, and don't you forget it.

Davy Rees, a son of Mr. Thos. Rees, of Yorktown, was smothered to death in the "Buckwheat" coal chute at place Tuesday.

It is not known how he got into the chute, and it was not known to anybody about the breaker until he was discovered by the loader of the big cars.

According to the census just taken, Wilkes-Barre has a population of 23,400.

H. H. Feters, agent, the popular merchant tailor, in the post office building, is now receiving and opening one of the largest and most fashionable stocks of clothes, cassimere and suitings ever brought into Lehighton, and which he is prepared to make up in the latest fashion and most durable manner, at prices which actually defy competition.

Call and examine goods and learn prices and be convinced.

George Woods, a miner, was instantly killed by a fall of coal at the Franklin mine, near Wilkes-Barre, last Monday.

Our genial and good looking friend, J. T. Briel, the butcher, of Westbury, was in town last Tuesday, and smiled in upon us.

The Coal and Iron Police of the Philadelphia & Reading Coal and Iron Company have been knocked out of service.

You may shoot woodcock now, if your aim is good.

Lewis Weiss, in the post-office building, this borough, has just made a large addition to his stock for the spring and summer trade, viz, a full line of stiff and soft felt hats of the latest and best styles, and a full line of gentlemen's, ladies' and children's boots, shoes and gaiters, all of which he is offering at the very lowest cash prices.

Pure Paris Green for potato bugs.

Persian Insect powder for moth, bed bugs, and all other bugs.

White Heliole Powder for worms on corn and gooseberry bushes. Large stock just received. Cheap for cash, at A. J. Durling's.

A look into E. H. Hohl's watch and jewelry store on Susquehanna street, Mauch Chunk, a few days ago, convinced us that he has the newest stock and one of the largest stocks of watches, clocks and jewelry to be found in the county, while he appeared busy as a bee repairing railroad watches.

We are glad to note the success of our young friend, and would advise our readers to call and see him.

We dropped into Dr. N. E. Roeder's office Thursday morning, and we do not think there is any more easy and lastly finished apartment in the county. It has just been very neatly papered, painted and carpeted by John Shiner, a man whom no man knows better how to decorate a room.

Printing of the finest description can be had at the Carbon Advocate office at very low prices. Call and see samples.

For pure drugs, medicines, wall papers, fancy stationery, or a fine cigar, call on Dr. C. T. Horn, at his popular drug store, opposite the public square.

For pure drugs, medicines, wall papers, fancy stationery, or a fine cigar, call on Dr. C. T. Horn, at his popular drug store, opposite the public square.

Dr. Gorman and Derhamer are laying down new pavements on the iron street front of their properties, extending from Bank street to Second street. That is right, let others do likewise.

Henry Dunkel, of Allentown, and Morris Jarrett, of Makongie, were arrested on Monday night, while robbing Schenck's mill of flour and grain. Dunkel tried to escape and was wounded in the back.

C. Wesley Arnold was killed, and Francis Farber fatally injured, in Allentown, on Tuesday, by the fall of a wall which they were raising.

All kinds of stationary and desk furniture, paints, oils, varnishes, putty, glass, paper hangings, wall paper, can be found at Luckenbach's, Broadway, Mauch Chunk, at very lowest prices.

Wm. W. Stoen, a girl, about 16 years of age, to assist with housework, apply at the Carbon Advocate office, Lehighton, Pa.

Two tunnels have been bored in the Blue Mountain near Wind Gap by parties in search of gold. They report that prospects are excellent. Parties are also prospecting for gold at Adrian Gap, Lebanon county.

Thousands of ladies to enjoy cheerful remembrance of help derived from the use of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. It positively cures all female complaints. Send to Mrs. Lydia E. Pinkham, 233 Western Avenue, Lynn, Mass., for pamphlets. 21-2

Mrs. Susan Kemmer, step-mother of Thomas Kemmer, Esq., died at her residence in this borough, at 11 o'clock on Monday morning last, aged 71 years and 3 months. She was interred in the Lehighton cemetery on Thursday last.

An old and respected German, named Peter Klein, died at his home on the Mazoning mountain, on Monday last.

We do not believe the nation's birth next Monday, or do we not? That is the question.

The post office at Pleasant Corner has been re-established, and our old friend, J. J. McDaniel, appointed postmaster. Good.

Advice of an old nurse: "The baby would be always bright and cheerful if it were bathed in Dr. Bull's Baby Syrup."

F. P. Semmel, the census enumerater, reports the population of this borough at 1,350, against 1,215 in 1870, an increase of 135.

A VALUABLE PREMIUM! TROTTING MATCH.

We will present every person calling at this office and paying $1.00 for one year's subscription to the Carbon Advocate, with a copy of Dr. J. B. Kendall's TREATISE ON THE HORSE, one of the most valuable books for Farmers and Horsemen ever published. The book is handsomely and profusely illustrated, and gives symptoms and treatment for the various diseases to which the horse is subject. Remember, for $1 you get the ADVOCATE for one year and a copy of the BOOK FREE! Now hand in your names and the dollar.

The Presbyterian church of Hokendauqua has recently made a very successful effort to cancel all its indebtedness. At a "jubilee" service last Sunday night, Rev. James A. Little congratulated his people on having paid off every debt, with a handsome surplus left in the church treasury. Hymns and anthems of rejoicing were heartily sung.

During the week ending on the 29th of June, there were 79,322 tons of coal transported over the Lehigh Valley Railroad, making a total for the year to that date of 2,308,075 tons, being an increase compared with same date last season, of 24,673 tons.

At this time of the year nothing will induce a young lady to "get up and go" half so quickly as an invite to take a airing in one of David Eberhart's handsome teams. Try it, terms low.

We would call your attention to the neatness with which Dr. Browning's C. & C. Cordial is put up. Every bottle has a corkseal with it, that you may hold the cork in your finger while putting on the seal. The trade mark is expressive of the great care taken in its manufacture. Try a bottle. For sale by all druggists, or Dr. Browning, proprietor, 1117 Arch street, Philadelphia, Pa.

The commencement exercises of Lafayette College, at Easton, were inaugurated Sunday morning, in the chapel, President Cuddeback presiding at the baccalaureate service. Monday was Senior class day, Tuesday, Alumnus day, and Wednesday Commencement day.

The people of Stratton are going to celebrate the "Fourth" on Monday, 5th, in a very lively manner. The first thing in the morning will be the laying of the cornerstone of the new armory of the Stratton Rifles. After which there is to be a parade by the military and civic associations, including some organizations from a distance. The procession will proceed a grand drive near the town, where a band dinner will be spread by the ladies.

Mr. Joseph K. Wannemacher, of Kriegerville, died suddenly Tuesday morning. Deceased was about 64 years of age, and leaves a wife and three children to mourn their loss. He was a brother of Mrs. Thos. S. Beck, of this borough. Funeral this (Saturday) morning at 10 o'clock. Mr. Wannemacher was for a number of years a resident of this borough, and will no doubt be well remembered as the genial host of the Exchange Hotel.

According to the statements of the several banks of this and neighboring towns, made in accordance with the call of the Comptroller at Washington, they had the following deposits at close of business on June 11th, 1899:

Allentown National Bank, $234,044.21; Second National Bank of Allentown, 109,853.17; National Bank of Allentown, 122,421.17; First National Bank of Bethlehem, 272,884.70; Lehigh Valley National Bank, 258,448.53; East National Bank of Easton, 209,493.51; First National Bank of Easton, 64,422.33; First National Bank of Lehighton, 29,195.20; National Bank of Ruzwiltown, 24,630.87; First National Bank, Mauch Chunk, 19,496.80.

H. S. Rinker, of Westbury, and a Mr. Freed, of Tamaqua, will place a portable saw mill in the swamp between Bank street and Second street, contemplating sawing up about 400,000 feet of hemlock lumber.

Twenty-six thousand dollars clear of all expenses were made at the recent Army Fair in Scranton.

The Black Ridge Coal Company of Conyngham Station, Luzerne county, has discovered a new coal basin.

Allentown physicians have extracted two of the bullets fired into her body by Mrs. Albrecht at last place several weeks ago.

The Eastern Express states that advertisements inserted in English papers for mechanics, and without authority, have drawn members of this class of workmen to that section, where they are now depending on charity.

The millers of Lehigh and Northampton counties, in view of the poor wheat harvested, have agreed to establish different grades of the grain. It is charged that the farmers are in the habit of mixing rye with wheat.

John McCormack, an old and trusted employe of the Lehigh Valley Railroad, has been the first patient admitted to the St. Luke's Hospital, at Bethlehem, under the hospous of the late Judge Packer, providing for the care of disabled employes of the Lehigh Valley road.

Mr. Vennor, the Canadian weather prophet, is correct in his forecast for the last six days of June "atmos and temperature heat, with frequent storms of thunder and lightning, and says, "the heated term will probably continue through the first half of July; and there will be some cool weather after the 20th; fresh winds in the neighborhood of the 24th, 25th and 26th—possibly with bursts of snow in the mountains."

For the week ending June 25th there were shipped over the Lehigh & Susquehanna railroad 69,171 tons of coal, making a total for the season to that date of 1,067,921 tons, a decrease in shipments, compared with same time last year, of 272,214 tons.

Our young friend, Prof. T. M. Belliet, of Mahoning Valley, is at home on a five weeks' vacation from the Hottelston Normal School. He was in town Thursday and spent a short time in our section.

Our old comrade Frank C. Miner and wife of Atlantic City, N. J., are on a visit to their parents in Weisport.

The Rev. L. K. Kerr, of Stratton, formerly the pastor of Zion's Reformed church of this place, will be in town over Sunday (to-morrow), and will preach in said church at 10 a. m. in the German language. No doubt his many friends will be very glad to see and hear their efficient pastor once more.

Workmen employed in opening a new road above the mountain stream, which feeds the railroad bank at Penn Haven, last week found a partially decomposed skeleton just above the high falls, a half mile from the railroad. It was found by lying by the trunk of a fallen tree, and the spring had burst over the spot last spring had destroyed everything except the remains, so that they were left to be discovered by the workmen, or a conjecture made as to the period they had lain there.

Closing Exercises of the Centre School.

Saturday evening, 19th inst., witnessed the closing exercises of the Centre School (Mahoning Valley) Select School, under the guidance of Prof. Rauch. More people were present than at any previous school exercises, and, therefore, many were obliged to remain outside and gain what information they could by looking in through the doors and windows. This is a sure sign that the people are becoming more interested in the general advancement of mental culture. The exercises were opened by the singing of "Welcome to All." Rev. M. M. Disney, then offered a fervent and appropriate prayer, which followed the Duetto, by the school and audience.

The exercises were then taken to the stand and made the following speech of welcome, in a clear and distinct voice, giving evidence that he had good command of his subject. This was well-fitted for the duty assigned him.

LADIES AND GENTLEMEN—It has become my pleasant duty this evening, in behalf of the Centre School, to bid you adieu. Your presence here reassures us that you have a common interest with us in our work. It is not only of our own, but of the world's good. It is to be our glory to have a school where the young men and women are so earnestly engaged in their studies, and where the parents are so actively interested in their progress. It is to be our glory to have a school where the young men and women are so earnestly engaged in their studies, and where the parents are so actively interested in their progress.

It is to be our glory to have a school where the young men and women are so earnestly engaged in their studies, and where the parents are so actively interested in their progress.

It is to be our glory to have a school where the young men and women are so earnestly engaged in their studies, and where the parents are so actively interested in their progress.

It is to be our glory to have a school where the young men and women are so earnestly engaged in their studies, and where the parents are so actively interested in their progress.

It is to be our glory to have a school where the young men and women are so earnestly engaged in their studies, and where the parents are so actively interested in their progress.

It is to be our glory to have a school where the young men and women are so earnestly engaged in their studies, and where the parents are so actively interested in their progress.

It is to be our glory to have a school where the young men and women are so earnestly engaged in their studies, and where the parents are so actively interested in their progress.

It is to be our glory to have a school where the young men and women are so earnestly engaged in their studies, and where the parents are so actively interested in their progress.

It is to be our glory to have a school where the young men and women are so earnestly engaged in their studies, and where the parents are so actively interested in their progress.

It is to be our glory to have a school where the young men and women are so earnestly engaged in their studies, and where the parents are so actively interested in their progress.

It is to be our glory to have a school where the young men and women are so earnestly engaged in their studies, and where the parents are so actively interested in their progress.

It is to be our glory to have a school where the young men and women are so earnestly engaged in their studies, and where the parents are so actively interested in their progress.

It is to be our glory to have a school where the young men and women are so earnestly engaged in their studies, and where the parents are so actively interested in their progress.

It is to be our glory to have a school where the young men and women are so earnestly engaged in their studies, and where the parents are so actively interested in their progress.

It is to be our glory to have a school where the young men and women are so earnestly engaged in their studies, and where the parents are so actively interested in their progress.

It is to be our glory to have a school where the young men and women are so earnestly engaged in their studies, and where the parents are so actively interested in their progress.

It is to be our glory to have a school where the young men and women are so earnestly engaged in their studies, and where the parents are so actively interested in their progress.

It is to be our glory to have a school where the young men and women are so earnestly engaged in their studies, and where the parents are so actively interested in their progress.

It is to be our glory to have a school where the young men and women are so earnestly engaged in their studies, and where the parents are so actively interested in their progress.

It is to be our glory to have a school where the young men and women are so earnestly engaged in their studies, and where the parents are so actively interested in their progress.

It is to be our glory to have a school where the young men and women are so earnestly engaged in their studies, and where the parents are so actively interested in their progress.

It is to be our glory to have a school where the young men and women are so earnestly engaged in their studies, and where the parents are so actively interested in their progress.

It is to be our glory to have a school where the young men and women are so earnestly engaged in their studies, and where the parents are so actively interested in their progress.

It is to be our glory to have a school where the young men and women are so earnestly engaged in their studies, and where the parents are so actively interested in their progress.

It is to be our glory to have a school where the young men and women are so earnestly engaged in their studies, and where the parents are so actively interested in their progress.

It is to be our glory to have a school where the young men and women are so earnestly engaged in their studies, and where the parents are so actively interested in their progress.

It is to be our glory to have a school where the young men and women are so earnestly engaged in their studies, and where the parents are so actively interested in their progress.

It is to be our glory to have a school where the young men and women are so earnestly engaged in their studies, and where the parents are so actively interested in their progress.

It is to be our glory to have a school where the young men and women are so earnestly engaged in their studies, and where the parents are so actively interested in their progress.

It is to be our glory to have a school where the young men and women are so earnestly engaged in their studies, and where the parents are so actively interested in their progress.

It is to be our glory to have a school where the young men and women are so earnestly engaged in their studies, and where the parents are so actively interested in their progress.

It is to be our glory to have a school where the young men and women are so earnestly engaged in their studies, and where the parents are so actively interested in their progress.

It is to be our glory to have a school where the young men and women are so earnestly engaged in their studies, and where the parents are so actively interested in their progress.

It is to be our glory to have a school where the young men and women are so earnestly engaged in their studies, and where the parents are so actively interested in their progress.

It is to be our glory to have a school where the young men and women are so earnestly engaged in their studies, and where the parents are so actively interested in their progress.

It is to be our glory to have a school where the young men and women are so earnestly engaged in their studies, and where the parents are so actively interested in their progress.

It is to be our glory to have a school where the young men and women are so earnestly engaged in their studies, and where the parents are so actively interested in their progress.

It is to be our glory to have a school where the young men and women are so earnestly engaged in their studies, and where the parents are so actively interested in their progress.

It is to be our glory to have a school where the young men and women are so earnestly engaged in their studies, and where the parents are so actively interested in their progress.

It is to be our glory to have a school where the young men and women are so earnestly engaged in their studies, and where the parents are so actively interested in their progress.

It is to be our glory to have a school where the young men and women are so earnestly engaged in their studies, and where the parents are so actively interested in their progress.

It is to be our glory to have a school where the young men and women are so earnestly engaged in their studies, and where the parents are so actively interested in their progress.

It is to be our glory to have a school where the young men and women are so earnestly engaged in their studies, and where the parents are so actively interested in their progress.

It is to be our glory to have a school where the young men and women are so earnestly engaged in their studies, and where the parents are so actively interested in their progress.

It is to be our glory to have a school where the young men and women are so earnestly engaged in their studies, and where the parents are so actively interested in their progress.

It is to be our glory to have a school where the young men and women are so earnestly engaged in their studies, and where the parents are so actively interested in their progress.

It is to be our glory to have a school where the young men and women are so earnestly engaged in their studies, and where the parents are so actively interested in their progress.

It is to be our glory to have a school where the young men and women are so earnestly engaged in their studies, and where the parents are so actively interested in their progress.

It is to be our glory to have a school where the young men and women are so earnestly engaged in their studies, and where the parents are so actively interested in their progress.

It is to be our glory to have a school where the young men and women are so earnestly engaged in their studies, and where the parents are so actively interested in their progress.

It is to be our glory to have a school where the young men and women are so earnestly engaged in their studies, and where the parents are so actively interested in their progress.

It is to be our glory to have a school where the young men and women are so earnestly engaged in their studies, and where the parents are so actively interested in their progress.

It is to be our glory to have a school where the young men and women are so earnestly engaged in their studies, and where the parents are so actively interested in their progress.

It is to be our glory to have a school where the young men and women are so earnestly engaged in their studies, and where the parents are so actively interested in their progress.

It is to be our glory to have a school where the young men and women are so earnestly engaged in their studies, and where the parents are so actively interested in their progress.

It is to be our glory to have a school where the young men and women are so earnestly engaged in their studies, and where the parents are so actively interested in their progress.

It is to be our glory to have a school where the young men and women are so earnestly engaged in their studies, and where the parents are so actively interested in their progress.

It is to be our glory to have a school where the young men and women are so earnestly engaged in their studies, and where the parents are so actively interested in their progress.

It is to be our glory to have a school where the young men and women are so earnestly engaged in their studies, and where the parents are so actively interested in their progress.

It is to be our glory to have a school where the young men and women are so earnestly engaged in their studies, and where the parents are so actively interested in their progress.

It is to be our glory to have a school where the young men and women are so earnestly engaged in their studies, and where the parents are so actively interested in their progress.

It is to be our glory to have a school where the young men and women are so earnestly engaged in their studies, and where the parents are so actively interested in their progress.

It is to be our glory to have a school where the young men and women are so earnestly engaged in their studies, and where the parents are so actively interested in their progress.

It is to be our glory to have a school where the young men and women are so earnestly engaged in their studies, and where the parents are so actively interested in their progress.

It is to be our glory to have a school where the young men and women are so earnestly engaged in their studies, and where the parents are so actively interested in their progress.

It is to be our glory to have a school where the young men and women are so earnestly engaged in their studies, and where the parents are so actively interested in their progress.

It is to be our glory to have a school where the young men and women are so earnestly engaged in their studies, and where the parents are so actively interested in their progress.

Wetmore's statement.

—The girl in Weisport who is up to the wiles of her boss. The other night, when he arose, whispering, "I'll be back in a minute," she gave him one of her best looks, and he, in turn, looked at her with the amiable remark, "I brought some with me," at the same time very kindly handing him a pinch of snuff and a glass of coffee.

—Mrs. Robert Yarnall has accepted a position in a grocery store in Philadelphia.

—Owners of trotting horses who wish to train them, should not fail to take advantage of the coming season to bring them to this place, who will profit by the enterprise are C. W. Lentz, Aaron Snyder and Nathan Leffer.

—"Midnight visitors" who have been making their midnight visits in the vicinity, are washed for clothes.

—Ed. Hoyer, our genial landlord, is sporting a very fine buggy, which he is procuring for a few days ago.

—Mrs. Emma and Austin Boyer returned from their school on Friday last.

—"The Mine" residently receiving a general overhauling and a coat of paint externally. They are determined to make things attractive around their premises.

—"The Young American Band" rendered some excellent music on Friday evening, 24th, under the leadership of Prof. Ditterline.

—"We are glad to learn that Levi Horn has recovered from his late attack of diphtheria."

—"Francis Krueger and Harry Walsh, the veteran ice creamers, have commenced their summer campaign."

—"It is entirely, indeed, to see a man well read, and a woman well acquainted with books, and declare in the meanwhile that a man can be temperate in eating as well as drinking, and as he drinks the last glass, expresses contempt and pity for the man who is not a temperance man who eats himself into a dyspeptic."

—"The Coal Trade."

The anthracite coal trade is very little changed from week to week. The arbitrary shortening of production is to be continued through the month of July, yet the demand for coal is not deemed sufficiently active to warrant an advance in prices. We are glad, however, to learn that the orders for coal on the increase, and have been greater in amount during the last week or ten days than during the length of time next preceding. What is most important in this connection is to learn that the orders for coal that circulate prices are fully maintained. We hear it sometimes asserted, however, that the circulars are undervalued by parties here and there. Inquiry satisfies us that there is no truth in this assertion; it is an isolated case or two, but there has been an excess made of some particular size of coal, occasioned by some particular circular price in order to run it out of the way. But substantially the agreed upon price for anything great quantity of coal, is being maintained. This firm adherence to price is the only thing that can save the trade from ruin this year and probably a similar fate next year.

The coal season is now so far gone that little opportunity in the matter of time is afforded for making anything great out of it. The healthful tone of the market may, however, be maintained to carry into 1881, and it is important for the trade that it should be.

Prices have been brought to a paying point, and the production of coal is being increased. The present policy of putting no more coal on the market than will readily sell for such paying prices is continued the producers cannot ultimately lose. There is nothing to be done but to wait the result of the present policy. Business is drifting along without any direct control from any quarter, but its tendency is mainly in the right direction. It is scarcely possible, so the best informed coal men say, to escape higher prices for coal this year than last year. The present fall, arising from the present demand from the consequence of a short supply. We repeat our caution to consumers, to lay in their supplies of coal early. A large amount of coal is being carried over last year into this year, and the coal is being sold at a price that is not so low as it has been in the past.

The anthracite coal trade is very little changed from week to week. The arbitrary shortening of production is to be continued through the month of July, yet the demand for coal is not deemed sufficiently active to warrant an advance in prices. We are glad, however, to learn that the orders for coal on the increase, and have been greater in amount during the last week or ten days than during the length of time next preceding. What is most important in this connection is to learn that the orders for coal that circulate prices are fully maintained. We hear it sometimes asserted, however, that the circulars are undervalued by parties here and there. Inquiry satisfies us that there is no truth in this assertion; it is an isolated case or two, but there has been an excess made of some particular size of coal, occasioned by some particular circular price in order to run it out of the way. But substantially the agreed upon price for anything great quantity of coal, is being maintained. This firm adherence to price is the only thing that can save the trade from ruin this year and probably a similar fate next year.

The coal season is now so far gone that little opportunity in the matter of time is afforded for making anything great out of it. The healthful tone of the market may, however, be maintained to carry into 1881, and it is important for the trade that it should be.

Prices have been brought to a paying point, and the production of coal is being increased. The present policy of putting no more coal on the market than will readily sell for such paying prices is continued the producers cannot ultimately lose. There is nothing to be done but to wait the result of the present policy. Business is drifting along without any direct control from any quarter, but its tendency is mainly in the right direction. It is scarcely possible, so the best informed coal men say, to escape higher prices for coal this year than last year. The present fall, arising from the present demand from the consequence of a short supply. We repeat our caution to consumers, to lay in their supplies of coal early. A large amount of coal is being carried over last year into this year, and the coal is being sold at a price that is not so low as it has been in the past.

The anthracite coal trade is very little changed from week to week. The arbitrary shortening of production is to be continued through the month of July, yet the demand for coal is not deemed sufficiently active to warrant an advance in prices. We are glad,