FARMERS' COLUMN.

Prof. Arnold is a native of Illinois.

It is said that the Russian thistle is likely to become a pest in the Northwestern States.

Phosphoric acid is the element of plant food that is most likely to become valuable and expensive to purchase in the form of fertilizers.

The prairie regions of the West are unsurpassable in the preservation of timber varieties during the winter on account of the frequent changes. It is even worse than the climate of much higher Latitudes, as the mild days are continuous in fall and spring. There is also a large amount of snow that falls in the mountains. It is easy to raise peach trees in Iowa latitude, but difficult to obtain varieties sufficiently hardy to withstand the effect of repeated freezings and thawings that peach trees may be protected by tying the branches together by bands of hay or straw, and standing long stalks of corn about them. After the latter are in place they should be kept secure by means of a rope or piece of wire, such as is used for binding grain. Large trees may be protected by tying the branches together and building straw stacks about them. Protection may also be afforded by means of a cap for most of evergreens or long eye straw. By means of three or four sets of fence rails a framework may be constructed about a peach tree which when filled with straw, will afford the most ample protection.

Some plant stems may be bent down to the earth, fastened in a position by means of forked stakes, and covered with soil and straw. Some fruit will not bear handling, may be covered with straw, rushes or leaves of any sort placed in rows they may be protected by building a wall of boards on each side and filling with saw dust, tan bark, forest leaves or chopped straw. The boards may be of poor quality of lumber, and can be held in position by stakes. The top of the protection can be covered with boards or earth moulded over so that it will carry off the rain. One set of boards and stakes, with good care, will last many years. The material employed for filling the space between them can be used to good advantage for mulch in the summer. The stakes should be set and the boards nailed to them before the ground freezes, but it is not necessary to supply the filling till after heavy frost comes. If some of the shrubs and bushes are quite tall they may be bent over and held to the ground by means of weights or secured by cross sticks. The covering should remain in place till all danger from heavy frost is over in the spring.

FARM NOTES.

—Music hath charms to soothe the savage. Sloan's Syrup of Tar, Horehound and Wild Cherry, soothes charms to soothe the worst cases of cough, cold, croup or whooping cough. If you don't know it already try it when you call. 25 cents per bottle, for sale by druggists.

—Give pure water to stock.

—Use coal ashes or a coal sifter, or both, in all your yards daily.

—Petroleum is one of the best preservatives of exposed woodwork.

—If R. Roberts' Horse Powders will prevent diseases in horses. Every farmer should give them a package, and see for himself how quick it will impart their healing power. For sale everywhere.

—Provide logs or shelves with abutments and place in appropriate divisions, distinctly marked, all screws, nails, bolts, rivets, staples, hooks, etc.

—The custom of mixing lime and ashes with hen manure is wrong. They drive off the ammonia instead of holding it. Hen manure is useful for potatoes, garden vegetables, or indeed most all crops, including strawberries and other small fruits.

—A file of furnace bottom endorsed by the rheumatic, their pangs may however be relieved by the use of Hop Bitters. Sold by Roberts' Exterminator. Sold over 20 years—No mushroom growth in its portrait or exercise other remedies. Price 50 cents per bottle. Try it just once.

—For storing onions there is no better place than a dry, cool and airy loft, where they can be spread out thinly, and often looked over for the removal of those which may have begun to decay. Warmth and moisture are fatal to the keeping of onions, and much handling is also equally so.

—How often do we hear the remark: "It is only took a light cold at first, and so thought it would go as I cared for it, now nothing I do, and it has developed in to a cough and now is in the last stages of consumption. Prevention is better than cure. Shiloh's Cure, Shiloh's Cure, Cherry and Horehound cure. Coughs, colds, asthma and long affection. It has a reputation of over 40 years. Price 25 and 50 cents per bottle.

—On land which will yield 30 shelled bushels of corn one ton of corn stover may be obtained, and about one ton of clover hay. Also about four gallons corresponding with each bushel of corn. The expense of raising and gathering the same is about equal to the cost of raising a crop of corn on the same ground including husking.

—It is sad but true that many children have killed or incapacitated for life by neglect of their mothers to have a bottle of Piso's Cure for Consumption, Sore Throat and Whooping Cough at hand. For by thousands of mother have found the reason of the year for immediate use.

—The sowing of a bushel of oats per acre with the winter wheat has often proved of material benefit to the wheat crop. The oats grow more vigorously than the wheat and aid in shading and holding the snow. The oats act as a protection or mulch to the wheat. The little heat the youngest plants draw from the soil is retained during the spring, when, being killed by the winter they rapidly decay.

—No one thinks of traveling without taking along a bottle of Piso's Cure for Consumption. Price 25 cents.

—Copper wire and copper straps are often very convenient and of much use in repairing tools, chairs, gates and parts of buildings. Copper wire is almost as easily handled as twine, and is more durable and durable. Its flexibility gives it great advantage over iron wire, and it does not rust. Copper straps for nailing are better than leather on one hand and hoop iron on the other. Copper tacks are good for mending old harness, as they are easily clinched.

—The constant dripping of water will wear the hardest stone, so the constant hacking cough will undermine the strongest constitution. Avoid this by using Piso's Cure for Consumption, Syrup of Tar, Wild Cherry and Horehound.

—It has long been known that the simplest method of separating a grain is to put it for half an hour in water to which one twentieth of its weight of muriatic or sulphuric acid has been added, then lightly wipe it off, and after a few hours sow it on a heap. The acid here retains the place of a whetstone by exercising the whole surface uniformly, so that nothing further than a smooth polish is necessary. The process never injures good kinds, while badly hardened ones are frequently improved by it although the cause of this improvement remains unexplained.

—Sage Syrup of Tar, Wild Cherry and Horehound is pleasant to the taste and most reliable remedy in coughs and colds. Give it a trial. Price, 25 and 50 cents per bottle.

Bogus Certificates.

It is one vile drugged stuff, pre ending to be made of wonderful foreign roots, barks, &c., and puffed up by long lists of certificates of miraculous cures of national diseases, but a simple, pure, effective remedy, containing not known curative properties, the virtues of which are known to the entire civilized world, and which for more than a quarter of a century has been the standard and best of medicines, is another matter.

STOP THAT COUGH.

BY USING DR. GERMAN'S COUGH AND CONSUMPTION CURE.

Warranted to give relief or money refunded.

READ THE FOLLOWING LETTER WHICH SAYS:

Messrs. Hesselin & Ballard.

Gentlemen: I take pleasure in recommending Dr. German's Cough and Consumption Cure, as I have suffered with a severe cough since last May. Have used all kinds of cough mixtures, but could get no relief. Mornings after getting up from my bed I would be so choked up that I could hardly breathe; also frequently vomited severely. A friend directed me to use Dr. German's Cough and Consumption Cure. I did so, but with little faith at the time, but after using I changed my mind, and I can conscientiously say, after taking only one bottle I did not only obtain relief but am not troubled with that tightness in the morning. My cough has stopped, and I can obtain a good night's sleep—something not enjoyed for me for weeks before. Will close by saying if this letter will be of any benefit to you, you may have my consent to make it public. Yours very respectfully,

J. E. DOUGHAER,
171 Belvidere St., Utica.

Remember after using 3 of a bottle and you are not satisfied return the bottle and get your money as we sell no cure, no pay. Price 50 cents and $1 per bottle. As we are authorized to sell on these terms. Agent for Lehighton and vicinity, A. J. Durling.

Speer's Port Grape Wine.

This article of American Wine is highly esteemed on the best physicians in this country. The following is a testimonial we saw from the New York Hospital. We publish it for the information of our readers:

NEW YORK, Nov. 14.

I am using Speer's Port Grape Wine and find it to be an excellent tonic and gentle stimulant, and as such I believe it preferable to any commercial Port, and all other wines, as it possesses their fine properties without the objectionable effects produced by their composition, it is also very palatable, and I believe it much better to obtain, especially for invalids.

S. S. HARRIS, M. D., N. Y. Hospital.

The above is a sample of letters we receive from leading physicians in regard to the Wine.

An Invaluable Article.

The readers of the Argus have no doubt seen the advertisement of Ely's Cream Balm in another column. An article bearing the name has long been desired, and now that it is within the reach of sufferers from Catarrh, Hay Fever, &c., there is every reason to believe they will make the most of it.—Mr. W. E. Beckman, W. E. Hannum, druggist, and other Easton men have given it a trial, and all recommend it in the highest terms.—Easton, Pa., Daily Argus, October 7th, 1879.

"MEALS AT ALL HOURS."

John Forrester was very correctly named, for until a few days ago he had spent his life in the woods. Several days ago he threw aside his maul, went to the city, and now handles the somewhat lighter rock hammer. The story of John's downfall shall be briefly related. Shortly after arriving in the city, he was attracted by a sign bearing the inscription "meals at all hours." Entering the place and meeting the proprietor, he said:

"You keep a tavern here, don't you?"

"No. I keep a restaurant."

"I don't know much about your new names; but you feed folks here, don't you?"

"Yes sir."

"Well I want to board here three days, or I reckon until I get a job of some kind. I see your sign says 'meals at all hours.' You don't mean that do you?"

"Certainly I mean it." I'll board you three days for three dollars.

"And you'll give me my meals at all hours?"

"Certainly."

"Here take the three dollars. I never set myself up for a regular eater, but I'll buck agin you for the next three days. I think that I can stand her about that long. It's eleven o'clock. Give me something to eat."

A meal was brought out and quickly dispatched; and remarking that he would be back on time. Mr. Forrester left. At 12 o'clock he came back and eat again. "You needn't stare at me," he said to one of the waiters.

"You are a regular boarder are you?"

"The regularest one you've got. I don't intend to miss a meal. I've got a chance to get even for being hungry many a time."

"At one o'clock John came back and remarked as he hung up his hat: "I'm on time. It's one o'clock.—Fetch me suthin' to eat."

The waiter went away muttering, and brought in a rather slim meal.

"Look here," said John, "don't try to go back on your contract. I reckon you did underrate my ability, but I'm a man."

At two o'clock John came back and took a seat. The proprietor came in and asked what he wanted.

"I want my dinner, supper or breakfast, just whatever you are a mind to call it."

"You have already eaten three times to day."

"I know that."

"Why do you come again?"

"Because it's two o'clock."

"It is not supper time."

"I don't understand you, sir; what do you mean?"

"Your understanding may have been injured by my surprising ability. I came here with the understanding that I was to have meals at all hours."

"The contract has not been adhered to; you have come irregularly."

"No, sir, I've come here regular. It was the agreement that I was to have a meal every hour, and I'm going to stand up to it if it packs my stomach as tight as a green watermelon. You are trying to impose on me because I'm from the country. I have made arrangements with a boy to wake me up every hour to-night, and I'm coming here to eat. That's my business now, and I'll act fair with you and eat every time. Give me an oyster can of coffee and some ball sausage."

The proprietor handed the man three dollars and requested him to leave. A fight ensued, and John was led away by the police. When he completes his rock pile engagement he will sue the restaurant man for damages.

INDUSTRIAL NOTES.

—St. Paul, Minn., has put up $1,576,900 worth of new buildings the past season.

—Norfolk, Va., truck farmers value their production for the season at very nearly $2,000,000.

—The Milwaukee and St. Paul is to extend its line from Rockerton to Kankakee, nearly 120 miles.

—More than 15,000,000 postal cards were shipped from the manufactory at Holyoke, Mass., one week lately.

—There is said to be but one concern in the world that makes fish hooks by machinery, and that is located at New Haven.

—The Western Union Telegraph Company put up 300 miles of wire in the southern part of Dakota in the month of September.

—France has 3,000 miles of canal, costing $157,200,000. Nearly all the rivers have tow paths along the banks, and boats loaded with coal are towed along them.

—The Baltimore Sun describes a cotton press now being put up in that city which will compress an ordinary bale of cotton to the thickness of seven inches.

—There are six cotton factories at Petersburg, Va. Five of these have 28,000 spindles, 820 looms, and give employment to about 700 operative. Sheeting, shirting drillings, yarns, etc., are made.

—An invention to utilize the same steam which advances the locomotive to retard its progress, making brakes unnecessary, has been successfully tried on the Delaware and Lackawanna Railroad.

—A company which has been experimenting in Florida with the palmetto as a material for paper has met with such success that about twenty paper mills are to be erected in the State for its manufacture.

—During last year it is estimated that the amount of lumber alone manufactured and handled in Norfolk, Va., reached 85,272,572 feet, as compared with 48,150,000 estimated as being manufactured and handled the previous year.

—The impossibility of filling present orders at American mills is sending the bulk of orders for steel rails to England. At present prices this description, as well as iron, can be imported at smaller cost than they can be bought here.

—It is reported that a stock company is about to be formed to build a railroad, regulation gauge, from New Florence, Montgomery county, Ohio, to Fulton, and from Fulton to St. Louis. The original purpose is to then extend through to Boonville via Columbia and Rocheport.

—French railway companies are placing on their night trains a much handsomer and larger type of first-class carriage than has heretofore been in use. But they have not yet made up their minds to make sleeping cars either numerous or cheap. Fine lamps and tables in these new carriages will allow one to sit up and read at night, but most tired travelers would prefer a comfortable bed.

—The Indianapolis, Bloomington and Western Railway, the Cincinnati, Sandusky and Cleveland Railroad and the Columbus, Springfield and Cincinnati Railroad are to be consolidated into a new company, to be known as the Ohio, Indiana and Western Railway, which will build a new line of 131 miles connecting the other roads, giving the new company 543 miles of road from Sandusky, Ohio, to Peoria, Ill.

Sore Throat,
Cold in the Head,
Croup,
Influenza,
Whooping-Cough,
Cold in the Bowels,
Asthmatic Coughs,
and relief of Consumptives.

Dr. BROWNING is a member of the Medical Profession of many years' standing, and a graduate of a well known Medical College, but left that profession to devote his entire time to the manufacture of this valuable remedy, believing that by so doing he could do more good to the afflicted than by confining himself to the practice of medicine. Dr. BROWNING'S CORDIAL is the result of many years' study and experiment, and is a combination of the most valuable remedies known to the profession for the cure of the diseases for which it is recommended. It is a pleasant and safe remedy for children, and is the best medicine for the aged and infirm. Every family should have a bottle in the house, as it is invaluable in the sudden attacks of Croup, Colds, Coughs, &c., to which children are subject. Price 25 cents and 50 cents per bottle, and $1 per bottle (the latter size being three times the former). For sale by all druggists.
