FALSE BEASONING.

Suppose a machine should fall to preform its work, and the owner, instead of trying to oscertain the cause of failure and remedy Orchard and Nursery.

Fail Planting — Late October and early November are often very favorable to the plonting of trees. The soil is still warm from the accumulated heat of summer; it is marely too dry, and if properly drained not too wet. If in planting we cut as we should, every broken root back to a sound place, in a short time these roots will have overcome the lad effects of the removal, and will be ready for vigorous growth in the spring. South $60°, in most years, planting may be done during the greater part of the year without any injury to the newly set trees.

Young trees planted this fall, or even last spring, should have earth drawn up around a losse follows timors, awellings and general deligity, and the cause of failure and remedy in the sound and some around all right is would soon be so again. If a general and permanent break down ensued could any-body be biamed but himself? Now, precisely this way do people at anil argue when the "human machine" is out of order. When the liver is "torpid" in the lad effects of the removal, and will be ready for vigorous growth in the spring.
