Ely's Cream Balm

Is the only Catarrh remedy of many I have tried which has acted as a cure. I have been troubled for over fifteen years; my head has been most of the time stopped and very much inflamed. It has opened my nostrils and relieved the inflammation. My eyes are improving, so that I can stand strong light, which I have not been able to do for years. Nathaniel Pedley, with E. F. Montz, Merchant, Wilkesbarre, Pa.

My Son aged nine years, was afflicted with Catarrh the use of Ely's Cream Balm effected a complete cure. W. E. Harman, Druggist, Easton, Pa.

Ely's Cream Balm sells better than any other preparation for Catarrh, and gives better satisfaction. B. Armstrong, Druggist, Wilkesbarre, Pa.

—Olive Logan tells a good story of an Englishman, who, being asked by a frank, hearty American to tell him what a "card" was, turned to a tuft-hunting American acquaintance with, "I say, my boy, get up and show your friend what a card is."

—"Books on etiquette," wails a fashion exchange, "do not contain codes for the kitchen." Alas! too true; and until they do fashionable women will be at doubt as to whether a silver spoon or a gold toothpick is the proper weapon with which to mash a cockroach.

NEW JERSEY WINE.

This wine for sickness has long been in popular favor, but by no means indicating in its nature. We refer to Speer's Port Grape Wine, which has been introduced into hospitals and among the first families in New York, the principal drug stores in this city, by Alfred Speer, of Passaic, N. J., who has devoted himself for many years to the cultivation of the Oporto Grape, and the study of fermentations, and producing an article, the medical properties of which are said by gentlemen of reputation to be unsurpassed. Mr. Speer ferments his wine by a new process, peculiar to himself, without the addition of sugar or spirits. We doubt whether there is a vineyard in the old or new world that can yield a wine at all comparable to this in richness or delicacy of flavor. All first class druggists keep it.

The above extract from the New York Herald shows the appreciation in which Speer's wine is held abroad. We have drank the wine and can truthfully endorse what the above extract says concerning its good qualities. The way in which it is matured by Mr. Speer gives a finer flavor than any wine we ever drank.—Boston Traveller. For sale by A. J. Durling and C. T. Horn, Druggists, Lehighton, Pa. w 4

—A tired mother was looking rather cross and sullen the other evening when her little four-year-old daughter said to her: "Mother, haven't I been a good little girl to day?" "Yes," replied the mother. "Well, then," said the child, "why don't you smile upon me?"

—Conversation heard on the front platform of a street car: "Does yez tell me there was niver sich a man as Morey that writ the Chinese letter?" "Sure the man's own mother—mark ye—swears as how he never was in existence!"

"NOW WELL AND STRONG."

SHIPMAN, Illinois.

Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

Dear Sir—I wish to state that my daughter, aged 18, was pronounced incurable and was fast failing, as the doctors thought, with consumption. I obtained a half dozen bottles of your Discovery for her and she commenced improving at once, and is now well and strong. She took the Discovery last fall. Very truly yours,

Rev. ISAAC N. AUGUSTIN.

—He was informed that a lady had called to see him in his absence. "A lady," he mused, aloud; "a lady." Upon an accurate description he suddenly brightened up, and added: "Oh, dot vas no lady; dot vas my vife."

—A pessimistic contemporary predicts that the coming winter is going to be a very hard one for the poor. And this in the face of the fact that a good seal-skin sacque can be purchased in New York for $2,000 and a bonnet for $8,000.

—"Dennis Flynn, an ex-policeman of Buffalo is anxiously sought for but can not be found," says an exchange. Dennis evidently thinks he is still on the force.

The climate of the Middle States is very uncertain. One day it is freezing cold, and the next day you may be able to sit in your room with the window open. The natural result is, many colds are contracted by imprudence. In such cases it is well to have a bottle of Dr. Browning's C. & C. Cordial ready for immediate use. Check a cold quickly. A few hours' delay may be the means of sending another consumptive to the grave. Be prompt, and use Browning's C. & C. Cordial, for sale by all druggists. Dr. Browning, Propr., 1117 Arch St., Phila. Price 50 cents.

—A good little boy out West undertook to come the G. Washington on his mother in this way: He cut off the cat's head with the traditional hatchet, and then hid the defunct feline in the meal barrel. When the old lady went for meal to make the "shoe cake" for the frugal morning repast, she discovered the cat and interviewed her little son. He said, "I did it, mother, with my little hatchet, but I'll be swizzled if I can tell the whole truth about this little affair." Now, most mothers would have kissed the brave, truthful lad on his noble brow, and kept right on using the meal out of that barrel just the same, but this one didn't. She said "come across my lap." He came and for awhile there rose a cloud from the seat of his trousers that effectually hid the sun from view and the old woman now sports gore in and is lavish in the use of an eye salve. The good little boy had peppered the seat of his pants.

FARMERS' COLUMN.

Hints about Horses.

The horse's stomach has a capacity of only sixteen quarts, while that of an ox has 250. In the intestines this proportion is reversed, the horse having a capacity of 190 quarts, against 100 of the ox. The ox and most other animals have a gall-bladder for the retention of a part of the bile secreted during digestion. The horse has none, and the bile flows directly into the intestines as fast as secreted. This construction of the digestive apparatus indicates that the horse was formed to eat slowly and digest continually bulky and innutritious food. When fed on hay, it passes very rapidly through the stomach into the intestine. The horse can eat but five pounds of hay in an hour, which is charged, during mastication, with four times its weight of saliva. Now, the stomach, to digest it well, will contain but about ten quarts, and when the animal eats one-third of his daily ration, or seven pounds in one and a half hours, he has swallowed at least two stomachfuls of hay and saliva, one of these having passed to the intestine. Observation has shown that the food is passed to the intestine by the stomach in the order in which it is received. If we feed a horse with six quarts of oats, it will just fill his stomach, and if as soon as he finishes his we feed him the above ration of seven pounds of hay he will eat sufficient in three-quarters of an hour to have forced the oats entirely out of his stomach into the intestine. As it is the office of the stomach to digest the nitrogenous parts of the feed, and as a stomachful of oats contains four or five times as much of these as the same amount of hay, it is certain that either the stomach must secrete the gastric juice five times as fast, which is hardly possible, or it must retain this food five times as long. By feeding the oats first, it can only be retained long enough for the proper digestion of hay; consequently, it seems logical, when feeding a concentrated food like oats with a bulky one like hay, to feed the latter first, giving the grain the whole time between the repasts to be digested. The digestion of a horse is governed by the same laws as that of a man, and as we know that it is not best for a man to go at hard work the moment a hearty meal is eaten, so we should remember that a horse ought to have a little rest after his meal while the stomach is most active in the processes of digestion.

Beet Sugar Manufacture.

The Beet Sugar Company of Portland, Me., have started up their works for the season, and are now working day and night with a force of 125 men and are using 25 tons of coal per day, working about 150 tons of beets daily. They expect to use about 10,000 tons, having now on hand 6,000 tons. The daily arrivals are by rail 300 tons and 50 by farmer's carts. They receive their supplies from New Hampshire and Canada, as well as from Maine. The beets are as good as last year, but on account of the drought the yield will be one-third less. With a full supply of beets the factory could use 20,000 tons in a season, and produce 2,000 tons of sugar and molasses. The waste is now contracted for at $1 per ton, and sold for manure. Two thousand tons of pulp have been contracted for for feed.

FARM NOTES.

—A bulky fodder is the natural food of ruminants.

—A wire heated by a galvanic current will cut wood like a saw.

—A uniform use of water is essential to the healthy growth of plants.

—Corn stalks contain more potash than any other fodder fed to cows.

—Pots containing flowers should be washed as often as any mould or fungus growth appears.

—Wyoming has 467,884 cattle and 332,568 sheep on her plains, while the human population is 20,804.

—To make a bale of cotton weighing 500 pounds, from 1,600 to 1,800 pounds of seed-cotton is required.

—A farmer in Hill county, Texas, harvested 600 acres of brown corn, the past season, which netted $10,000.

—The rain annually carries to the earth a quantity of nitrate and ammonia equivalent to three pounds per acre.

—The most fertile farms in New England to-day are, as a rule, those that are devoted to stock and dairy farming.

—When strawberry plants are set in rows three feet apart and a foot apart in the rows it requires 14,529 for an acre.

—On many farms there are some old cattle and old sheep that can only be kept at a loss. It is economy to fatten them for the butcher.

—In all attempts at breeding domestic cattle no immature stock should be used. Mature sires and dams are essential if strong, healthy stock are desired. "Like produces like."

—Canadian farmers complain that a tariff of but 3 cents per pound on wool affords little encouragement to grow merino sheep or produce fine wool.

—Texas is importing large numbers of merino sheep, the number imported during the past season exceeding that of any former season during the past ten years.

—A moderate quantity of cayenne pepper, mustard or ginger can with great benefit be added to the feed of fowls to increase their vigor and to stimulate egg production.

—There are about 400 species of minerals known, but the varieties of these species are almost infinite. For example, carbonate of lime exists as chalk, marble, spar, lithographic stone, etc.

—It is estimated that the manurial products annually emptied into the River Thames by the sewage of London, if applied to a barren soil, would impart to it a productive power capable of feeding 150,000 people.

—According to Dr. Wiedehold, fungus growths in cellars may be combated either by burning sulphur or by pouring two parts of concentrated sulphuric acid over one part of common salt, and so closing all openings as to prevent any escape of the vapors.

—Dr. Atwater says that a food to give the best results should contain one pound of digestible albuminoids to five pounds of carbo-hydrates, and if more than this of the latter be fed it will be lost unless a proportionate quantity of the former is added, while if more than this proportion of the former be fed it will be lost. Economy in feeding is keeping these two articles well balanced in these proportions.

—The strongest argument in favor of hornless cattle is the fact that horned animals not only injure one another in shipment, often to the extent of $6 to $8 per car, but they frequently come to market with broken horns, and it nearly always happens that the ones to suffer are the most valuable, because their horns are always finer than those upon rough, coarse cattle.

The Leading Scientists of to-day agree that most diseases are caused by disordered Kidneys or Liver. If these, the Kidneys and Liver are kept in perfect order, perfect health will be the result. This truth has only been known a short time, and for years people suffered great agony without being able to find relief. The discovery of Warner's Safe Kidney and Liver Cure marks a new era in the treatment of these troubles. Made from a simple tropical leaf of rare value, it contains just the elements necessary to nourish and invigorate both of these great organs, and safely restore and keep them in order. It is a POSITIVE REMEDY for all the diseases that cause pains in the lower parts of the body—for Torpid Liver, Headache, Jaundice, Dizziness, Gravel, Fever, Ague, Malarial Fever, and all difficulties of the Kidneys, Liver and Urinary organs.

It is an excellent and safe remedy for females during Pregnancy. It will control Menstruation and is invaluable for Leucorrhœa or Falling of the Womb.
