NEW JERNEY WINE.

This wine for sickness has long been in This wine for sickness has long been in popular to var, but by no means intexicating in its tasture. We refer to Speer's Port Graps Wine, which has been introduced into heapits and among the first families in New York, the primpal drug stores in the edity, by Alfred Speer, of Passaic, N. J., who has devoted himself for many years to the cultivation of the Oporto Grape, and the study of fermentations, and producing an article, the medical properties of which are said by gentlemen of reflutation to be unsurpassed. Mr. Speer ferments his wine by a new process, perculiar to himself, without the addition of sugar or spirits. We doubt, whether there is a vineyard in the old or whether there is a vineyard in the old or new world that can yield a wine at all comparable to this in ricinase or delicacy of flavor. All first class druggists keep it.

The above extract from the New York

Herald shows the appreciation in which Speer's wine is held abroad. We have drank the wine and can truthfully endorse what the above extract says concerning its good qualities. The way in which it is matured by Mr. Speer gives a finer flavor than any wine we ever drank.—(Boston Trancter). For sale by A. J. Durling and C. T. Horn, Druggias, Lehighton, Pa.

A cure at last.

Specifics without number for the cure of Catarrh have been extensively advertised, and doubtless there is some virtus in all but the evidence is over-whelming that Ely's Gream Balm gees more directly than any other to the seat of the disease, and though it is a comparatively new discovery, it has resulted in more cures within the range of our observation than all the others put together. Hints for Desember Work (From the American Agriculturist for Dec. 1.)

The days grow shorter, and reach their hortest duration, while the evenings are longer and longer. The time is favorable for looking backward in thought. Forethoughts are good in their time, but after thoughts, though often less honored, are worth a great deal more for shaping the Live Stock .- As the season advances the live stock require increased attention; not only are they more directly depended upon our care, but they are subject to discomforts from exposure, which seriously interfere with the profit of keeping them. Of all our domestic animals the pig is the most sensitive to exposure to rough weather, poultry next, in this order: fowls, ducks, geese, and turkeys, the last often doing better when exposed than if sheltered. Next to fowls,cows, then, working oxen and young cattle; next borses, which are used, unused horses, and sheep. Of these last the long-wool breeds are most sensitive to cold storms and snow. but close-floeced breeds will stand almost Visiting Card to a Large Poster! any amount of cold if they have enough to eat, sheds to go under, and shelter from driving storms from rain and snow. Horses, if well fed, usually feel bright and lively in winter, and young horses are, for this very reason, more easily trained, than when the weather and running at pasture makes them dull. Whenever horses are used so as to warm them up at all, blanket them as soon as they stand still, if only for two or three minutes, those two or three minutes are sometimes enough to give a chill, which may end in pneumonia, o other serious troubles. Grooming saves feed, and also promotes health in horses, an should never be neglected. It will probably pay even to groom boarding horses, and it will certainly pay the owners to stipulate that their horses should be groomed daily. Blankets, except mere "dusters," are worse than useless in stables; they make the horse tender, and more likely to take cold when brought in hot. Litter very freely if you have the material; straw, leaves, swamp hay, etc. Mileh Coses .- These ought to be well fed, and cleaned by a card and brush, daily, it possible, otherwise twice a week. They should be milked up to within four weeks of calving. It is a great temptation to dry off a cow so as to save the labor of milking, and not alone will hired men do this, but the farmers themselves, generally, do it; and think that they save a good deal in feed and labor, while in reality, with young cows, they impart a habit of going dry early, which will last them as long as they live. The better mileh cows are fed, the better return they give, but feed judiciously. Sheep are peculiarly sensitive to good treatment. A good shepherd is always gen tle among his sheep. Ewes which are to lamb early ought to be by themselves and have better care as their time approaches. Feed a few more turnips and give them a little more liberal sprinkling of corn meal and bran, or oil cake. Pigs.-Nearly double the feed will be required to keep pigs; from going back, after really cold weather comes on-say, when the ground freezes. It is then best to kill at nce. Every farmer ought to be able to kill and cut his own pigs. Butchers are often very rough and brutal. This is not necessary. Many a farmer who kills his own pigs does so because he wants the job kindly and humanely done. He actually thrusts the knife as if he loved the victim. Feed roaked corn, that is, corn which is covered with as much boiling water as it will take up in 24 hours. This is better for either fattening or store pigs than coarse meal, unless the latter be thoroughly cooked. ORCHARD AND NURSERY. Appler-This has been a great apple year, and immense quantities I ave been shipped to various parts of Europe. This trade is now so well established that in planting the American orchardist should have the foreign demand in view. Apples for shipping should be those that bear transportation, and also those that are in favor abroad such as the Newtown Pippin, Spitzenberg, Baldwin, etc. Fruit in the Ocllar .- When the fruit cellar is separate from the house it should be kept just above the freezing point; such cellars do not require ventilation. Cellars under living-rooms must be ventilated, otherwise the gasses given off while the fruit is ripening-and too frequently decaying-will endanger the health of the inmates. There is a demand for special care in this matter, at the present time, because the fruit has been so abundant that there is an unusually large amount stored in the cellar. If the house is so constructed that an opening can be made from the cellar into a chimney, ventilation may be very complete; an opening which can be closed at pleasure should be made to admit air from without when desirable. Manures .- By many the orehard is expected to yield two crops—one from the trees, and another more directly from the soil, as it may seem. It is useless to expect the best fruit from trees that are robbed of their nutriment by quick-growing crops. Ordinarily, when the trees come into bearing, they should have the land to themselves. If circumstances make it necessary to grow some crop between the trees, both the crop and the trees should be manured. Well rotted manure is best, and when spread let it cover the whole ground and not be heaped about the trunks of the trees where there are no small roots to make use of it. Winter is an excellent time to spread the manure, as it can be drawn upon sleds which more readily pass under and among low trees than a wagon. A dressing of lime will often be of

THE LEADING SCIENTISTS OF TO DAY REFSE that most diseases are caused by disordered Ridneys or Liver. If, therefore, the Kidneys and Liver are kept in perfect order, periest health will be the result. This truth has only bren known a short time, and for years people suffered great agony without being able to find relief. The discovery of Warner's Safe Kidney and Liver Cure marks a new era in the treatment of these troubles. Made from a simple tropical leaf of rare value, it contains just the elements necessary to nourish and invigerate both of these great organs, and safely restore and keep them in order.
