THAT GIRL.

The girl stood on the kitchen floor— The folks were all in bed; She softly opened the kitchen door, And went into the shed.

THE GIRL IN PRIDE looked all around, And then she smiled in bliss; Then came a heavy thud and sound: The girl—oh! where was she?

ASK of the fragments which you see Upon the kitchen floor; These were the girl, but they'll not be Coherent any more.

LOVES' LOYALTY. Were thy heart a temple, I'd attend it; Were it a star, heaven would lend it To light the shadowy world.

WERE it a bird, I would conceal it; Were it a jewel, I would conceal it; Were it a heart, I would conceal it; Were it a soul, I would conceal it.

A TANGLE STRAIGHTENED. Dick Powers dropped his letter with a grim. It fell by the side of his long, slim envelope on the table.

THE letter, half-folded upon its precise and lady-like creases, lay face up on the table, and the lines betrayed the same gradually girlish handwriting.

It was fully six months later when Kate Richardson walked into a sleeping car at Omaha, followed by baggage and a porter.

Very common sort of people; shan't make the acquaintance of any of them. Miss Richardson thought, as she observed in a glance, without seeming to.

"That my things here," she said to the porter. "I have the whole section, and you may pile them all on the front seat."

"What's it all about, anyhow?" "Just read that," was the reply as Dick passed "Affectionately your own Martha's."

"Your letter don't seem to make you happy, somehow, Dick." "Oh, all if you could only know what a villain I am!"

"If the state of affairs which now dwells upon me daily is as it seems, I rather think you are myself."

"Confound it! You're so hanged over it!" "I'll tell you, Dick, blushing, just imagine yourself in my place for an instant."

"I'm not a man, Dick, blushing, just imagine yourself in my place for an instant." "I'm not a man, Dick, blushing, just imagine yourself in my place for an instant."

"I'm not a man, Dick, blushing, just imagine yourself in my place for an instant." "I'm not a man, Dick, blushing, just imagine yourself in my place for an instant."

ANSWERS TO THE LAST. A fact worth more than a thousand dollars. DIAMOND PUZZLE—T H E T A M S C H E A R M Y E M I L Y S T Y

DIAMOND. 1. A consonant. 2. A part of the body. 3. A fish. 4. Wet earth. 5. B consonant.

TRANSPOSITIONS. 1. Transpose the smallest degree, and have to take by theft. 2. Transpose the world, and have the seat of life.

WIND AND WEATHER. At a recent meeting of the Farmers' Club of the American Institute, Mr. A. J. De Vos, of Hockensack, N. J., sent the following ten short rules by the use of which a person can stand beneath his own vine or fig tree in any part of the Northern Hemisphere north of latitude fifteen degrees.

1. When the temperature falls suddenly there is a storm forming south of you. 2. When the temperature rises suddenly there is a storm forming north of you.

3. The wind always blows from a region of fair weather toward a region where a storm is forming. 4. Cirrus clouds always move from a region where a storm is in progress toward a region of fair weather.

5. Cumulus clouds always move from a region of fair weather, toward a region where a storm is forming. 6. When cirrus clouds are moving rapidly from the north or northwest there will be rain in less than twenty-four hours, no matter how cold it may be.

7. When cirrus clouds are moving rapidly from the south or southwest there will be a cold rain storm on the morrow if it is summer, and if it be winter there will be a snow storm. 8. The wind blows in a circle around a storm, and when it blows from the north the heaviest rain is east of you; from the east, the heaviest rain is west; from the west, the heaviest rain is north of you.

9. The wind never blows unless rain or snow is falling within one thousand miles of you. 10. Whenever a heavy white frost occurs a storm is forming within one thousand miles north or northwest of you.

TWO HISTORICAL INCIDENTS. Whether from a medical or a political point of view, few historical eras have better merited attention than the first attempt upon the life of William the Silent, founder of the Dutch republic. A pistol shot, fired by a half-crazed Spaniard named John Jauregui, traversed Prince William's face and throat, causing an effusion of blood which seemed to make his death absolutely certain.

FOG thinks it strange that nobody thought of reducing the temperature of the President's room by holding a church "social" in it. Fogg says that one of the "socials" he gave in his town would put a coating of ice ten inches thick on a first-class dining car in less than five minutes.

SHAN'T TAKE A BLUE PILL. No, don't take it, and run the risk of incurable poison, but when bilious and constipated get a package of the celebrated Kidney-Wort, and it will speedily cure you. It is nature's great remedy for constipation and for all kidney and liver diseases. It sets promptly on these great organs, and so restores health and vigor. It is put up in liquid and dry form, both acting with equal efficiency. Price $1. See adv.

AN apprentice boy who had not pleased his employer, one day came in for a chastisement, during the administration of which his master exclaimed: "How long will you serve the devil?" The boy replied whimpering: "You know best, sir; I believe my indenture will be out in three months."

BATTLE CREEK, Mich., Jan. 31, 1879. GENTLEMEN—Having been afflicted for a number of years with indigestion and general debility, by the advice of my doctor I used Hop Bitters, and must say they afforded me almost instant relief. I am glad to be able to testify in their behalf. Yours, J. W. KNOX.

Said a young lawyer, not long ago, "I made $40 this week." "How?" was asked. "Well, I got $10 for a case and I borrowed $30." The story is not unlike one told of Henri Minger, the noted Parisian Bohemian. What is your income?" he was once asked. "It is hard to tell," was the reply, "but in good years I can borrow at least 10,000 francs."

"I declare I never was more impressed in my life with the foolishness of flies," exclaimed the boarder to his landlady, as a couple of winged voyagers entered in his soup plate. "I do not understand you, sir," said the landlady. "Well," he explained, "those poor creatures undoubtedly supposed that my soup was thick enough to catch 'em."
