The Coal Trade.

Philadelphia Ledger, 28th ult :- The anbracite coal trade continues in the main unchanged. There is an active demand for almost all sizes, and special sizes are quite short of demand. Among the peculiar feaures of the trade there is no cavil as to prices of coal or as to freight rates. The chief inquiry is as to quick delivery, which just now is delayed by reason of scarcity of reasels and a still limited supply of water ough in this latter frepect much rain has cently fallen; but still not enough to ans wer the needs at some of the mines. The lemand for coal is incessant and large. There is no increase in the stock of coal nor in the arrent production at the mines. While this tor of Shamokin and formeriz of the firm of May, Andenried & Co., operating Back Ridge colliery, died on Monday, 21st uit. the general situation of each day the outlook for those short of coal does not improve nuch. We can but renew our caution to coal consumers to look well and promptly to their coal supplies, there being rarely a time that the coal trade is not subjected to some eligeney, sometimes sgainst consumers and at others against coal operators, This year the outlook is generally thought to be altogether in favor of the coal operators. The Miner's Journal says the inability to fill orders promptly as fast as they ome in occasions some uncasiness on the promise. part of those who are short of coal, and the fear is expressed that the close of navigation nisy find them still without an adequate supply for the winter. This is the re-
