branches and foliage. Rub off in time all the needless shoots, leaving the strongest ones equally distributed along the vine, at distances from eight to twelve inches.

-Hundreds of farmers in Pennsylvania have turned their attention to fish culture. Many have stocked ponds and streams, and in most cases they have been successful, especially with carp, and in a tew years they will depend upon fish for a subsistence as much as upon any other farm product.

-Never let weeds get an inch high. Ge over the beds once a week with a steel rake; the crops will grow faster and the weeds will not get a start. A few hours spent in this will save days of weeding after the weeds have been allowed to get several inches high, by which time they will also have retarced the growth of the crops.

-Bearing the off year may be affected by shearing off all the apple blessoms or small fruit on young trees likely to be overloaded this abundant year. The work is comparatively easy on young trees, which as yet have small crops and are more accessible and it is more likely to produce a perman ent change than an old tree with fixed habit. -Grafts set early in spring should not be injured by shoots and suckers springing up from the stock about them. As soon as the graft shows that it is alive rub off all these sprouts or shoots. If the graft should happen to die, leave the strongest shoot to grow for regrafting, and rub off all the rest. The same attention must be given to buds which were inserted last summer and the at ick cut off this spring.

-Shaping young trees may be easily effested if taken in time, by summer pruning and pinching. A needless or misplaced shoot, which might become a conspicuous distortion if left to grow, is rubbed off with the thumb when an inch or two long. Branches which are running out too long are storped by pinching off the ends. By these means a handsome and symmetrical head is easily given to a young tree, if taken in time. -The non sitters are the Legborns, Ham
