It makes my soul date—
'Twill bring me twenty dollars When painted on a plate.'

November Notes on Farm Stock.
Horses, with their winter coats, sweat easily. When brought in warm they should be rubbed dry and blanketed for an hour.
Working horses should not be blanketed in the stable, but carriage horses, or those not only given the stable, but the best warmly blanketed, for though by this they become more sensitive to cold, and more liable to sweat, yet their coats do not grow so dense and long, and they are much less likely to sweat when driven. Ground or crushed oats go farther, and are better digested, and mix better with other feed than other ones.
They are the best winter feed for horses, but may be mixed with corn or barley meal or wheat bran and middlings for work horses to advantage. Whole grain is not fed without loss.

Bees—In feeding of bees, the notion of early feeding should be consulted—his preferences, likes and dislikes. The object of feeding usually is to get the animal to eat all that he will digest well. Hence a variety should always be at hand, and the ration should be varied by feeding cooked, mashed, or dry meal, as the case may be, with hay and roots. Take great care not to over-feed, and in case of over-feeding, let starvation be the cure. Thus the animal will soon take to feeding again, but will be less likely to fall off much in flesh, than if "phyked."—Nature is the best physician.
