FARMERS' COLUMN.

What Goes with the Farm. H. A. Haigh, of the Detroit Bar, gives the following valuable information in the Agriculturist. When a farm is bought or sold, question ften arise as to what goes with it, and disputes may often be avoided if farmers know just what their farm deeds include. In orief, where no reservations are made it he deed, the conveyance includes the hand the buildings upon it, and all such chattels or articles as have become so attached or fixed to the soil or to the buildings, as to become what is known in law as the "Fix

What constitutes a "Fixture" depends argely on the intention of the owner in outting it there, and also upon the manner which it is affixed. Anything so fixed o the toil or the buildings that it cannot be removed without injury, nearly always cose with the farm; and anything of a permonent nature, fitted for permanent use, and annexed thereto by the owner with that intention, generally goes with the land, though it might be severed without any injury, as the following examples will Hastrater All fences upon the farm go with , but not fencing materials, as rails, etc. bought elsewhere and piled upon the farm, and not yet built into a fence; they have never yet been "annexed." But rails cut from timber standing on the farm and piled up for future use, go with it; their original aunexation is not severed by being changed from standing trees to rails. If however, they were cut with the intention of using them elsewhere than on the farm they would then be personal property, and would not pass. The bare intention in the nind of the owner in this instance makes the difference between real estate and personal property. Hop poles, if they have been used once upon the farm, are regarded as a part of it, though at the time of sale they are stored away for future use. Loose s-affold-poles, however, laid across the b ams of a tarp, have been held not to be a part of the reality. Standing trees, of ourse, are part of the farm; so are trees cut or blown down, if left where they fall, but not if corded up for sale; the wood has then ecome personal property.

How to Bring Them Under Subjection. Bu 1 often become unfuly, and positively dangerous, as they advance in years. Unless kept completely under control, they must be sold to the butcher when four or five years old-lest they may do serious inmry to persons or stock. There are many ways suggested for overcoming this exil,but method has been found positively effifour in all instances. It is necessary t neace training early to accustom them a submission. If one can keep the built from learning his power, from realizing went he isensable of doing, it is well, but he moment be fines, by serial trial; that e can get the best of man or beast, just eseen is he unsafe. No matter what res trictions may be put upon him, he is stantly watch ng for opportunities and in s noment of forgetfulness on the part of his master, may masert his poweren Feven g re and trample him to death. One of the finest bulls I ever raised, a ure-bred Guernsey, was sent to the Lutcher at five years of age, as he could break alnot any rope, and break or straighten any ORIENTAL JOURNAL!! map which might be fastened to the ring Published by Jameson & Monar, Chicago, in his nose. He contracted the habit of goring horses which were in the same foold enclosure, nearly disembowelling a valuable mars, and tossing two or three wellgrown colts quite over the barn-yard lence. This Journal gives information on discover-When he was young, I put a ring in his valuable to those who are following Antinose, and taught him to submit to being quarian subjects as well as to the eight or nine months old he was broken to bridle and bit, and a boy was put on him every day, driving or rather riding him, for an bour or two each time. He was under complete subjection until past three years old, at which time one of the men tied him up with an old, weak piece of rope, which the bull accidentally broke. Ever after we could not tie him; so he would carefully lay back until the rope was tight, and then pull stendily until it was broken. A cross horse which was in the By the central position of its line, connects the East and the West by the shortest route, and carries passengers, without change of cars, between Chicago and Kanasa City, Council Bluffs, Leaven-worth, Atchison, Muneapolis and St. Paul. It convects in Union Depots with all the principal lines of road between the Atlantic and the Facing Oceans. Its equipment is unrivaled and magnificant, being composed. Manufactual Berton Reclining Char Care, Pullman's Frestiest Falses eliceping Cars, and the Best Line of Diumg Cars in the World. Three Trains between Chicago and Minucapolis and St. Paul, via the Famous born yard, once started for him, but was soon worsted, and after that the buil was m ester of the yard. Some persons advocate knocking one eye out of the bull, which while it may be effectual in taming him, is cruel, and does not commend itself to huname breeders of fine stock. Be gentle but firm with the animal when he is young .-D. Z. Evans, Jr., Agriculturiat.

Froming and Frozon Plants.

Dr. George Tourber writes in Dec. Amerias Agriculturist upon care of frozen plants: Those who have window plants canno always keep the temperature of the mone sufficiently high at night to make sure that no harm will come to them by frost, Wherit is seared that they may freeze, it will be well to cover them at night, either with a sheet or with newspapers, which are quite as good. It is not difficult to arrange a covering by the use of strings and sticks to hold the payers up above the plants. A canopy of this kind will prevent the radiation of heat from the pots and the plants, and be of g cut service. In a collection of plants, some will be much more severely injured by freezing than others, but mearly ail, i not too much exposed, will soon recover, uniess suddenly warmed. When the change to a higher temperature very gradal is but a few degrees above freez-
