Leached Word Ashes.

Ashes fresh from the stove or formace. contain all the mineral constituents neces sary for plant growth, and are therefore very valuable as a fertilizer to a worn out or naturally poor soil. A large part of the potash is removed from the ashes in leach ing, and as this constituent is a leading one, lenched ashes are of less value as plant food than when fresh. The owner should save in a secure place, all the ashes made, and apply them to the land in the spring. A top dressing of 20 bushels per sere to an old pasture or meadow will give good returns for several years. The leached ashes should be disposed of in the same manner, only they may be applied at the rate of 100 ashels per sere.

Leached ashes have been bought and used or many years by farmers and gardeners on Long Island and near the shore towns in Connecticut. These ashes are brought mainly from Canada. Ashes are specially good for tobacco land, and onion raisers find them profitable. It has been observed that where this fertilizer has been introduced, it ctains its hold upon the confidence of those who use it. Fruit growers are glad to get eached ashes for their small fruit parden and even orchards of large trees are much senefited by them. Save all the ashes siched or unleached, and if there is a good opportunity apply them .- American Agr

Scraping Trees.

Do we approve of scraping Trees? asks riend of ours. Certainly we do, provided hey need it, and one can rarely find an old tree that does not. Aside from the fact that the removal of the old back scales breaks up a refuge for various insects, induding the Woolly-aphie, the increased eauty of the tree repays the trouble. There are scrapers made for the puspose; one of hese has a triangle blade, another a long blade, with one flat and another slightly soncave edge. An old hoe is quite as good tool as any; cut off the handle to about Sinches, and do not grind the blade too sarp, as a cutting implement is not needed only a scraper, On a very old trunk ome force may be needed ito detach the he scales that are partly, loose, but on oung trees be esreful not to wound the southy bark. The scraping may be done now, next month, or later. When there omes a most drizzily spell, go over the craped bark with good soft soap, made thin enough with water to apply with a brush. Paint over a thick coat of this soap and cave the rest to the rains. Later in the ason the trees will appear as if furnished rith mahogany trunks. - Agriculturist.

Barbed Wire Fences.

Steel wire in some of its many forms it coming, in certain quarters, the fenerag naterial for farms and railroads, and even or garden and lawn. Some of the points laimed in favor of this new fence are: scapness, durability, case of shipment of the material, and indestructibility by erdinary fires, like those arising from sparks of a passing locomotive. The barb should be short, with a keen point, standing at right angles to the wire. Some have advocated a dull point as more humane, but the uccess of the barb in turning stock resides u its sharp point. Often animals have ORIENTAL JOURNAL!! sen mjured and even killed by wire fences, dall need to be introduced to this form barrier. A colt, or cow, that has once Perr, devoted to Classical, Oriental Euf barrier. A colt, or cow, that has once been pricked by the burbs, will keep at a afe distance from the fence. Most of the post, near the top, to make the feuce more ender. conspicuous. The ribbon wire is more usily seen than the round form, but experience has taught that it is less durable, Now during the winter is a good time to look into this important matter of barbedwire fences .- Agriculturist.

Turnips as a Farm Crop. F. D. Curtis is a strong advocate of root ops, and writes as follows in the American Aureulturist: A turnip crop will fit a meadow for corn as the sod will be rotted, ready for giving be maize a vigorous start, and the ground will be more mellow and all the richer on ecount of the turnips. The soil should be turned over as soon as possible after the slaver or hay crop has been taken off. It would be well to roll the ground and flat ten the sward, to hasten its decomposition and a few days before sowing time, harrow t thoroughly. A dressing of finely rotted namure should then be spread apon the urface, and cultivated into the soil, the cound being pulverized and made as mellaw as possible. If wood ashes can be procured, they will help the crop if they are thirdy scattered on top. A pound and a unif of seed sown broadcast is simple for an ere. The see I should be covered with a rud drog. As soon as the turnips are up, bey will be bounfited by a dressing of Later (sulphate of time), at the rate of 2 naticls to an acre. Good phosphate wil m ke turn'ps grow, if harrowed into the ground with the send, using 100 pounds to the sere. The advantages of a crop of turnops for the latter part of autumn are many wid. If the farmer does not wish to harvof them, he can turn on his entire stock, nd the hungry animals that might have ormed over frost Litten, barren fields, will exerists in plenty.
