A Great Cause of Human Misery IS THE LOSS OF MANHOOD

A Lecture on the Nature, Treatment and Radical Cure of Seminal Weakness, or Spermatorrhea, Impotency, Nervous Debility, and Impairment to Marriage generally; also, Consumption, Epilepsy and Fits; Mental and Physical Incapacity. By ROBERT J. CALVERT, M. D., author of the "Green Book," &c.

The world-renowned author, in this admirable Lecture, clearly traces from his own experience that the awful consequences of Seminal Weakness may be effectually removed without dangerous surgical operations, blisters, or instruments, or any of those cruel, expensive, and needless means, by which many have been ruined, and which only too often terminate in a premature grave.

This Lecture will prove a boon to thousands and thousands. Sent under seal in a plain envelope, to any address, on receipt of six cents, or two postage stamps. Address: The Calverwell Medical Co., 41 Ann St., New York, N. Y.; Post Office Box 406. Oct. 7, 1882, 177.

An Old Soldier's EXPERIENCE.

Calvert, Texas, May 3, 1882.

"I wish to express my appreciation of the valuable qualities of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral as a cough remedy."

"While with Churchill's army, just before the battle of Vicksburg, I contracted a severe cold, which terminated in a dangerous cough. I found no relief till on our march we came to a country store, where, on asking for some remedy, I was urged to try AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL.

"I did so, and was rapidly cured. Since then I have kept the PECTORAL constantly by me, for family use, and I have found it to be an invaluable remedy for throat and lung diseases."

"Thousands of testimonials certify to the prompt cure of all bronchial and lung affections, by the use of AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL. Being very palatable, the youngest children take it readily."

PREPARED BY Dr. J. C. Ayer & Co., Lowell, Mass. Sold by all Druggists.

AN OLD MAN

WHO IS UNQUALIFIED WITH THE GEOMETRY OF HIS COMPLEXION BY REASON OF HIS ADVANCED AGE.

On Thirty Days Trial. The Voltaic Belt, Marshall, Mich., will send Dr. Electro Voltaic Belt and Electric Appliances on trial for thirty days to men (young or old) who are afflicted with nervous debility, loss of vitality and kindred troubles, guaranteeing speedy and complete restoration of health and manly vigor. No risk is incurred, as thirty days' trial is allowed. 5ly

"What maddled me," said the man, "was not that the post struck me but that the sympathies of the folks looking on were all against me."

Work Given Out. On receipt of your address we will make an offer by which you can earn $3 to $7 evenings, at your home. Men, Women, Boys or Girls can do it. H. C. WILKINSON & CO., 196 and 197 Fulton Street, New York.

And now it is learned that army officers are overworked and discouraged. Each officer has to boss an average of eight men, and it is a killing task.

By land or at sea, out on the prairie, or in the crowded city, Ayer's Cathartic Pills are the best for purgative purposes, everywhere alike effective, efficacious and safe. For sluggish bowels, torpid liver, indigestion, bad breath, flatulency, and sick headache, they are a sure remedy.

"What is bred in the bone, will never out of the flesh." But rheumatism, neuralgia, sciatica, and all other conditions, arising from derangements of the functions of the liver, kidneys and bowels will "out of the flesh" without fail after the thorough use of Kidney-Wort, the cure for all such diseases.

Gentlemen who are growing gray will be glad to learn from a fashion paper that "the custom of inserting white hairs in dark hair has been abandoned."

When your wife's health is bad, when your children are sickly, when you feel worn out, use Brown's Iron Bitters.

The end eved post signs and signs are there are no birds in last year's nests. Such a man would howl for the bananas in the peel of the nest.

An Indiana man has trapped thirty eight crows within a year, and set each the loose with a bell on its neck. The crows are much tinkled over it.

The New Patent DUST-PROOF Stem Winding Open Face Case, MANUFACTURED BY THE American Watch Co., WALTHAM, MASS.

This case is formed in one solid piece without joint or seam, opening in front only thus avoiding the usual Cap, and securing greater strength and durability.

These Watches are all open face. The bezel, into which an extra strong crystal is fitted with an especially prepared water proof cement, is attached to the case by screwing it thereon, and thus forms an airtight junction with the body of the case, which is proof against dust and moisture.

To railroad men, travelers, miners, laborers and others who are almost constantly exposed and who have to make frequent reference to the watch, these qualities are of the utmost importance.

The Following Letters Tell Their Own Story:

"VALCOSTA, GEORGIA, July 29, 1882. "I sold one of your Patent Dust Proof Cases about ten months ago, and the other day it came back to me with the request to make it wind easier. On examination I found that the stem was rusty, and I inquired into the cause of it. The gentleman stated to me that he was starting some saw logs that had lodged in the bend of the river, when his chain caught in a bush and threw his watch into about twelve feet of water, and he was about two hours finding it. When he got it out it was running and he thought all right. In about three months he found that the stem was hard to turn and sent it to me.

"I can say that the watch is all that the company claims for it and recommend it to all railroad and mill men."

"CLINTON, IOWA, April 29, 1881. "I wish you would send me a Spring for the Wm. Elery Watch. I sold in your Sewal Case to a farmer last fall. The first of January he had the watch in the woods and found it this week in about one foot of water. It had lain three months and over in snow and water, but with slight injury to the watch—only a hair-spring."

The above were very severe tests, and demonstrate beyond a doubt, that for any reasonable length of time during which a watch might be under water it would require no injury whatever.

We make these cases in both gold and silver, and are PERFECTLY DUST-PROOF. SEND THE WORLD TO PRODUCE ITS EQUAL. For sale by all first-class jewelers. March 24, 1883-m3.

MISCELLANEOUS.

"Every farmer should at least have one copy paper, and that paper should be the Advocate, which contains all the latest local news. Only $1.00 a year."

"Some genius has invented a machine to play pines. This will give girls a chance to help mother hang out the clothes, Monday afternoon."

ADVICE TO MOTHERS. Are you disturbed at night and broken of your rest by a sick child suffering and crying with pain of cutting teeth? If so, send at once and get a bottle of Mrs. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP FOR CHILDREN TEETHING. Its value is incalculable. It will relieve the poor little sufferers immediately. Depend upon it, mothers, there is no mistake about it. It cures dysentery and diarrhoea, regulates the stomach and bowels, cures wind colic, softens the gums, reduces inflammation and gives tone and energy to the whole system. Mrs. WINSLOW'S SYRUP IS PREPARED FOR CHILDREN TEETHING in the taste, and is the prescription of one of the oldest and best female physicians and nurses in the United States, and is for sale by all druggists throughout the world. Price 25 cents a bottle.

VARIETIES.

"It is quite possible to have a genuine feeling of love for a wealthy girl, because some rich damsels are worth loving. Many men have been sold on porrigis."

"Manufacturers of castor oil are trying to get up a ring to boost prices, and the baby which won't do it can do six times as well."

"A Minnesota farmer advertised that if the man who had run away with his wife, two children and $500 would return the young ones, he might keep the money and the wife."

"If it be true that 'there's nothing half so sweet in life as love's young dream,' it is equally true that there is nothing half so awful as an old and worn-out love's nightmare."

"Don't clutch at the shadow and lose the substance, says a patent medicine advertisement. Good advice. When you are falling don't clutch at the air. Grab the back of your neck and let yourself down gently."

"It's rather embarrassing for a shopkeeper to be obliged to bluff a tax assessor on the valuation of his stock, and on being burned out that night have to face the man as chairman of an underwriter's committee on valuation."

"When the papers speak of the infant industries of the country they don't mean sticking the toes in the mouth or biting upon rubber rattles, although those are the principal industries of the infant."

"Startling crimes are of frequent occurrence now, and yet some people contend that the world isn't any worse than it used to be. Perhaps, however, it only has a worse way of showing its wickedness."

"They no longer shoot apples off the heads or leading ladies on the variety stage. A suppe fires a gun behind the scene and a boy knocks the apple off with a feather duster, and everything is not only lovely but perfectly safe."

"If the cashier of a bank, doing business on a capital of half a million, steals the bank funds and tucks in the stock of the bank on the quiet, who's going to prosecute him."

"Why They Call Him 'Old Man.'" "Yes, that's sadly so," said Jenkins, "my hair is turning gray and falling out before its time. Use something? I would, but most hair restorers are dangerous." "True," answered his friend, "but Parker's Hair Balsam is as harmless as it is effective. I've tried it, and know. Give the Balsam a try and the boys will soon stop calling you 'Old Man Jenkins.'" It never fails to restore the original color to gray or faded hair. Richly perfumed, an elegant dressing."

"Petitions against the affirmation, in 1-10 of faith, in Parliament bill, flow into Westminster at an amazing rate—largely from non-conformists."

"When we disagree with another man as to the details of an event there is a great deal of difference between history and mystery or his story and my story."

"Squashes for Hogs." A New York farmer has found that an acre of the Hubbard squash will fatten more hogs than any corn which could be raised on the same ground, and the squashes will keep through winter. He plants twenty feet apart each way, which is thick enough, and little cultivation is required. The crop is easily gathered, no digging being required. The plants are rampant growers, and are out of the way of bugs in a week, early in the season. The squashes are cracked and passed through a rot cutter, and the seeds are sold to dealers in Boston. From six to eight tons have been obtained from an acre, estimated by the wagon load. Where he could sell only a part he fed his cows with the rest and sold the seeds, and found this more profitable than to sell the squashes in the market.

Varieties of Corn. The Massachusetts Ploverman says: The exhibits of seed corn made during the past autumn indicate that the farmers are alive to the importance of improving this most important grain. While it is yet too early to decide which quality will eventually take the lead, it is evident that at present the eigthousand, long eared yellow varieties find the most favor. In this class there are varieties, which have been produced by selection. Each grower having peculiar ideas of his own, he selects according to his ideal of perfection. Some select large single ears on small stalks, others twin ears, with out regard to the size of the stalks; others select the largest ears with the best kernels, and still others select the earliest, with but little regard to other qualities. These different methods of selection have resulted in the production of variations in the direction sought by each grower; thus proving beyond a doubt that the farmer who has it in his power to improve the qualities of his corn in such direction as he may think best. The important question now seems to be: What are the most desirable points to be improved? At first thought it would seem that the twin ears would stand first, but careful observing farmers express an opinion against twin ears and give as a reason that it is better to have one large ear on a small stalk than it is to have two ears on a large stalk, one of which will be very sure to be of medium size and often of an inferior quality; and they argue that it is less labor to grow two small stalks containing two medium sized ears, and the belief is expressed that, in every weight of the stalk which produces two medium sized ears must be nearly equal in weight to the two stalks that have one large ear each, the fodder of the latter, being smaller, will be eaten much more readily. If each farmer continues to select seed according to his particular idea, at a future period of time, a comparison of the qualities of the different varieties each has secured, will settle, at least in a measure, which method of selection secures the most desirable qualities.

Waste Prevented. A pig pen should be made in two divisions, one under roof, and one without a roof. The first should contain the trough and bedding, and to the second the pigs can go to snuff themselves at leisure, and there the manure should be made. Under these outside pens should be kept plenty of straw, as an absorbent. The straw should be changed once every month, and the pen should be cleaned every day or every other day. The contents of the outside pens should be thrown on the manure heap, and the bed in the inside pen be mixed with the droppings of the pigs. By this process a farmer can make a load of manure and fat-tail, in every pig that is raised and fattened. Pigs kept in this way will thrive much better with the same food than otherwise, and the farmer himself will be much better satisfied. —Agriculturist.

Fecundity of Swine. A sow under a year old, at St. Ives, England, gave birth a few months ago to the enormous number of eighteen well developed pigs. A half sister had previously produced fifty one pigs within a year. Her first litter was seventeen, the second 18, and the third sixteen. A large white sow at Cumberland gave twenty three pigs at a birth, eleven of which survived and grew well. At five births previously, the same sow had farrowed ninety-three pigs. American pork raisers had best send to England for a few breeders, for with them in their sties, the number of pigs and the price of pork fall to a moderate figure. At present it is high, considering our large yields of the various sorts of grain throughout the land. —Agriculturist.

The Advocate $1 a year. —Wolfeville, N. C. —Dr. T. C. McLaughlin says: "I used Brown's Iron Bitters for vertigo and I now feel like a new man."
