WHEN Jay Gould was examined before the Labor and Education Commission last week the intelligent foreigner might have imagined that a Sunday School director was giving evidence. One day when Jay was refused a dinner "he went into the woods and prayed." This marked a new epoch in his life. The flood of spiritual wealth vouchsafed to him then has been transmuted into gold and he has continued "preying" ever since. Jay Gould has been charged with many a crime, but, until last week, no one ever thought that he had committed a prayer.

HENRY WARD BEECHER is making a noise in California by some silvertongued utterances on behalf of the Chinese. If Henry, by his advocacy can only do as much good for the Chinese as he has done for the Christian religion, the pig-tailed gentry should present him with a stick and rsk him to "cut it" from the Pacific Coast.
