

Original Cheap Cash Store

Actual cost to us does not enter into consideration a moment. Therefore, the knife has been applied to cutting prices to a degree never before equaled in this section:

- $1.75 Shirts cut down to $1.25
$2.50 Shirts cut down to $1.75
$3.00 Shirts cut down to $2.25
$3.50 Shirts cut down to $2.50
$4.00 Shirts cut down to $3.00
$4.50 Shirts cut down to $3.50
$5.00 Shirts cut down to $4.00
$5.50 Shirts cut down to $4.50
$6.00 Shirts cut down to $5.00

J. T. NUSBAUM

Opp. Public Square, Bank Street, Lehigh, Pa. June 9, 1885-17.

The Carbon Advocate

SATURDAY, JANUARY 19, 1884

SPECIAL NOTICE—Persons making payments to this office by money orders or postal notes will please make them payable at the WASHINGTON POST OFFICE, as the Lehigh office is not a money order office.

Our Neighborhood in Brief

—Numerous—Sleeping parties.
—Slippery—Some of the crossings.
—Top boots cover a multitude of shins.
—A brick in the hod is worth two in the hat.
—A Wall Street lamb sometimes becomes a sheep.
—The Nussbaum and Milt Claus spent Sunday in Wilkesbarre.
—Extracted meetings have commenced in the Evangelical church.
—Know thy neighbor; the proper study of mankind is to find out who he is.
—Rip Van Winkle is to be produced at Allentown on Pennsylvania Dutch.
—The payroll of the Pennsylvania Steel Works for December amounted to $74,900.
—GO TO ROSEBERG'S, IN OHELT'S BUILDING FOR AN EASY SHAVE.
—Chas. Thomas, of Stirling, spent Sunday in town with his brother, T. Dio Thomas.
—The miners around Wilkesbarre are buying for cash, company stores having been abolished.
—Ladies and gents gold and silver watches specialty, at Deitz & Co's, P. O. building, Weisport.
—The Benemer, morning and rail mills of the Pennsylvania Steel Works are busy night and day.
—A grand ball will be given at the Carbon House, on January 29. Get your tickets early.
—Engine No. 331 ran off the track while shifting cars at the Glen Onoko bridge last Sunday night.
—Largest stock of handsome gold watches in the county at E. H. Hub's, Match Block.
—Acker's Celebrated English Remedy for Coughs, Colds, and Consumption. Sold for us on a guarantee by Dr. Horn, Lehigh, and E. A. Horn, Weisport.
—It is stated on the authority of the Wilkesbarre Sunday News Dealer, that prominent Democrats of the 21st District are making a move toward re-nominating Senator Coles and that they will persist in his re-election.

Best make of Horse Shoe Nails for 20cts a pound by the box at J. L. Gabel's.

—A Farm of 118 acres with a house on it, and about 2 acres cleared, for sale cheap or in exchange for town property. Three miles from Mauch Chunk. Address W. M. Bisher, Lehigh, Pa.
—For the week ending on the 29th ult. there were 76,351 tons of coal transported over the Lehigh Valley railroad, making a total of 413,104 tons, a decrease of 146,706 tons as compared with same time last year.
—E. H. Hohl, the enterprising jeweler of Mauch Chunk, has again increased his stock of gold watches, and his new stock makes his stock the largest and finest in this section of the State.
—Charles Ehrig, of West Bethlehem, a brakeman on No. 82 freight, Lehigh Valley Railroad, while coupling cars at Stecker's siding, below the Packerton yard, on Friday, had his right hand caught between the bumpers. He was taken to St. Luke's Hospital, at Bethlehem, where one of the fingers was amputated.
—Mr. Daniel Wiand having made the alteration to his manufactory, announces himself ready to supply his old friends or new ones, with carriages, wagons, sleighs, and all kind of repairing on short notice and at reasonable terms.
—10d. to 40d. nails of J. L. Gabel's for only $3.00 per keg. Locks $2.75 per doz.

Fatal Coal Mining Accident

George Wertz, aged fifteen years, was probably fatally injured while coupling in Schuykill Haven. On Saturday night he was giving warning to some of his companions of the approach of a passenger train when it struck him and threw him a great distance, fracturing his skull and breaking his shoulder bone.

Assets of a Defunct Iron Company

The report of John Halston, assignee of the Greenwood Rolling Company, at Pottsville, was filed in court Monday. He reports having $3,000 on hand. The greater portion of the money is due to the men who were employed at the mill at the time it suspended last summer. An auditor was appointed to distribute the funds among the creditors.

Sheriff Sales

The Koster township lots at Lehigh Township were bid in by Attorney Fred Bernette.
The John Sandel farm in Mahoning was purchased by E. B. Stewer, eq., for ex-Sheriff Stecker, at $2500.
The Susan McHugh real estate at Summit Hill and Mahoning township, was knocked down to Daniel Stepp, of Tanawaga, for $900.

Due Notice

After January 19 our new Spring Styles of Wall Paper Borders and Decorations will be coming in, and as we have so many goods from all purchases in order to hurry them off and make room for the NEW we offer the public 15 per cent discount FOR CASH purchases, don't miss this opportunity of saving money. E. F. LUCKASCH, 61 Broadway, Mauch Chunk.

A Fatal Dynamite Explosion

An explosion took place Monday forenoon at the iron mines at Cornwall, near Lebanon. A young man named John Pauly entered a small building for the purpose of taking out a few pounds of dynamite. There were one hundred and fifty pounds of the explosive in the building. A few seconds after his entrance there was an explosion and the building was blown into splinters. Pauly was left in the ruins, horribly burned. His left leg had been blown off. He died shortly afterward.

Ready mixed paints at J. L. Gabel's for $1.25 per gallon.

—D. B. Beck, of Scranton, is spending a few days with his parents and friends hereabouts during the week. He is looking and feeling well and happy.
—If you want nice smooth, easy hair your hair out or shampooing, go to Frau Rosner's Saloon, under the Exchange Hotel. He will fix you right, and don't you forget it.
—T. D. Casey, Henry Meyer, Major Nathaniel Finch and James E. Moran have been elected to represent Allegheny county in the Democratic State Committee. It is understood that all of them favor the reelection of Chairman Russell.
—Never try to raise a family without a good newspaper; provided it contain the advertisement of Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup for this valuable medicine is necessary to keep your children in good health.

PHILA. & READING R. R.

GEORGE DE R. KEIM UNWITTINGLY ELECTED TO SUCCEED MR. GOWEN. READING'S ANNUAL REPORT SHOWING SURPLUS OF $100,000. DIVIDEND ON PREFERRED AND 6 PER CENT ON COMMON STOCK.

The annual meeting of the Stockholders of the Philadelphia and Reading Railroad Company was held at noon Monday at Association Hall, and the election of a successor to President Gowen and a new Board of Managers was effected without any show of dissenting feature of the Reading elections. The result of the election was in no sense a surprise, as it was known that Mr. Gowen would, under no circumstances, accept a re-nomination, that he desired to be succeeded by Vice-President George De R. Keim, and that he held a week before the election, sufficient power to elect him. The following was the ticket elected, there being cast for it 391,100 shares, and none against it—President, George De R. Keim, Managers: J. B. Lippincott, Henry Lewis, J. V. Williamson, Edward C. Knight, Joseph B. Altemus, Loring A. Robertson, Treasurer, William A. Church, Secretary, Albert Frater.

There is but little change in this ticket from that of last year. Loring A. Robertson takes the place of State Senator Eckley B. Cox. Mr. Cox resigned from the Board shortly after the lease of the New Jersey Central, because of his extensive connection with that road, as a shipper of coal and coke.

William A. Church, as Treasurer, succeeds Samuel Bradford, who has been connected with the Reading Railroad for more than thirty years. He declined a re-nomination and election on account of advancing years. He is well known to the stockholders. The meeting was called to order at 2 o'clock by William L. Macfar. E. S. Wilson was made chairman. There were present about 300 of the stockholders.

COURT PROCEEDINGS

Judge Deber and Meadon were present. Judge Deber was well as at his residence during yesterday and to-day. The constables returned were all taken and sworn to. Judge Deber charged the Grand Jury and they went to work immediately and returned several bills before evening.

The Hummel-Stanton prosecution was ignored and costs put on the county, owing to the lapse of time. The license list was taken up and all the old ones granted. The new applicants held no objection to any except McGinley, of West Broadway; all held under advisement. Sheriff sales took place at one o'clock. The bidding on the Sandel farm was lively.

THE ANNUAL REPORT

President Gowen read the annual report of the Board of Managers. From the report it appears that the total surplus for the years 1878-83, was $2,157,233.90, which sum would be sufficient to pay a dividend of 7 per cent on the preferred stock, 6 per cent upon the common, and leave a balance of $67,000 applicable to the interest on the deferred bonds. The total net profit of the railroad, and of the coal and iron companies, was $15,388,542 and the rental $6,412,426 67; all interest accounts, $2,216,132. The profit from the New Jersey Central Railroad during the same months since the lease has been in operation, was $633,482 57. The total number of passengers carried was 818,195,246; tons of coal, 11,449,273; tons of merchandise, 7,159,652; total tonnage, including passengers, 22,653,211 tons.

The report recommends the creation of a collateral trust fund of $12,000,000, at 5 per cent, to pay off the floating debt and the outstanding mortgage bonds, and also to purchase 50,000 shares of Jersey Central stock, in order to obtain complete control of the road. The report pictures the future of the Reading Road as full of hope and promise, and points with satisfaction to the lease of the Jersey Central under the most favorable circumstances.

THE DIVIDEND GOWEN RECOMMENDS

Mr. Gowen then asked that a vote be taken upon a resolution that the stockholders meet on two weeks, on the 29th, to vote upon the recommendations of the report, and also upon the question of declaring a dividend. He said he would vote his proxies in favor of a dividend of 21 per cent upon the preferred stock, and 3 per cent upon the common stock. It was voted to meet on the day indicated for the purpose suggested by Mr. Gowen's resolution.

Death of Hon. Samuel A. Bridges

Another link connecting the past with the present was sundered last Monday evening in the not unexpected demise of one of Allegheny's oldest, best loved and most highly respected citizens, Hon. Sam A. Bridges. He had for some time been afflicted under an ailment which was severe form. He gradually weakened until he died Monday evening, when the shadows of death gathered and when upon his countenance, his respiration became feeble, and at last, at near 9 o'clock, death, without unlooked for, as he had the service of his wife and friends, and the presence of his many friends, he passed peacefully to his eternal rest.

"Every Day Cyclopedia"

Of Useful Knowledge" is the title of a standard work issued by the St. Louis Publishing Company, of St. Louis, Mo. It contains a vast amount of accurate and reliable information, for Merchants, Farmers, Mechanics, Tradesmen and Housewives. It embraces the care and management, diseases and remedies of horses, cattle, sheep, swine and poultry; besides there it contains 16,000 useful recipes upon various subjects of daily life. How so much valuable matter, so conveniently arranged, can be crowded into one book, is a mystery, and yet it is all made clear in the "Every Day Cyclopedia of Useful Knowledge."

Political

Maloy, of Lansford, Ebody of Weath city, and Leiter of Mahoning, are spoken of as Democratic aspirants for the Legislature, and Rickett, of Summit Hill, Miller, of East Mauch Chunk, and Deitz, of Packerton, for County Treasurer; Dermott, of Nequehoning, Craig, of Lehigh Gap, and Arner, of Weisport, for County Commissioners; Smith, of Lehigh, and Reber, of Weisport, for Register and Recorder; and Bauer, of East Mauch Chunk, ex-Prothonotary.

Family Stricken with Diphtheria

Diphtheria in a violent form has been prevailing in the family of Professor C. S. Wiand, principal of a seminary at Pennsylvania, Montgomery county, and three of four of their children have died within five days. The youngest was not quite one year old and the oldest about 3 1/2 years. The remaining child is also down with the disease, but there is a hope entertained for its recovery. The entire family was protected with the disease, but Professor and Mrs. Wiand and the servant girl are now on the road to recovery.

PRESIDENT PACKER'S REPORT

FAVORABLE FIGURES PRESENTED AT THE ANNUAL MEETING OF THE LEHIGH VALLEY STOCKHOLDERS.

The stockholders of the Lehigh Valley Railroad held their annual meeting Tuesday at the office of the company, 228 South Third Street, Philadelphia, Joseph Wharton occupying the chair. The annual report of President H. E. Packer showing the total coal tonnage for the year ending Nov. 30 to be 5,922,546 tons, of which 6,577,912 tons were anthracite and 44,734 tons bituminous. The capital amount at the close of the year was as follows: Preferred stock, $100,000; common stock, $27,496,550. The first mortgage 6 per cent bonds, due in 1898, amount to $5,000,000; the second mortgage 7 per cent bonds, due 1910, $6,000,000; and the consolidated mortgage 6 per cent bonds, due in 1923, $13,254,000. The total number of passengers carried was 1,325,800, an increase of 147,152 over the preceding year, while there was a decrease of 56,218,862 tons 12 1/2 per cent. In the total amount of freight carried over the main line and branches.

This decrease in freight was principally in iron rails, pig iron and iron ore, and is explained by the depression at present existing in the iron trade. The total gross receipts were $10,218,149.83; operating expenses, $6,176,454.16, which leaves the net receipts $4,041,695.67, which is sufficient to pay all dividends, interests and other obligations and leave a net balance of $12,598.81 to the credit of the company. The following officers for the ensuing year were elected:

Harry E. Packer, president director; Charles Hartshorn, Wm. L. Conyngnam, Paul Pardee, Wm. N. Ingham, George B. Markle, Robert H. Sayre, James I. Blake, Elisha P. Wilbur, Joseph Patterson, G. B. Linderman, John H. Fell, and Robt. N. Lambertson.

WILLIAMS' Reply to "Minstral"

PARTYVILLE, Jan. 15, 1884. MR. EDITOR:—The pseudo aristocracy of Partyville have arrogantly exhausted their polite vocabulary, and have now, themselves, given the public an idea of a notable characteristic of their private social gatherings. They think they have completely buried us in the mire of their vituperation, but the odor of their silly personalities is stilling them in their indignation and long after the pulchritudinous marble slabs mark their graves, chilled with records of their assumed virtues, will the vapors of their insane degeneracy rise and permeate the atmosphere of the day after tomorrow, so that the green grass will be suffocated in its germ. Nature will refuse to soften and relieve the abiding supplicator of the great "I am." "To-Minstral" we would then address this question, "Do you consider that it bestows either dignity or erudition upon a scribe to be employed by others to give to the public certain misrepresentations of a fellow man whose affairs are of no personal interest to you?" As to your reply to our article, it willfully prevents our statements, misrepresents our motives, and further confuses its weakness by calling ridicule and falsehood to its aid.

This article of cultured society is very small, with a sadly decreasing tendency. Yet several specimens of it are unique. Let us specify: Our late letter greatly aroused the latent egotism of the Prof. He, who each Sunday within the sanctity of one of our churches, so able and earnestly recites the Sunday school lesson, did, in like manner, expound the moral lessons of the hotel barroom discuss the late efforts of yours respectfully, "Willie." How varied the scenes of his rhetoric? This leader of our sophists, expounder of Holy Rightness, barranger of the bar room effect in an intellectual representative of the Partyville Dutch Minstrals. Now for another choice specimen of his rhetorical arrangement, being the prize of the dignified pulman, member of the Carbon county Medical Society, and great solist of a Dutch society, who, by the way, is a member of the profession. Of the other apogee of the present arrangement being abandoned of their Partyville comrade, to refuse to append their names, of these we say, we confess to feelings of charity for we do not consider that any one who is not intellectually responsible.

"No, Minstral," we did not covet your characters in the show, nor were we the only one discarded by your learned managers. We declare we felt mean enough to witness such an illustration of your self-indulgence, puffed you and spured you on our hurried report of your exhibition; yet how nobly you have inspired us to better ourselves so that we too may figure as a prominent actor in the drama of the future. We are able to pay our debts slowly and have not yet tried to go back on an accumulation of bills from the Stabtown still withstands the steamship of the hill, and "Willie" you, still in the land, will be a fine young man, but wouldn't it mind him the intricate portion of the minstral "concerns" a novelty, and with great show, BIG MIXED STREEL SHOW! Proceeds for benefit of a Dutch Nigger Show. The Partyville bill-man and physician to the court of the Kingdom of Partyville, attended stamp speech maker, and the great orator, Stiermeister, and, would go into ecstasy.

Yours affectionately, "WILLIE."

P. S. No. 1.—"Willie" your notice will yet make a "grand achievement" of the Partyville Minstrals.

"No, Minstral," again rises to remark that he will continue to stay and meet his friends at No. 14 Stabtown. The Minstrals will not show at Trochville as was intended. Still kindly yours, "WILLIE."

Packerton Ripplies

—While at South Easton the other day, we were permitted, through the kindness of Master Mechanic Kinsey, to inspect President Packer's new car. It will be finished next month; and will be the finest car ever on the Valley Road.

We understand several legislative candidates are in waiting; but don't believe in a man taking a job to be a present member. The people of Carbon ought to see to it that we are properly represented. A little more independent voting of the physical and mental faculties, and think of representing this county at Harrisburg. No man has a claim upon the Democracy of Carbon, but a democracy does claim the service of honest, capable men.

—Half time makes things lively at Packerton the first three days of the week, working night and day. It would be entirely surprising if the employees did not fall into the same old groove. It will be a lively time.

—Protracted services are being held in the Methodist church, by the Rev. F. F. Powell, pastor. He has labored very hard for the cause of the soul, and has met with some success, he hopes the present occasion may result in much good.

—John McKeivry is now in his new house at Jamestown, near the new road house. A Bauman occupies the house vacated by Mr. McKeivry.

—Spring election near at hand; as yet we have not heard of any aspirant for office. However, there is no doubt that will be lively enough in all that time.

—Would it not be a good idea for some of our ablest citizens to read and discuss the clauses of the late tariff commutation. The complexity of the Committee was protection. If the present rate is right, why do we have to pay so much for the same goods? It is over-protection. Why? Could the laboring man's mind be so much worse than the present tariff in business? No, but the protected monopolists don't want the question agitated. The mass of the Democratic party will not touch it. No danger of capital being looked up. Money is plentiful, but they may not stop manufacturing. They will advertise for the trade of the world; will get its share. Then you will not hear of the mills shutting down, or wages being reduced. A man that advocates the present tariff is a friend of labor. If Congress passes a free tariff measure, it will be sustained by the people, and if the party advocating such measures shall nominate as their candidates, men who are honest, fearless and capable, they will win in '84, even if McClure and Dana do not support them.

—Sleighriders all through the county, enjoy the sun-bright nights and the coldness of the coats as they swing along to the merry jingle of the bells.

WILLIAMS' Reply to "Minstral"

PARTYVILLE, Jan. 15, 1884. MR. EDITOR:—The pseudo aristocracy of Partyville have arrogantly exhausted their polite vocabulary, and have now, themselves, given the public an idea of a notable characteristic of their private social gatherings. They think they have completely buried us in the mire of their vituperation, but the odor of their silly personalities is stilling them in their indignation and long after the pulchritudinous marble slabs mark their graves, chilled with records of their assumed virtues, will the vapors of their insane degeneracy rise and permeate the atmosphere of the day after tomorrow, so that the green grass will be suffocated in its germ. Nature will refuse to soften and relieve the abiding supplicator of the great "I am." "To-Minstral" we would then address this question, "Do you consider that it bestows either dignity or erudition upon a scribe to be employed by others to give to the public certain misrepresentations of a fellow man whose affairs are of no personal interest to you?" As to your reply to our article, it willfully prevents our statements, misrepresents our motives, and further confuses its weakness by calling ridicule and falsehood to its aid.

This article of cultured society is very small, with a sadly decreasing tendency. Yet several specimens of it are unique. Let us specify: Our late letter greatly aroused the latent egotism of the Prof. He, who each Sunday within the sanctity of one of our churches, so able and earnestly recites the Sunday school lesson, did, in like manner, expound the moral lessons of the hotel barroom discuss the late efforts of yours respectfully, "Willie." How varied the scenes of his rhetoric? This leader of our sophists, expounder of Holy Rightness, barranger of the bar room effect in an intellectual representative of the Partyville Dutch Minstrals. Now for another choice specimen of his rhetorical arrangement, being the prize of the dignified pulman, member of the Carbon county Medical Society, and great solist of a Dutch society, who, by the way, is a member of the profession. Of the other apogee of the present arrangement being abandoned of their Partyville comrade, to refuse to append their names, of these we say, we confess to feelings of charity for we do not consider that any one who is not intellectually responsible.

"No, Minstral," we did not covet your characters in the show, nor were we the only one discarded by your learned managers. We declare we felt mean enough to witness such an illustration of your self-indulgence, puffed you and spured you on our hurried report of your exhibition; yet how nobly you have inspired us to better ourselves so that we too may figure as a prominent actor in the drama of the future. We are able to pay our debts slowly and have not yet tried to go back on an accumulation of bills from the Stabtown still withstands the steamship of the hill, and "Willie" you, still in the land, will be a fine young man, but wouldn't it mind him the intricate portion of the minstral "concerns" a novelty, and with great show, BIG MIXED STREEL SHOW! Proceeds for benefit of a Dutch Nigger Show. The Partyville bill-man and physician to the court of the Kingdom of Partyville, attended stamp speech maker, and the great orator, Stiermeister, and, would go into ecstasy.

Yours affectionately, "WILLIE."

P. S. No. 1.—"Willie" your notice will yet make a "grand achievement" of the Partyville Minstrals.

"No, Minstral," again rises to remark that he will continue to stay and meet his friends at No. 14 Stabtown. The Minstrals will not show at Trochville as was intended. Still kindly yours, "WILLIE."

Packerton Ripplies

—While at South Easton the other day, we were permitted, through the kindness of Master Mechanic Kinsey, to inspect President Packer's new car. It will be finished next month; and will be the finest car ever on the Valley Road.

We understand several legislative candidates are in waiting; but don't believe in a man taking a job to be a present member. The people of Carbon ought to see to it that we are properly represented. A little more independent voting of the physical and mental faculties, and think of representing this county at Harrisburg. No man has a claim upon the Democracy of Carbon, but a democracy does claim the service of honest, capable men.

—Half time makes things lively at Packerton the first three days of the week, working night and day. It would be entirely surprising if the employees did not fall into the same old groove. It will be a lively time.

—Protracted services are being held in the Methodist church, by the Rev. F. F. Powell, pastor. He has labored very hard for the cause of the soul, and has met with some success, he hopes the present occasion may result in much good.

—John McKeivry is now in his new house at Jamestown, near the new road house. A Bauman occupies the house vacated by Mr. McKeivry.

—Spring election near at hand; as yet we have not heard of any aspirant for office. However, there is no doubt that will be lively enough in all that time.

—Would it not be a good idea for some of our ablest citizens to read and discuss the clauses of the late tariff commutation. The complexity of the Committee was protection. If the present rate is right, why do we have to pay so much for the same goods? It is over-protection. Why? Could the laboring man's mind be so much worse than the present tariff in business? No, but the protected monopolists don't want the question agitated. The mass of the Democratic party will not touch it. No danger of capital being looked up. Money is plentiful, but they may not stop manufacturing. They will advertise for the trade of the world; will get its share. Then you will not hear of the mills shutting down, or wages being reduced. A man that advocates the present tariff is a friend of labor. If Congress passes a free tariff measure, it will be sustained by the people, and if the party advocating such measures shall nominate as their candidates, men who are honest, fearless and capable, they will win in '84, even if McClure and Dana do not support them.

—Sleighriders all through the county, enjoy the sun-bright nights and the coldness of the coats as they swing along to the merry jingle of the bells.

A DANGEROUS REVENUE

Discovered Barely in Time—The Most Dangerous and Luring of Modern Evils Graphically Described. (Synopsis Journal)

Something of a sensation was caused in this city yesterday by a rumor that one of our best known citizens was about to publish a statement concerning some unusual experiences during his residence in Syracuse. How the rumor originated it is impossible to say, but a reporter immediately sought Dr. S. G. Martin, the gentleman in question, and secured the following interview: "What about this rumor, Doctor, that you are going to make a public statement of some important matter?" "Just about the same as you will find in all rumors—some truth, some fiction. I had contemplated making a publication of some remarkable events that have occurred in my life, but have not completed it as yet."

"What is the nature of it, may I inquire?" "Why, the fact that I am a human being instead of a spirit. I have passed through one of the most wonderful ordeals that perhaps ever occurred to an man. The first intimation I had of it was several years ago, when a very peculiar ailment, which was not restful after retiring. Occasionally this would be varied by a soreness of the muscles and cramps in my arms and legs. I thought, at such times, that I was dying, but it was only a cold and so paid as little attention to it as possible. Shortly after this a peculiar diarrheal trouble and my throat also became inflamed. As if this were not variety enough I felt sharp pains in my chest, and a constant tendency to every phase of nervousness. Occasionally this would be varied by a soreness of the muscles and cramps in my arms and legs. I thought, at such times, that I was dying, but it was only a cold and so paid as little attention to it as possible. Shortly after this a peculiar diarrheal trouble and my throat also became inflamed. As if this were not variety enough I felt sharp pains in my chest, and a constant tendency to every phase of nervousness. Occasionally this would be varied by a soreness of the muscles and cramps in my arms and legs. I thought, at such times, that I was dying, but it was only a cold and so paid as little attention to it as possible. Shortly after this a peculiar diarrheal trouble and my throat also became inflamed. As if this were not variety enough I felt sharp pains in my chest, and a constant tendency to every phase of nervousness. Occasionally this would be varied by a soreness of the muscles and cramps in my arms and legs. I thought, at such times, that I was dying, but it was only a cold and so paid as little attention to it as possible. Shortly after this a peculiar diarrheal trouble and my throat also became inflamed. As if this were not variety enough I felt sharp pains in my chest, and a constant tendency to every phase of nervousness. Occasionally this would be varied by a soreness of the muscles and cramps in my arms and legs. I thought, at such times, that I was dying, but it was only a cold and so paid as little attention to it as possible. Shortly after this a peculiar diarrheal trouble and my throat also became inflamed. As if this were not variety enough I felt sharp pains in my chest, and a constant tendency to every phase of nervousness. Occasionally this would be varied by a soreness of the muscles and cramps in my arms and legs. I thought, at such times, that I was dying, but it was only a cold and so paid as little attention to it as possible. Shortly after this a peculiar diarrheal trouble and my throat also became inflamed. As if this were not variety enough I felt sharp pains in my chest, and a constant tendency to every phase of nervousness. Occasionally this would be varied by a soreness of the muscles and cramps in my arms and legs. I thought, at such times, that I was dying, but it was only a cold and so paid as little attention to it as possible. Shortly after this a peculiar diarrheal trouble and my throat also became inflamed. As if this were not variety enough I felt sharp pains in my chest, and a constant tendency to every phase of nervousness. Occasionally this would be varied by a soreness of the muscles and cramps in my arms and legs. I thought, at such times, that I was dying, but it was only a cold and so paid as little attention to it as possible. Shortly after this a peculiar diarrheal trouble and my throat also became inflamed. As if this were not variety enough I felt sharp pains in my chest, and a constant tendency to every phase of nervousness. Occasionally this would be varied by a soreness of the muscles and cramps in my arms and legs. I thought, at such times, that I was dying, but it was only a cold and so paid as little attention to it as possible. Shortly after this a peculiar diarrheal trouble and my throat also became inflamed. As if this were not variety enough I felt sharp pains in my chest, and a constant tendency to every phase of nervousness. Occasionally this would be varied by a soreness of the muscles and cramps in my arms and legs. I thought, at such times, that I was dying, but it was only a cold and so paid as little attention to it as possible. Shortly after this a peculiar diarrheal trouble and my throat also became inflamed. As if this were not variety enough I felt sharp pains in my chest, and a constant tendency to every phase of nervousness. Occasionally this would be varied by a soreness of the muscles and cramps in my arms and legs. I thought, at such times, that I was dying, but it was only a cold and so paid as little attention to it as possible. Shortly after this a peculiar diarrheal trouble and my throat also became inflamed. As if this were not variety enough I felt sharp pains in my chest, and a constant tendency to every phase of nervousness. Occasionally this would be varied by a soreness of the muscles and cramps in my arms and legs. I thought, at such times, that I was dying, but it was only a cold and so paid as little attention to it as possible. Shortly after this a peculiar diarrheal trouble and my throat also became inflamed. As if this were not variety enough I felt sharp pains in my chest, and a constant tendency to every phase of nervousness. Occasionally this would be varied by a soreness of the muscles and cramps in my arms and legs. I thought, at such times, that I was dying, but it was only a cold and so paid as little attention to it as possible. Shortly after this a peculiar diarrheal trouble and my throat also became inflamed. As if this were not variety enough I felt sharp pains in my chest, and a constant tendency to every phase of nervousness. Occasionally this would be varied by a soreness of the muscles and cramps in my arms and legs. I thought, at such times, that I was dying, but it was only a cold and so paid as little attention to it as possible. Shortly after this a peculiar diarrheal trouble and my throat also became inflamed. As if this were not variety enough I felt sharp pains in my chest, and a constant tendency to every phase of nervousness. Occasionally this would be varied by a soreness of the muscles and cramps in my arms and legs. I thought, at such times, that I was dying, but it was only a cold and so paid as little attention to it as possible. Shortly after this a peculiar diarrheal trouble and my throat also became inflamed. As if this were not variety enough I felt sharp pains in my chest, and a constant tendency to every phase of nervousness. Occasionally this would be varied by a soreness of the muscles and cramps in my arms and legs. I thought, at such times, that I was dying, but it was only a cold and so paid as little attention to it as possible. Shortly after this a peculiar diarrheal trouble and my throat also became inflamed. As if this were not variety enough I felt sharp pains in my chest, and a constant tendency to every phase of nervousness. Occasionally this would be varied by a soreness of the muscles and cramps in my arms and legs. I thought, at such times, that I was dying, but it was only a cold and so paid as little attention to it as possible. Shortly after this a peculiar diarrheal trouble and my throat also became inflamed. As if this were not variety enough I felt sharp pains in my chest, and a constant tendency to every phase of nervousness. Occasionally this would be varied by a soreness of the muscles and cramps in my arms and legs. I thought, at such times, that I was dying, but it was only a cold and so paid as little attention to it as possible. Shortly after this a peculiar diarrheal trouble and my throat also became inflamed. As if this were not variety enough I felt sharp pains in my chest, and a constant tendency to every phase of nervousness. Occasionally this would be varied by a soreness of the muscles and cramps in my arms and legs. I thought, at such times, that I was dying, but it was only a cold and so paid as little attention to it as possible. Shortly after this a peculiar diarrheal trouble and my throat also became inflamed. As if this were not variety enough I felt sharp pains in my chest, and a constant tendency to every phase of nervousness. Occasionally this would be varied by a soreness of the muscles and cramps in my arms and legs. I thought, at such times, that I was dying, but it was only a cold and so paid as little attention to it as possible. Shortly after this a peculiar diarrheal trouble and my throat also became inflamed. As if this were not variety enough I felt sharp pains in my chest, and a constant tendency to every phase of nervousness. Occasionally this would be varied by a soreness of the muscles and cramps in my arms and legs. I thought, at such times, that I was dying, but it was only a cold and so paid as little attention to it as possible. Shortly after this a peculiar diarrheal trouble and my throat also became inflamed. As if this were not variety enough I felt sharp pains in my chest, and a constant tendency to every phase of nervousness. Occasionally this would be varied by a soreness of the muscles and cramps in my arms and legs. I thought, at such times, that I was dying, but it was only a cold and so paid as little attention to it as possible. Shortly after this a peculiar diarrheal trouble and my throat also became inflamed. As if this were not variety enough I felt sharp pains in my chest, and a constant tendency to every phase of nervousness. Occasionally this would be varied by a soreness of the muscles and cramps in my arms and legs. I thought, at such times, that I was dying, but it was only a cold and so paid as little attention to it as possible. Shortly after this a peculiar diarrheal trouble and my throat also became inflamed. As if this were not variety enough I felt sharp pains in my chest, and a constant tendency to every phase of nervousness. Occasionally this would be varied by a soreness of the muscles and cramps in my arms and legs. I thought, at such times, that I was dying, but it was only a cold and so paid as little attention to it as possible. Shortly after this a peculiar diarrheal trouble and my throat also became inflamed. As if this were not variety enough I felt sharp pains in my chest, and a constant tendency to every phase of nervousness. Occasionally this would be varied by a soreness of the muscles and cramps in my arms and legs. I thought, at such times, that I was dying, but it was only a cold and so paid as little attention to it as possible. Shortly after this a peculiar diarrheal trouble and my throat also became inflamed. As if this were not variety enough I felt sharp pains in my chest, and a constant tendency to every phase of nervousness. Occasionally this would be varied by a soreness of the muscles and cramps in my arms and legs. I thought, at such times, that I was dying, but it was only a cold and so paid as little attention to it as possible. Shortly after this a peculiar diarrheal trouble and my throat also became inflamed. As if this were not variety enough I felt sharp pains in my chest, and a constant tendency to every phase of nervousness. Occasionally this would be varied by a soreness of the muscles and cramps in my arms and legs. I thought, at such times, that I was dying, but it was only a cold and so paid as little attention to it as possible. Shortly after this a peculiar diarrheal trouble and my throat also became inflamed. As if this were not variety enough I felt sharp pains in my chest, and a constant tendency to every phase of nervousness. Occasionally this would be varied by a soreness of the muscles and cramps in my arms and legs. I thought, at such times, that I was dying, but it was only a cold and so paid as little attention to it as possible. Shortly after this a peculiar diarrheal trouble and my throat also became inflamed. As if this were not variety enough I felt sharp pains in my chest, and a constant tendency to every phase of nervousness. Occasionally this would be varied by a soreness of the muscles