Kitchen and Market Garden

Market gardeners know the importance doing certain things at a given timedate which each has found to be best for his particular locality, and knows if he varie from this but a few days, his crops may be so far behind those of his neighbors as to seriously effect his returns. Market garden ers need no reminder to do this or that, as their success depends upon observing the times for sowing, planting, etc. Not se with the farmer and others, whose gardens are to supply the family table. The garden with most farmers is a secondary affair and often neglected to their loss and to the discomfort of the family. Such need to be frequently reminded of the things to be done. There is no reason why every far-mer's family should not enjoy the best vegetables, and as early as any one, save those who buy vegetables brought from the South. To have early vegetables the seeds must be sown early. Few farmers care to give the attention needed by a hot-bed, but quite as good plants may be raised in the windows of the house with scarcely any ouble. All the plants needed for the amily garden, of early cabboges, lettuce, sul flowers, tomatoes, etc., may be raised in boxes. Try it, and another year it will sime as a matter of course. It takes about six weeks to raise plants from the seed. large enough to set in the open ground, and this will govern the time of sowing. Cablarges are nearly hardy, while tomatoes being very tender, cannot safely be set in the open ground until "corn-planting time," and must be sown later. Good Vegetables will only come from good seeds. One cannot afford to sow doubtful seeds. Those of uncertain age or without labels and of doubtful source, should be burned and a fresh stock ordered.

Selecting and ordering seeds.-The catalogues are out this month, and dealers will gladly send to those who ask for them, while the mail, as has been well said, gives every one, no matter where he may live, "a seed store just around the corner." Noveltics are offered every year. Order these for experiment, but for the main crop rely only on tested and weil established varieties.

Peas are of two classes, the round and the wrinkled. The latter kind, if sown in cold. wet soil, will rot; the round peas are hard; and may be sown as soon as the ground town. Make a drill three or four inches wide, with the hoe, and scatter the seed pens in it, so that they will be about half a tuch apart, and cover with two inches o Plants in cold frames. - Remove the sashe whenever the thermometer is not below thirty two degrees. If the soil in the frame is not frezen when the snow faits, clear om the sushes. Otherwise the snow may main a week without injury.

Be all Ready for Work .- As soon as the ground thaws there will be no time for odd obs. Finish up all the work of prepara tion at once. Repair implements: provid du I cate for brenkable parts. See to the work harness. Provide stakes and labels. Cu ea brush; lay it on level ground and reigth it with rails or logs, to flatten it Propure bean poles; a set of red cedar poles will, if cared for last many years. In a haw dig the parsuips and salsify left in the ground and take out all the horseradish hether wanted for use or not, to preven ts becoming established, when it will be difficult to remove, and prove an annoying Weed.

Items.

Prepare well for the busy work of spring Horses. - Don't forget to daily exerci e your broad mares. Overfeeding rains as nany horses as overwork. Keep the stable clean and stalls well littered.

Cuttle .- Feed sliced roots or potatoes one or twice a week, as an appetizing change in the rations. Milch cows require careful andling, as they approach the time of calvng. Raise only the best calves from superor animals.

Sheep .- Those grown for wool thrive on a ixed ration of bright straw, hay and grain Early lambs are profiable, but need con stant care when they first come. Old sheep for the shambles should be pushed forward apidly with a daily grain ration. Swine.-Young pigs require warm and
