from the woods is a most excellent materia for filling the boxes. This collects in the ollow places, and can usually be gathered n a mild time, even in winter. If woods earth is not to be had, take advantage of a thaw, and scraping up some garden soil place it in a heap in the cellar until it is d.y enough to use. If at all heavy, it may be made porous by adding sand, or, what is better, fine moss. Procure some sphagnum or peat-mors, such as nurserymen use for packing,dry it thoroughly, and rub it though a course wire sieve. One part of this fire sifted mess to four or five of soil, makes an excellent material for seed boxes, as it will not become packed by the needed waterings. As a rule, the seeds should be sown in them about six weeks before the plants can be safely set out in the open ground. When the seedlings are large enough to handle, usually when they have made two rough leaves-those after the seed leaves-they will need transplanting into another box of imilar soil, setting them an inch apart each way. Plants in the boxes must have water as they need it, and on warm days they may be set outside in a sunny sheltered place, bringing them in before the air D becomes chilly. The vegetables usually started in window boxes are early cabbages, cauliflowers, lettuce, and fornatoes; in April, egg-plants and peppers may be thus sown. Am. Anriculturist Tasteful House-Furnishing.

Harmony of color is of the first impor ance in furnishing. Not that walls, carpets, curtains, chairs, etc., should be of the same color; that would make a room cold and uninviting. There should be two or three colors in a room, but these should harmonize. If one is conscious that she has no eye for color, she should consult ome one of known taste before purchasing articles which, although by themselves might be desirable, would perhaps if placed with others spoil the effect of the whole, and be a disappointment to be endured for years. A carpet for instance should not be purchased without considering what the solor of the paint is; and so of the sofa and chairs, if they are upholstered. A carpet is like the background of a picture, it brings into effect the whole. Styles for curpets have entirely changed within a few years. Patterns of hugs bouquets of impossible flowers used to be seen almost everywhere, now a very small, set figure, so small as to look almost like a plain color at a little distance, is in much better taste. This may be enlivened by a border of bright colors. The lovely pearl and gray grounds, with vince or tracery of a darker shade, and bright borders of rersian patterns, are very desirable, and look well with almost everything. The fashion of staining floors blackwalnut color for a yard or more around the walls, and having a square of bordered carpet in the centre, is gaining ground, and much liked for the pretty style and convenlence of taking it up for cleaning. It is also economical. There are now plain, ingrain carpetings, in solid colors, called "filling." which are used around these center rugs, instead of staining the floor. We have seen parlors carpeted with dark, turquoise blue filling, with Persian rugs over them, not in any set or regular order. The effect was very good .- Erns: Sross in Am. Agricul-
